GREAT BATTLE ON THE FIELD OF WATERLOO; BELGIAN CAPITAL MOVED TO ANTWERP.

LONDON, Aug. 18, 3:30 a. m.—The Daily Express says: "There is little doubt that a great battle is now occurring in Belgium between the Germans and the Belgian and French allies. Our correspondent, in a cryptic dispatch from Ghent, indicates that the Germans are advancing on the historic battleground of Waterloo and that events of the greatest importance are in progress."

THE EVACUATION OF BRUSSELS BY MINISTERS AND DIPLOMATS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 17, 10:50 p.m.—The Belgian Ministers of War, Finance and Foreign Affairs, and the French and Russian ministers to Belgium have left Brussels for Antwerp, according to a dispatch received here by the Exchange Telegraph. The affairs of France and Russia were left by their respective ministers in the hands of the Spanish legation, the dispatch adds.

LONDON, Aug. 18, 3:15 a.m.—"The left wing of the Belgian army, assembled in force to cover Brussels, has advanced from Louvain to Beyard, in the direction of Diest," according to the Brussels correspondent of the Daily Express.

"The delay in the German attack at this point," the correspondent continues, "is attributed to the severe losses inflicted by the Belgians."

LONDON, Aug. 18, 3:15 a.m.—Telegraphing Monday from Brussels, the Exchange Telegraph Company's correspondent says:

"Today has been full of excitement. Many disquieting rumors have been circulated owing to the removal of the seat of government to Antwerp, and the departure of the royal family.

"Fear is expressed that the German effort to force the extreme left and center of the Belgian lines between Gembloux and Wavre and Jodoigne and Tirlemont is to effect a raid on Brussels or else to cover the German advance toward the French army by way of Liege and Namur."

LONDON, Aug. 17, 10:57 p. m.—A Reuter dispatch from Brussels says:

"The seat of government has been moved to Antwerp. Measures have been taken for the defense of Brussels because of the approach of German cavalry."

LONDON, Aug. 18, 2:45 a.m.—A Havas dispatch from Brussels says it is expected that the legations will follow the government to Antwerp, but the French Minister will remain here, sending the counsellor to Antwerp to keep in touch with the Belgian government.

The Soir says that according to news which arrived Monday afternoon and which is confirmed by the War Office, the Belgian infantry, in conjunction with the French cavalry, have brilliantly repulsed a German attack. The location of the engagement is not mentioned.

LONDON, Aug. 18, 12:30 a.m.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Mayence says that the German Emperor, accompanied by three of his sons, including Crown Prince Frederick William, has arrived.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Germans are reported as marching on Brussels by the Brussels correspondent of the Daily Mail. Telegraphing last night, he says:

"Feinting with their right at Diest, and diverting to some extent the attention of the Belgian field army centered on Louvain, the Germans are now signalled as marching directly on Brussels by way of Huy and Jodoigne. This raiding force is believed to consist mainly of cavalry and artillery including the much feared motor quick-firers.

"These troops are in imminent danger of being cut off from their base at Liege, but the day of desperate deeds has dawned for the German fatherland and the occupation of the Belgian capital is just the sort of spectacular coup, utterly barren from a strategic standpoint, calculated to kindle enthusiasm across the Rhine."

LONDON, Aug. 17.—That the Germans are forcing their way through Belgium is indicated by the Brussels report that German cavalry is approaching the Belgium capital; that measures for the defense of Brussels are being hastened and that the seat of government has been removed to Antwerp.

The British official press bureau announces that any action which Japan may take against Germany will not extend beyond the China seas, except for the protection of Japanese shipping.

Kitchener Realizes Allies Are in Danger of Being Rolled to Destruction.

In the View of Many Persons in London the Conflict Is Going to Result in Changes Equally Great as Those Said to Have Been Wrought by the French Revolution. Important Alterations in the Map Likely.

BY EDWARD P. BELL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Speculation on the end of the war is already rife in British political circles, although nothing of the sort engages the mind of Secretary of War Kitchener. The hero of Khartum, with brow gnarled and face drawn and sober, thinks only of building up patiently, bit by bit, an invincible army. His calculations go far beyond weeks and months into years and contemplate a trained and hardened citizen force, first of 500,000 men and, second, of as many more as may be necessary to establish peace in Europe on a just and lasting basis.

Lord Kitchener realizes that German gallantry and might are yet to give their true measure. He realizes that Belgian and French patriotism, genius and strength, wonderful as they are, finally may be rolled back to face danger and destruction.

War, war and yet more war compass Lord Kitchener's vision, but the politicians are talking of peace. They foresee a condition of stalemate all along the battle line from Holland to Switzerland. The Germans, they say, cannot break through, but their bulk and power will melt in rivers of blood before the impregnable iron barriers of the allies. Soon the Russians, among them swarms of Cossacks, will be bearing down on German homes, the pride and confidence of the Kaiser and his counsellors will be shaken and Germany will sue for peace. Such will be the course of events as some English statesmen see it. And these men say that the moment Germany wants peace it shall have peace and that the oncoming Russians must halt.

In the view of many it is evident that the war is going to result in European changes comparable with those of the French revolution. It is thought that the political map will be considerably, possibly profoundly, altered. The states of many people are expected to undergo great modification. Poland may retain its unity, and there may be relative, if not absolute, independence of all the nationalities under the Czar that are hopeful of a larger liberty. The Russian revolutionaries believe, as they pray, that Czardom and the bureaucratic abomination it shelters will be impaired or shattered.

Word comes from Germany that the soul of the people is awakening and that in all likelihood the social democracy, unless militarism sweeps everything before it, will throw off its submissiveness and raise a commanding voice in the state.

Every little nation views the gigantic conflict of the hour with dread and hope. The latter is steadily rising as the days pass, and the Germans do not justify their faith in their superior soldiership, for rightly or wrongly there is no doubt as to the fact that the small nationalities see their future darken or lighten with the failure or success of the allied arms.

What has been the historic mission of the exaggeration—if it be an exaggeration—of the military genius of the Kaiser and the unexampled terribleness of his war machine? Philosophers might reckon it to be the purpose of the legend to breed unconquerable armies for the defense of civilization, paving the way for escape from the moral and material curse of armaments. What made the Belgians transcend themselves? Fear of Germany. What made the French so brilliant in the air and on the ground, so intrepid, so eager for the fray, so quick in mobilization, so different from the French of 1870? Fear of Germany.

What made Britain progress in a naval and military way more rapidly in the last decade than ever before for a hundred years? Fear of Germany. What has nerved, solidified and armed to the teeth Holland, Denmark, Switzerland and the Balkan nationalities? Fear that one day something or somebody would start the German avalanche.

Pacifists predict that this war will demonstrate the ineffectualness of war as a means of conquest and personal aggrandizement, leave great fissures in despotic systems, exercise much cynicism, irreverence and immorality and set the faces of all peoples more resolutely toward the usages of reason, justice and peace.

RAIN OF AUSTRIAN SHELLS FALLS UPON BELGRADE.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Milan says the Corriere della Serra has received an account of conditions in Belgrade in consequence of the bombardment of that city by the Austrians on the opposite bank of the Danube.

The streets are silent and deserted, says the article, and the people of the town are living in cellars. Three thousand shrapnel shells have fallen in the city during the last week. As yet little damage has been done to property, but a shell falling on the central electric works put half the town in darkness. The stables of the royal palace are in ruins. Up to the present, fifteen citizens have been killed, while many others have been injured.

Several Austrian army corps have invaded Russian territory, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company. The Russian advance on Zaloscе Broda and Zokal in Galicia, close to the Russian frontier and northeast of Lemberg, has been checked.

The Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to Great Britain, Count Menadorff, who left London last night, arrived at Falmouth by special train this morning. He will embark on the Wilson line steamer Argo for Genoa.

The Ambassador was accompanied by a numerous party, in all between 200 and 300 persons. Both the station here and the dock were cleared of the public when he arrived. The party was conveyed to the dock in automobiles. Small groups of persons along the streets raised their hats to the Ambassador as he passed.

The British official news bureau has no information concerning these reports.

JAPAN BECOMES NEW PUZZLE IN GREAT WAR OF THE NATIONS.

Attitude of United States Will Be One of Non-Interference in Far East—Germans May Restore Kiao-Chow to China to Foil Statesmen and Warriors of Tokio.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Japan's sudden entry into the European war situation as a factor that might quickly increase the range of the great conflict in the Far East, commanded wide attention today both among officials of the Washington government and diplomats generally.

The attitude of the United States, it became clear, would be one of non-interference in the controversy between Japan and Germany. This was reflected somewhat in the studied reticence of both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. The President had been asked early in the day whether the assurance of Japan that she would eventually restore Kiao-Chow in case that territory was obtained from Germany was regarded as satisfactory here. Mr. Wilson replied that he saw no reason to question Japan's good faith in that connection, but carefully refrained from expressing any opinion on the merits of the ultimatum of Japan's attitude. Published reports to the effect that the President had expressed himself as satisfied with Japan's course were promptly denied tonight by Secretary Tumulty at the direction of the President.

"The President feels it incumbent on himself," said Secretary Tumulty, "as the head of a neutral nation, to express no opinions whatsoever on the attitude of Japan or any other country."

Diplomatic dispatches brought no further information as to the future course of either Japan or Germany, but official Washington was diverted for the moment from the thought of the hostilities in Europe to a hypothetical consideration of how American possessions in the Far East ultimately might be affected by the results of an extension of the war to the Orient.

Army strategists discussed among themselves whether Japan might not also take the German possessions in the Samoan and Carolina islands, which are on the American line of communication to the Philippines, and how that eventually might affect the interests of the American government in the Pacific.

It was pointed out in Japanese circles that the ultimatum to Germany applies specifically to the German occupation of territory on the Asiatic mainland, nothing being said about the German insular possessions in Australasia. However, it was explained that in the event of Germany's refusal to meet the Japanese demands, and of Japanese success in war, the conditions imposed upon Germany might be extended so as to include the cession to Japan, and to her ally, Great Britain, of all of these island groups gathered in by Germany during the past quarter of a century.

Germany recently has tried to indicate to the United States government the community of interests that exists between the two in their Asiatic holdings. Last week this took the form of a suggestion that the eastern waters and shores be neutralized by mutual consent.

The Japanese belief is that the German government will take full advantage of the week's time allowed in the ultimatum for a reply. This is founded upon a scarcely concealed belief that this reply will be a firm and unequivocal refusal to admit the Japanese right to dictate to Germany her attitude in the Far East. The intervening time, it is believed, will be spent in hastening the defenses of Tsing Tau, the single German station; in planting mines in the sea, and in placing the German fleet in her position under the guns of the shore fortifications.

A RESOLUTION.

A resolution directing Secretary of State Bryan to protest against the intention of Japan to take over Kiao-Chow was introduced in the House today by Representative Britten of Illinois. The resolution quotes the Japanese ultimatum to Germany demanding the withdrawal of all German armed forces in Chinese territory or waters, and the surrender of Kiao-Chow to Japan and continues:

"Whereas it is self-evident that the release of said territory to the Japanese government would be inimical to the interests of the United States and China, whose territory should be preserved; therefore, be it,

"Resolved that the Secretary of State, be, and he hereby is, directed to communicate with the Japanese government that the United States views with concern the transfer by force of arms of any Chinese territory to Japan or any other foreign nation or any transfer of any territory without the unconditional consent of the Chinese government.

"Representative Britten said that the course of Japan appears to be a warlike step to gain a hold on Chinese territory. The resolution was referred to a committee."

A GERMAN MOVE TO FOIL THE JAPS.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BY WILLIAM R. GILS.

PEKING, Aug. 17.—Germany, in the hope of avoiding the capture by the Japanese and their allies and occupation of Tsingtao, the port of Kiao-Chow, is trying to hand it over to China on certain conditions. The republic is apparently unwilling to become involved in the matter and has not replied to a German note on the subject.

In the event of Germany's not complying with the Japanese ultimatum, a copy of which was handed to the Chinese government today, war operations will be carried on conjointly by the naval and military forces of Japan, Britain and France. The troops of these nations are leaving in the direction of Wei Hai Wei, the British possession to the north of the German port. The Japanese third squadron is already in Chinese waters, while the first and second squadrons have sailed under sealed orders. Three Japanese divisions have mobilized and transports are ready for them.

The British and French Ministers here have informed the newspaper correspondents that their countries and Japan are acting in unison. Japan insists that it has no intention of acquiring new territory, but is moving in the interest of peace in the Far East, which has been jeopardized by German warships attacking local commercial vessels.

JAPAN'S ATTITUDE IN CASE OF WAR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—"The Japanese fleet will protect American and Japanese merchantmen in Asiatic waters," declared Y. Numana, the Japanese Consul-General here today, in discussing the possibilities of hostilities between Japan and Germany. "American trade with the Orient will not be endangered."

"Japan is ten times as strong in the Orient as Germany," continued the consul-general, "and if the German Emperor refuses to comply with the terms of the Japanese ultimatum his forces will be crushed at one blow."

GRIM STAGE SETTING OF WAR COVERS WHOLE OF BELGIUM.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 18, 2:10 a.m.—A Namur dispatch to the Daily Telegraph describes conditions there as follows:

"The grim stage setting for the war is the first thing that strikes the attention of the arriving traveler. Here soldiers patrol the streets, which are zigzagged by numerous barricades and piled with sand bags.

"At the station we were stopped by the military and put through a rigid examination. One cannot move through the streets without a pass, which is examined by patrols at frequent intervals.

"The barricades along the principal thoroughfares have been made by dragging enormous vans across the roadways and turning the vans into blockhouses with sides pierced for rifle fire. Sand bags are piled breast high inside and outside.

"The hotels have been commandeered by the military. No vehicles and no horses are available for private use.

"Hardly had we left the hotel when we heard the whirring aeroplane propeller of a German scout machine overhead, which was followed across the city by a hail of rifle bullets from sharpshooters.

"These German aeroplanes are striking in appearance. Once seen, they are never to be forgotten. They are scarab-shaped, white in color, except for a patch of blue across each wing, and very noisy.

"The spirit of the Belgian people is splendid. They take their misfortune philosophically."

A dispatch received by the Havas agency from Brussels gives the following statement issued last night by the Belgian government:

"German troops which yesterday failed in an attempt at a forward movement are returning today without fighting in the direction of Hannut. The reverse sustained by the German cavalry at Haelen made them palpably more cautious both Sunday and Monday. They are moving more prudently, retiring without coming into any serious engagement. All the German troops recently seen before our army are adopting a purely defensive attitude and entrenching themselves.

"Today passed without fighting."

The correspondent adds that according to newspaper reports, a fairly important engagement occurred in the neighborhood of Meivart, near Jodoigne, Sunday, in which the Germans are said to have suffered heavy casualties.

Wounded Being Brought Into the City Under Cover of Darkness.

Efforts to Keep the Facts of Situation from the Public. Nervous Anxiety of the First Few Days of the War Gives Way to Dissatisfaction that the "Lid" Is on Everything in the Hitherto Gay Capital.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Aug. 17.—The common talk in the cafes is that much French blood has been spilled on the frontier, and notwithstanding the official refusal to admit the fact, it is well known that the wounded are beginning to fill the hospitals surrounding Paris and in other towns and cities between here and the scene of the conflict. The greatest secrecy is observed in bringing the wounded into Paris. It is done under the cover of darkness in order not to arouse public curiosity.

The efforts of the War Office to keep the facts unpublished is offset by its efforts, on the other hand, to keep relatives and friends of the French soldier aware of his condition or his fate. In this war knowledge of the French losses has spread. The greatest care is taken to not notify relatives at once.

This simple expedient is resorted to now: Each man wears a paper which identifies him; these papers are taken from the dead and wounded and telegrams are sent to the relatives at once.

The nervous anxiety of the first days of the war has given way entirely to mere dissatisfaction with the fact that the "lid" is on everything. Parisians call Paris a dead city in contrast to its normal gaiety. By 11 o'clock at night it is dead, every cafe is closed and the people begin to leave the restaurants. ROME (via London,) Aug. 17.—Confirmation of the naval fight in the Adriatic Sea is given in a dispatch from Cettinje to the Corriere d'Italia today, which says that the Austrian battleship Zrinyi and three other battleships whose names could not be obtained, were sunk by the French fleet. A great number of French and English warships are said to be patrolling the coast.

The Austro-Hungarian battleship Zrinyi was a vessel displacing 14,268 tons. She carried four 12-inch guns in pairs in turrets, eight 9.4-inch guns, also in pairs, in turrets, and twenty 3.9-inch guns in her battery, besides a number of smaller cannon. She was a strongly-armored vessel and was fitted with three torpedo tubes. She carried a crew of 857.

SENATE IN SNARL ON CLAYTON BILL

SENTIMENT SO DIVIDED VIC PRESIDENT HAS TO BREAK TIE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The fi fight in the Senate on the Clayto anti-trust bill began in earnest toda over the question of giving privat citizens bringing damage suits agains trust the benefit of decrees won by the government in a succession of [illegible] suits against the same combine. Consideration of the bill had been [illegible] by striking out the section prohibiting price discrimination and exclusive contracts. This was done by Senator Culberson at the direction of the Judiciary Committee, so that the subjects might be dealt with exclusively in the trade commission bill now in conference.

Senator Walsh of Montana led the de bate in favor of making a decree won by the government in a dissolution suit conclusive as to all facts and law in issue in private suits for damages. The House bill contained such a provision, but the Senate Judiciary Committee, doubting its constitutionality, framed it so as to allow the trust to introduce additional evidence and on the points of law reconsidered.

Senator Chilton argued that in the measure "to put teeth" into the legislation there was danger of depriving persons of their right to be heard and Senator Borah suggested that the principle of equal protection of the law to all was violated.

The bill was laid aside before a final vote was taken, but in perfecting the [illegible] amendment the Senate voted to make the "prima facie" value [illegible] gives dissolution decrees apply [illegible] hitherto entered. This was done by a vote of 24 to 23, Vice-President Marshall breaking a tie.

TANANA VALLEY FLOODED.

River Is Higher at Fairbanks Than It Has Been For Past Nine Years. Bridge Washed Out.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]
FAIRBANKS (Alaska) Aug. 17.—Constant rain during the last week has caused a flood in the Tanana Valley and today the river was higher than it has been since the flood of 1905.
The Turner-street bridge, which connects the business district with the Tamana Valley railroad yards on Garden Island, was washed out today, the second time this year. The bridge, which goes out every spring when the ice breaks up, is easily replaced and the damage was not great. The water still is rising.

BANDITS SHOOT PURSUERS.

Youths Escape in Auto from Constable After Holding Up National Bank of Homestead, Pa.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—After a running battle with an automobile filled with armed patrolmen, two youths who looted today the Homestead National Bank escaped in a high-power racing car. Posses are searching the county for the bandits tonight.
Although officials of the bank refuse to reveal the extent of the loss, a package containing $1000 in bills dropped in their flight by the robbers has been recovered. Two detectives were wounded in the battle with the fleeing bandits.
In making their escape from the bank the robbers seized the car of a preacher which was standing at the curb. The owner had removed the spark-plug, but one of the youths replaced this with a plug he had in his pocket. During the operation the cashier fired on the pair from the bank window.
Later the pair abandoned the stolen car for one of greater speed they had left in the custody of a farmer's boy earlier in the morning.

GOOD ROADS DAY.

One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Volunteers Are Expected to Help Pull Missouri Out of the Mud.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Aug. 17.—Tomorrow and Wednesday will be "good roads day" in Missouri, and it is expected 150,000 volunteers will answer Gov. Major's call for a second big State-wide effort to "pull Missouri out of the mud."
Gov. Major himself will take a heavy motor truck from the penitentiary at Jefferson City, and with twenty-five convicts and a guard will work two days on roads near the State capital.
Gov. Major said tonight he believed the two days' work this year would result in not less than $2,000,000 of permanent road improvements.
Plans for this year's work are not merely to make roads. Weeds and brush along the highways will be cut, draining ditches will be dug and unsightly hedges will be trimmed.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS.

Delegates to State Convention Discuss Question of Candidates for Governor and United States Senator.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SARATOGA (N. Y.) Aug. 17.—On the eve of the Republican State convention, the delegates tonight were in a state of confusion. Officially the purpose of the meeting is to adopt a platform and select delegates at large to the constitutional convention. But the delegates took only an academic interest in these subjects. The real and abiding interest lay in the question of candidates for Governor and United States Senator.
Most of the leaders were opposed to any action by the convention in the way of recommending any candidates for the primaries, on the ground that it would constitute a violation of the spirit of the primary law. Nevertheless, it was recognized that no legal barrier stood in the way of such indorsements, which would not be binding.

CAPITAL BANKS TO OPEN TODAY.

But Mexico City Is Uneasy Over Currency Issues.

Carranza Asked for Ruling About Legal Tender.

Railway Reconstruction Is Well on Its Way.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—The banks of the capital which closed last Thursday probably will reopen tomorrow. The question of a circulating medium is causing some uneasiness in business circles.
At present four distinct issues of bank notes are being passed in ordinary business transactions.
There is a disposition on the part of the public not to accept the bank notes of the issue of July 25, which are guaranteed by 6 per cent. ten-year gold bonds, or the notes issued by the Huerta regime through State banks then located in territory controlled by the Constitutionalist army. The paper of the Constitutionalist army is being freely circulated and accepted.
A commission composed of representatives of the clearinghouse banks has asked Gen. Carranza, chief of the Constitutionalists, to define the attitude of his new government as to the present legal tender. It is believed a provisional ruling will be made tomorrow, thus permitting a resumption of banking operations.
CARRANZA ENTRY.
Wednesday has been declared a national holiday in honor of the entry into the capital of the main body of the Constitutionalist army and Gen. Carranza, the new provisional President. Elaborate preparations have been made for the reception of Gen. Carranza and his forces and the inauguration of the new regime.
RAILWAY TRAFFIC.
Already reconstruction plans are under way, and it is expected that through freight and passenger traffic will be resumed over the National Railway lines by way of Laredo and El Paso within a fortnight.
AT MADERO'S GRAVE.
Memorial services were held today over the grave of former President Madero and former Vice-President Pino Suarez, who were killed February 23 in the revolt which placed Victoriano Huerta in the Presidency. The services were conducted by the Constitutionalist general, Obregon, the members of his staff and representatives of the Constitutionalist army. After a eulogy was pronounced the graves were decorated with wreaths and the troops fired a salute of twenty-one guns.

SONORA FACTIONS FIGHTING AGAIN.

NOGALES (Son., Mex.) Aug. 17.—Fighting between the Gov. Maytorena and Calles factions of Sonora was renewed today in an encounter at Quijano, thirty miles south of here. The result is not yet known. Four hundred volunteers, reinforcements for the Calles side, left here late today.
For shouting "Vivas" for Gov. Maytorena, who is generally believed to have Villa's support, Maria Hugues, brother of the Secretary of State of Sonora, was executed here last night.
Col. P. Elias Calles, commander of the Sonora garrisons, has been upheld by Carranza in his past troubles with Maytorena.

NOTE FROM BRYAN TO GEN. VILLA.

CAMARGO (Chihuahua, Mex.) Aug. 17.—George C. Carothers, special agent for the State Department, arrived here today to confer with Gen. Francisco Villa, the northern Constitutionalist leader. Carothers will deliver a note to Villa from the United States government. Its text, according to reliable reports, is a strong appeal to Villa against stirring up new trouble in Mexico now that the cause has triumphed.

LITTLE WORRIED ABOUT SONORA.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Aug. 17.—Constitutionalist agents here received a telegram from Gen. Obregon at Mexico City tonight in which he characterizes the trouble in Sonora between Gov. Maytorena and Col. Calles as "a tempest in a glass of water." Gen. Obregon said he had given orders that would lead to an early adjustment, but did not mention the nature of the orders.
Officials at Agua Prieta denied a report that Gen. Villa's troops had entered Sonora. They said this report originated when cowboys saw several hundred men marching from Bavispe River points to reinforce the Calles faction.

VELASCO GIVES IN TO GEN. OBREGON.

TLALNEPANTLA (Mex.) Aug. 17.—Gen. Velasco, commander of the Federal troops, surrendered today to the Constitutionalist Gen. Obregon, in the capital, according to news received by Gen. Carranza, the new provisional President, and now awaits the orders of the Constitutionalist authorities.
Gen. Carranza's entry into the city again has been postponed. It has been tentatively fixed for Thursday. It was decided by a council of the chiefs of the Constitutionalists that it would be advisable for Gen. Carranza to wait until all the Federals, or at least a majority of them, had been disarmed and disbanded.
The declaration of the Federal troops at Guadalupe that they would not abide by the peace terms proved today to have no backing. All the Constitutionalist troops in the capital, however, were held under arms last night prepared for any emergency.
Gen. Francisco Villa has returned to the city of Chihuahua, but it is said that he and his chiefs will come to the capital later.
It was reported today that Pascual Orozco, the once rebel leader who went over to the Federals, has slipped through the Constitutionalist lines with three companions, and was being pursued north of San Luis Potosi.
Three more Constitutionalist soldiers were executed today in the outskirts of the capital for seizing the property of Ignacio Bonillas, acting Minister of Communications.
Constant reports are being received from the United States by Gen. Carranza that recognition will follow close on his entry into the city and that preparations already are being made to withdraw the American troops from Vera Cruz.

ZAPATAS ENDING PEACE CONFERENCE

THEIR FORCES MAY PARTICIPATE IN CARRANZA'S ENTRY OF CAPITAL.

BY GEORGE ADDISON HUGHES.
[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
MEXICO CITY (Mex.) Aug. 17.—It was officially announced tonight that representatives of Zapata, in conference at Atucapotzalco with Carranza, are completing peace pact preliminaries arranged by the American vice-consul general three weeks ago. Zapata's forces may participate in Carranza's entry of the capital, set for Thursday.
The National lines of Mexico completely ceased operations today, every mile of the railroad being in Constitutionalist hands. Its offices here did not reopen for business this morning.
Mexico City bankers today offered Carranza any necessary financial aid his government may need, diverse reports setting their proffers at from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.
Obregon has left the capital for a conference with Carranza, and is not expected to return until Wednesday. The conference is probably relative to a message brought to Obregon during the reception at the palace Saturday.
A Constitutionalist lieutenant-colonel was publicly executed this afternoon for having shot and slightly wounded a careless bootblack.

SHOWER OF EGGS FOR CANDIDATE.

OMAHA FIRE DEPARTMENT IS CALLED TO DISPERSE PRIMARY-EVE CROWD.

OMAHA (Neb.) Aug. 17.—R. Beecher Howell, Republican candidate for Governor and Republican National Committeeman for Nebraska, was pelted with eggs tonight when he attempted to speak on a downtown corner. The fire department was called to disperse the crowd which had gathered.
The women parading in automobiles in the woman suffrage cause arrived on the scene when matters were at their worst. Their leader made an appeal for free speech and the crowd dispersed. No arrests were made.
Howell is head of the Metropolitan Water Board of the city of Omaha, which controls the municipally-owned waterworks system. He succeeded Victor Rosewater as national committeeman. Mr. Howell was arrested Saturday night while speaking on the street, charged with obstructing traffic.
A State-wide primary campaign was closed tonight in Omaha with a host of candidates using bands and parades to give strength to their candidacy. Tomorrow Nebraska will choose candidates for every State and county office from Governor down to constable, and Congressmen will also be chosen.
In nearly every county from two to eight candidates are named on each party ticket, and in Omaha over 300 names appear on the ballots. An extra corps of clerks will be used to assist in counting after the polls close at 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

"HANG ME TOMORROW."

Folsom Prisoner, Up for Sentence, Tells Judge to Make His Hanging Soon as Possible.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—Immediate death via the hangman's noose was the plea of Samuel Swearington, condemned prisoner in Folsom prison, to Superior Judge Glenn, who reset a date for hanging today. Swearington lost his appeal to the Supreme Court on a charge of assaulting a fellow-prisoner and was up for resentence. He was asked if he had any preference as to the time of death.
"Make it as soon as possible, your honor. Tomorrow would suit me. I want it over with," he replied.
He will be hanged October 23.

Eight Austrian Blockhouses Fall in Herzegovina.

Russian Troops Are Active on Polish Frontier.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
LONDON, Aug. 17.—In a dispatch from Cettinje, Montenegro, the correspondent of Reuter's News Agency says, Montenegrin forces have been engaged for the last two days with a strong detachment of Austrian troops in the neighborhood of Grahavo. The Montenegrin casualties in dead and wounded were forty-five.
On August 16 the Austrians attacked the western frontier of Montenegro from Krivosije to Grahavo; at the same time Austrian vessels bombarded the Montenegrin position at Lovcen.
A dispatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph Company says the Montenegrin troops have crossed the Bosnian frontier and occupied the town of Tchainitza after a fierce battle.
The dispatch adds that the Montenegrins have captured eight Austrian blockhouses in Herzegovina, between Bilek and Trebinje. They have also occupied seven villages near Trebinje and have taken twelve Austrian officers prisoners.
The correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company at Nish, Servia, telegraphing under date of August 15, says:
"Our troops at Buyak, near Lyma, successfully repelled the enemy. Near Kunachitza opposite Losnitza. The enemy has thrown a bridge across the Drina and fortified its position on both banks. The night at Belgrade passed quietly.

RUSS MOVEMENTS ON THE FRONTIER.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17 (Via London.)—The Russian War Office today issued an official communication giving information as to the recent military movements on the frontier between Austrian Galicia and Russian Poland. It says:
"The defensive operations and the movements of reconnoitering detachments of the Russian army on the frontier of Galicia between August 12 and 17, led to a series of attacks by cavalry supported by infantry and artillery.
"In the provinces of Pietrkoff and Kielce, the Austrian cavalry occupied a front of over fifty miles in length, extending along a line from Tchenstochova, through Andrejew to Sandomic.
"On August 14, Austrian advance guards penetrated a short distance into Russian territory. It is reported that this offensive movement was checked by the Russian troops.
"An Austrian attempt to advance from Andrejew toward Kielce failed on August 15, when the Russian troops by a series of brilliant cavalry attacks, succeeded in dislodging the enemy from Kielce and also occupied a town in the Tomaschoff district.
"The Russian cavalry cut up the Austrian advance guards and invaded the frontiers of Austrian Galicia, penetrating a distance of eight miles.
"Near Tomaschoff, Russian cavalry inflicted serious losses on the Eleventh Austrian Dragoon Regiment, in a brilliant saber engagement.
"Russian cavalry is in close contact with the enemy everywhere."

CITY OF PARIS ALMOST NORMAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Conditions in Paris are virtually normal again and the populace is calm, according to information received by the State Department today from Myron T. Herrick, Ambassador to France. The situation of Americans apparently is relieved, as the Ambassador's cable made no mention of it. The chief sign of war in the French capital, the Ambassador reported, is the slight rise in the prices for food. The United States is now caring for the diplomatic interests of Russia, as well as other belligerent powers of Europe, except Servia and Montenegro. The addition of Russia was viewed with interest because of the absence of treaty relations between the United States and Russia. The Russian treaty was denounced by this country in 1911, and no treaty to replace it has been negotiated.

FRENCH CAPTURE TWELVE GUNS.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A dispatch from Paris to the Havas agency says French troops have occupied the town of Schirmeck, twelve kilometers (seven and one-half miles) beyond Saales, in Alsace.
They took twelve field guns, twelve caissons and eight rapid-fire guns.
The French cavalry then pushed on to Mulbach and Lutzelhausen.

FRENCH LOSSES REPORTED HEAVY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
LONDON, Aug. 17.—A Brussels dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says the French casualties in the fighting between Namur and Dinant were heavy, as the Germans were strongly entrenched and their artillery at the outset played great havoc with the French.
The French wing at Dinant had been badly cut up and nearly routed when suddenly the strains of the Marseillaise resounded in the French lines and the men rallied. With splendid gallantry they charged, hurling themselves on the German troops, going through their lines and putting them to flight.

THREE ARMY CORPS IN BRITISH FORCE.

DETAILS OF EXPEDITIONARY TROOPS SENT TO THE CONTINENT UNDER FRENCH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—English papers received here today give details of the composition of the British expeditionary force under command of Field Marshal Sir John French. The field force is composed of three army corps, each comprising two divisions, and there is an extra cavalry division under the command of Maj.-Gen. Edmund Allenby.
Each army corps is formed of twenty-four infantry battalions of about 1000 men each on a war footing, six cavalry regiments, eight batteries of horse artillery of six guns each, eighteen batteries of field artillery, two howitzer batteries and troops of engineers, signal corps, army service corps and other details.
The British field force, therefore, should contain seventy-two infantry battalions, eighteen cavalry regiments, twenty-four batteries of horse artillery, with 144 guns, fifty-four batteries of field artillery with 324 guns, six howitzer batteries and the usual details, according to the latest British army list issued at the end of July.
The first army corps is commanded by Lieut.-Gen. Sir Douglas Haigh, the third by Maj.-Gen. W. P. Pulteney, and the second was led by Lieut.-Gen. Sir James Grierson, who died suddenly today and has been replaced by another general.

THE FRENCH AT BRUCHE.

Paris "Temps" Alleges They Cannot Debauch on the Plain of the Valley, But They Occupy the Place.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (12:45 a.m.)—The Paris correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company sends the following dispatch:
"In a review of the military situation, the Temps points out that the French troops cannot debauch on the plain by the valley of the Bruche, which is barred by the fortress at Molsheim, in Alsace, twelve miles southwest of Strassburg, but says it has been necessary to occupy the valley, as otherwise it might be utilized by the Germans.
"The Temps suggests that the fact that heavy artillery has been found in that region may be construed as indicating that the Germans are massing troops behind the Rhine, preparing to force the passes of the Vosges Mountains."

WIRELESS MEN ARE VICTIMS.

Double-Barreled Protest Is Sent to Washington.

Why Not Censor the Cable Lines Also, Is Asked.

Federal Company on Pacific Coast Is Hard Hit.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 17.—Complaint of censorship over the wireless now comes from the Pacific Coast. Representative Raker today referred to Secretary Bryan the following dispatch from James F. Smith of the Federal wireless system at San Francisco:

"Hon. John E. Raker, member of Congress, Washington, D. C.

"According to the President's proclamation of neutrality of August 5 Secretary Daniels issued instructions to the naval officers on the Pacific to censor wireless telegrams, particularly those in code and in cipher. This censorship compels the Federal Telegraph Company to ask that a certified translation accompany each message under the signature of the sender and this, although I am credibly and authoritively informed that the company does not communicate with ships at sea or any foreign port. That is exclusively Marconi's field. The Federal uses the Poulsen system.

"The instruction of Secretary Daniels makes no distinction between companies having communication solely with domestic ports and companies dealing with ships and foreign ports. The censorship as now enforced works a great hardship on the Federal company, especially as the Secretary's order does not apply to cable companies, or to wire companies over land.

"Under the order the Los Angeles business of the company is censored as well as the Honolulu business. Patrons of the company are positively declining to do business with it, although they prefer the company's system. Patrons insist that they will not expose the nature of their private business involving no communication with ships at sea or foreign countries.

"Will you kindly see Secretary Daniels and ask him to modify his orders in so far as companies not dealing with ships or foreign ports are concerned."

Communications.

CABLE LINES ARE CONGESTED.

AND THE WIRELESS, WELL, IT IS CENSORED.

Why the American People Are Getting Ridiculously Small Dribbets of News About the Greatest War in the History of the Race—Abolition of Code Works Hardships.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Inquiry at the offices here of the three great transatlantic cable companies developed the fact that on all fifteen submarine lines between North America and Europe traffic was still badly congested today. The congestion, it was said, was due primarily to the requirements and restrictions of the censors at the European terminals.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's system of eight cables was in better condition than at any time since the establishment of the censorship, it was said today. The requirement of the address and full name of the addressee be written as well as the full name of the sender, was causing much congestion on this system, although it was said that at least once in every twenty-four hours the lines were clear.

The delivery of messages to the terminals in Europe, however, does not necessarily mean that they will reach their destinations immediately. One day last week the London office of the Western Union reported that 2000 cablegrams had piled up there awaiting inspection by the censors. The entire system of the Western Union cables to the south of Europe is similarly affected, as practically all the terminals are in British possessions.

The abolition of code has worked great hardships upon the Western Union as well as the other systems. Prior to the war a great number of commercial and private messages were sent in code, the object being to reduce the number of letters to be transmitted. As the code has been entirely done away with, the number of "units" or letters has consequently been heavily multiplied.

The Commercial Cable Company's system of five cables to Europe was reported today to be working with all the dispatch that could be expected under the circumstances. The lines of the Commercial are, of course, subject to the same restrictions as those of the Western Union.

It was said at the New York office of the French cable company, which operates two cables, one to England and one to France, that the company had succeeded in reducing the delay to twenty hours. Messages coming from and going to Europe are subject to this delay because of the congestion on both sides of the Atlantic. The French company, while refusing messages in code to England and France, announced that code addresses could be placed on messages for delivery in the latter country.

The English owned cable lines between England and Central and Southern Continental Europe and the Scandinavian peninsula were said to be interrupted, although under a censorship even more severe than that imposed on lines in North America. The lines through the Mediterranean to ports in Asia Minor and the Far East are also under strict censorship. The majority of these lines are English-owned. Censorship over the lines between Europe and America is practically the same as that on lines to North America.

The Commercial Company's trans-Pacific cable from San Francisco to Manila, via Honolulu, Midway and Guam and the lines between Manila and ports in Japan and China, with the exception of Hongkong and points reached through that city which is under British control, and the lines between the United States and Central and South America, are the only cables not under censorship.

Managers of cable companies in this city doubted that the rigid requirements and restrictions would be waived before the termination of hostilities.

WILSON TO DECIDE IN COURSE OF DAY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—President Wilson expects within the next twenty-four hours to find an impartial plan for dealing with the question of censoring wireless and cable messages out of the United States to the nations involved in the European war. He consulted today with Department of Justice officials and with international law experts on the subject. The President told callers today that the chief difficulty is that cables can deliver messages only on this side of the other side of the ocean, while the chief sphere of the wireless is in mid-Atlantic.

Replying to a suggestion that it would be easier for Great Britain to transmit messages from the United States to Canada and then send them across the Atlantic the President said that the practical difficulties of censorship to Canada were almost unsurmountable.

THREE HOLD-UPS FOR DUTCH LINER.

BUT THE NIEUW AMSTERDAM BRINGS TWO THOUSAND TO NEW YORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The Holland-American liner Nieuw Amsterdam, flying the Dutch flag and having on board many American refugees who had fled war-stricken Europe, arrived in this port tonight after being held up three times by warships on her trip across from Rotterdam.

On August 4, five hours and a half out from European shores, she was stopped by a Dutch torpedo destroyer. Forty minutes later a shot passed across her bow, and three British warships surrounded her. Yesterday, when 376 miles east of Sandy Hook, the cruiser Essex came alongside after the Nieuw Amsterdam had slowed down in response to two shots from the Briton's guns. Each time she was held up the passenger liner satisfied the warship that she belonged to a neutral nation, and was allowed to proceed.

The Nieuw Amsterdam brought to New York 2039 passengers, most of them Americans. Coming across Capt. Baron of the liner did not attempt to conceal his vessel's identity, and at night burned all lights, as usual. Last Wednesday she sighted a liner with four stacks, painted gray, flying no flag, speeding toward England. Capt. Baron believed her to be the Cunard vessel Mauretania, in attempted disguise.

GERMAN WOUNDED FROM LAGARDE.

BERLIN, Aug. 18 (via Copenhagen and London, 2:15 a.m.)—German wounded who have arrived here tell of the battle at Lagarde. The fighting lasted seven hours under a burning sun. The Germans were opposed by far superior forces, strongly entrenched. The German artillery fire was brilliant, two specially dangerous French batteries being quickly taken.

French Woman States Her Husband and Baby Were Killed by Germans in Hanover.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Rennes, France, says:

"Mme. Guillon, a wealthy resident of Combourg, a town a short distance southeast of Saint-Malo, has arrived here and told how her husband and baby were killed by a mob in Hanover, Germany. The grief-stricken woman said:

"'We were expelled on August 12 from Kolberg (a town of Prussia in Pomerania) and tried to reach France through Switzerland. But we were turned back before we reached the German frontier and compelled to retrace our steps and go by way of Holland.

"'On arriving in Hanover my husband and myself were arrested as spies and stoned by a mob, despite the effort of the police. My husband unfortunately lost his self-control and cried, 'Long live France,' and 'Long live England,' whereupon he was shot.

"'Two friends who tried to intervene also were killed. Our baby, which wore a cap bearing the word, 'Fragee,' was torn away from me, dashed to the ground and killed.

"'My brother-in-law was thrown into prison at Bentheim. I escaped, and after various adventures succeeded in reaching Holland.'"

GERMAN AIRSHIP WINGED FLYING.

Belgians' Hot Fire Brings Machine to Ground.

Tale of French Aviator's Coolness Is Reported.

Surprised by Enemy He Puts Them Off by Ruse.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Aug. 17.—According to official reports made public today a German aeroplane reconnoitering over Givet, in the Department of Namur, Belgium, was met with a hot fire from the Belgians. The machine fell near Hastier.

Shortly after this at Dinant, a party of ten Uhlans encountered a detachment of Belgians. Seven of the Uhlans were killed and three escaped.

COOL AVIATOR.

The following story illustrating the coolness of French aviators is being recited in Paris today:

While flying over Alsace an aviator was obliged, on account of lack of gasoline, to land in an Alsatian village. While he was filling his tank he was surprised by a strong German patrol. Unmindful of the presence of the enemy, the Frenchman continued to replenish his supply of fuel. The Germans were taken aback, fearing a trap they halted near by without firing.

When his tank was replenished the aviator resumed his flight. The Germans then perceived that they had been hoodwinked. They fired at the aeroplane, but without result.

GERMAN ADVANCE.

After remaining virtually inactive for two days certain troops of German cavalry, who were recently repulsed by the Belgians, undertook an offensive operations against the Belgian front.

It was evident that the Germans were awaiting reinforcements. When these arrived they proceeded in the direction of Wavre, a town 15 miles southeast of Brussels. During this advance the Germans encountered the fire of the Belgian outposts and after a number of skirmishes the German offensive movement was stopped.

This information was obtained from official sources in Paris today.

FRENCH PROGRESS.

An official announcement today by the French War Office says:

"The advance of the French army continues to progress. Our troops have taken the heights to the north of Altkirch on the frontier in German territory and the French line now passes through Herscheville, Ferrette, Asundange and Marsal.

"In the Donon or Rougemont region we have occupied Schirmeck, eight miles from Saales, in Alsace, and we have captured twelve German field guns, eight machine guns and twelve gun carriages with ammunition.

"Our cavalry has penetrated as far as Lutzelhausen and Muhlbach and Rosheim.

"Farther to the south we occupy Ville, east of Durbeis, on the road to Schlestadt and Saints Croix, 10 miles and some heavy field artillery has been captured by the French troops.

"In Alsace we have a strongly supporting line from Thann to Cernay to Dannelsarie."

TREATMENT OF PRISONERS.

It was announced officially this afternoon that Russia will treat with especial consideration any prisoners from the German provinces of Alsace and Lorraine who may be captured by her forces. France, on her part, will show equal consideration to any Polish prisoners she may capture. The two countries have reached this understanding to this effect.

SWITZERLAND NEEDS MONEY

IN A STATE OF SIEGE SHE APPEALS TO UNITED STATES FOR HELP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Dr. Pe[tter], the Swiss Minister, again to[day] made representations to the State Department in behalf of his government for a loan of gold from the United States.

Switzerland, in a state of siege [be]cause practically all her male population [is] under arms, is facing a serious financial situation in regard to feeding her people. The imputation that Switzerland might involve the United States in violation of neutrality by the proposed loan was denied by Dr. Petter. He said that [a]part from the question of national honor Switzerland's domestic financial stringency was such that she must have fluid currency to restore normal conditions at home.

MORGAN OUT OF IT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Absolutely denied by J. P. Morgan & Co., of the proposed loan to France became known that the attitude of the administration at Washington is expected to interpose objections recently under way by negotiations in behalf of other belligerents including Austria. It was understood that the financial district that the American government had sounded the American bankers, presumably through the ambassador at Washington, with the prospect of a $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 loan, chiefly for the purchase of foodstuffs in this country.

Relief Board Defers Acceptance of German Liners.

Congestion of Relief Ships' Neutrality Expected.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Further improvement in facilities for the removal of American refugees from British ports was reported today to the government board of relief, but the board still faces the problem of getting ships for the thousands of persons unable to leave Germany, Austria and Switzerland, and those stranded in Italian ports.

Acceptance of the German government's offer to place at the disposal of the United States several liners that would fly the American flag, was deferred again pending the result of exchanges with other governments over the question of the neutrality of the ships. Administration officials are confident, however, that the government at war will consent promptly to the proposal, and that the German government's offer will solve the problem.

Ambassador Page at London reported today that all steamship lines had ordered to resume service with their full complement of vessels. The state department's announcement added that special steamers which were to be employed in bringing refugees from England would be diverted to continental ports.

On arrival of the cruiser Tennessee with its cargo of gold at Falmouth, it was relied upon to relieve the immediate needs of Americans who will be compelled to wait longer for transportation. Deposits with the various consulate departments to be transmitted to needy citizens abroad, had reached more than $1,311,000 tonight.

RED CROSS WORK.

The American Red Cross announced today that much more money would be required to finance the relief extended to Europe. Letters sent to Chambers of Commerce throughout the country urged that special committees be appointed to solicit funds in every community way. The Red Cross will carry 150 surgeons and nurses and a cargo of hospital supplies. Completely equipped hospital trains will be sent to Paris and Berne, at points in the war zone where they are most needed. Germany notified the Red Cross today that no immediate help was needed in that country, which has a well-developed organization of its own.

TOURISTS TREATED WELL IN BERLIN.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Prof. Jeremiah Jenks of Cornell University reached London today from Berlin. He says Americans in Germany are suffering no indignities and that they are being treated with consideration. Many of them, however, are penniless. Ambassador Gerard is supplying the actual needs of Americans in Berlin.

After a conference today between Henry S. Breckenridge, Assistant Secretary of War of the United States, and Ambassador Walter Hines Page, the former stated that $300,000 would be handed to Mr. Page for use in London in relieving American citizens stranded in the British Isles owing to the outbreak of the war. Mr. Breckenridge and his party intended to leave London at midnight for Falmouth, whence the American cruiser Tennessee is to sail tomorrow for Rotterdam. Mr. Breckenridge hopes to reach Germany by that route.

SPECIAL TRAINS FOR AMERICANS.

PARIS, Aug. 17.—Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador, has accepted an offer of the French government to supply free transportation on a special train leaving Annemasse, in the department of Haute-Savoie, in order to permit Americans in Switzerland to reach French sailing ports.

The United States cruiser North Carolina is expected to reach Cherbourg Wednesday, bringing gold for American refugees. The French government will provide a special train to bring the officers of the cruiser from Cherbourg to Paris.

MANY MAROONED IN BADEN BADEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—One hundred and fifty Americans are marooned in Baden Baden, Germany, without means of communicating with the outside world, according to a cablegram received here today by the Embassy Association from its president, E. Clarence Jones. The cablegram was transmitted by Soren Listee, American Consul-General at Rotterdam, and states that the German government is treating the Americans well, even according them special privileges. The cablegram asks that gold coin be sent, as American Express Company checks only are accepted.

Boats to take the Americans home and foreign news also were requested.

More than 1600 passengers, most of them Americans who scurried out of Europe at the outbreak of hostilities, reached New York today on the Cunard liner Laconia from Liverpool. Sixty in the steerage were persons of wealth, who could get no other accommodations. Besides steaming at night with lights out to avoid German warships, the Laconia had her topsides, bridge and funnels painted to resemble a steamer of the Norwegian lines.

Many of the Laconia's passengers endured hardships in getting out of the war zone and most of them left their baggage behind. One man, who said he was in Weisbaden when the general exodus began, was obliged to walk for miles to cross the border. He carried his baggage on a wheelbarrow and crossed into Belgium by way of Liege. He estimated that 2000 persons, Americans, English, Belgians and others, were crossing at the same time.

GENOA REFUGEES PLEAD FOR HELP.

FIFTY THOUSAND APPLICATIONS FOR REPATRIATION RECEIVED AT CONSULATE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

GENOA, Aug. 17.—(Via Paris.) Much anxiety and some fear is being evinced by the many American refugees who daily are crowding the consulate here seeking information concerning passage back to the United States. John Edward Jones, the American Consul-General, is working assiduously in allaying the fears of his compatriots and taking care of those in need.

The applications of Americans for repatriation have now risen to 50,000 without taking into consideration the Americans in Switzerland. Numerous distressing scenes have been enacted at the consulate—women with children crying to be sent home and others in dire need being forced to live on what Mr. Jones can advance them.

When the war began Mr. Jones took a charter for every ship in the harbor here, even though he lacked authorization from the State Department, and it was due to his energy that 586 persons were able to leave here on the steamer Principe du Udine, and that 518 will be able to depart Thursday aboard the steamer Mafalda.

RED TAPE DELAYS LANDING OF GOLD.

FALMOUTH, Aug. 17.—The landing here from the United States cruiser Tennessee of $3,000,000 in gold belonging to American bankers which is to be used for the relief of American refugees, was delayed twenty-four hours owing to a misunderstanding with regard to insurance. Tonight, however, it is safely aboard a train, bound for London.

When the Tennessee arrived here yesterday a representative of the American Express Company, who undertook to take charge of the gold on land, approached the captain of the Tennessee to accept delivery.

"Take it when you like," said the captain. "It is in the magazine, safe and sound. All I want is your autograph when you receive it."

The reply was that the express company's representatives would sign for the gold when it was landed. This, however, the captain would not undertake; not relishing the task of having boatloads of gold pass through the harbor crowded with shipping and German prizes seized by the British, which makes navigation by small boats risky.

Finally a cable dispatch was sent to New York, and a reply being received that the gold was insured from the time it left New York until it reached the London banks, it was hurriedly landed.

The sailors of the Tennessee were entertained tonight by territorials.

Ship Registry Bill.

was the same as it passed the House more than a week ago.

SENATE RECEDES.

The conference report met defeat in the Senate by a vote of 40 to 20 because of determined opposition to the provision which would have admitted to the American coastwise trade all foreign-built vessels taking American register within two years.

Twenty Democrats and twenty Republicans voted to reject the report, which was submitted and championed by Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the Interoceanic Canals Committee. Seven Democrats, Senators Borah and Jones, Republicans, and Senator Poindexter, Progressive, voted for it. Senator O'Gorman arraigned the opposing Democrats, declaring that they were championing an "offensive monopoly," and borrowing Republican arguments in favor of the un-American principle of protection.

BILL AS PASSED.

As finally agreed to, the bill, besides providing for the registry of foreign-built ships authorizes the President in his discretion "to suspend provisions of the law requiring all watch officers of American vessels in the foreign trade to be citizens of the United States, requiring survey, inspection and measurement of vessels admitted to registry by officers of the United States."

The bill enacts into law the administration plan to restore the trans-Atlantic trade paralyzed by the European war. It is also designed to enlarge the American merchant marine. Already the Hamburg-American line has received proposals for certain of its vessels now in American waters and the North German Lloyd line has announced that it will sell some of its ships. Administration officials expect to see many foreign-built ships come under the American flag soon after President Wilson signs the bill.

O'GORMAN AMAZED.

Senator O'Gorman, in charge of the bill, expressed amazement over Democratic opposition.

"Discussion here today," said he, "indicates that Congress is directing its energies toward the protection of special interests, rather than the promotion of the general welfare. It amazes me that Senators who not long ago eloquently proclaimed the American coastwise shipping an offensive monopoly seem to find no difficulty today arguing for a result that will be to perpetuate this monopoly that has fattened on un-American principles.

"We have reached a sad day in the decline of the Democratic party when Democrats rise here and use Republican arguments in support of an offensive and un-American system of protection."

RED CROSS SHIP.

In passing the House bill the Senate receded from all its amendments but subsequently passed a joint resolution granting permission to the American Red Cross to charter a ship which may fly the American flag. This provision was included among the Senate amendments to the House bill but made a separate matter by today's action that the registry bill might not be delayed.

PRESIDENT'S VIEWS.

President Wilson is seeking a way to build up the American merchant marine on a permanent basis, he told callers today. He is not certain, he said, that legislation on the subject now pending in Congress will accomplish this end, but declared he earnestly hoped such a result would be brought about. The President said he had favored the ship registry bill originally introduced in the House but had not fully considered the changes introduced in conference. He expects to investigate the subject thoroughly in the near future in order to act intelligently in aiding Congress to get the best bill possible.

URGE AMENDMENT TO NEW BANK LAW.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The special committee of the Chamber of Commerce appointed to deal with problems of shipments during the war today adopted a resolution recommending prompt amendment of the Federal reserve act so as to permit acceptance of bills representing domestic as well as export and import commercial transactions to the extent of the full amount of capital and surplus of any member bank.

This resolution was adopted on the ground that the establishment of broad discount markets in the United States is most desired in order to protect our gold reserve effectively and that such a result can be obtained only through a plentiful supply of what are termed "prime bankers acceptances." The Federal reserve act at present limits amount of such acceptances to one-half the unimpaired capital and surplus.

SHIPS FOR SALE TO UNITED STATES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Like the Hamburg-American line the North German Lloyd line, also German-owned, announced today that it is willing to sell any of its ships to Americans if it can get the price it demands for them. In making the announcement officials of the company said:

"The present situation in Europe has nothing to do with our willingness to sell. We have always been ready to sell."

BRITISH SHIPS IN OUR WATERS.

THE DRAKE AND THE GOOD HOPE IN THE ATLANTIC TO PREY ON ENEMY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The British cruisers Drake and Good Hope are now on duty off the Atlantic Coast, according to announcement at the British Consulate here tonight. It was stated that word had been received from Admiral Cradock, in charge of the British fleet in these waters, that these cruisers had arrived since Saturday.

The Drake, it was said, will remain on patrol duty between New York and Bermuda and the West Indies, with the five other British cruisers already on duty in these waters.

The Good Hope will go to Halifax to await further orders.

It is understood at the consulate that an unidentified British battleship, the first to be in these waters since the war broke out, is on its way here and will arrive during the week. The battleship's destination is unknown, it is said.

OIL KING'S MONEY FOR RED CROSS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Two contributions for use on European battlefields, one from the Rockefeller foundation for $10,000 and one from Mrs. Russell Sage for $2500 reached Red Cross headquarters here today.

Germany's offer to place at the disposal of the United States passenger steamers which would sail under the American flag, to bring refugees home from Europe was before members of the government Board of Relief today. Acceptance of the offer was assured, and there were indications that some of the other nations involved in the European war might divert liners for the relief of Americans stranded abroad. If sufficient facilities are available, it is probable that the plan to send American transports to Europe will be abandoned.

MILLION-DOLLAR CARGO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A message from Santos, Brazil, posted today at the maritime exchange, announces that the Hamburg-American steamship Santa Catharina of that company's South American service has been captured by a British cruiser. The Santa Catharina left New York July 25 with a million-dollar cargo, bound for Rio de Janeiro, Santos and other South American ports. A subsequent report said that the ship had been taken to the Island of Trinidad, a British possession. The Santa Catharina is of 4200 tons gross burden, 350 feet long, and was built in Germany in 1907.

Woods Are Full of Poison Ivy

First Get Your Blood Right—Then You're Safe

All country people, and city folks before taking to the woods should fortify their blood with S. S. S.

This famous blood purifier not only drives all poisons out of the system but puts the blood in a condition to resist the effects of poison ivy and other terrors that constantly beset us. You never can tell what a slight abrasion of the skin may lead to. A small scratch by barb wire or thorn will often open the way to serious trouble. Then there is the danger of impure water, of clogged bowels, of mineral poisons already in the system, of public towels and numerous other traps to set the blood on fire. Let S. S. S. purify your blood and if poisons have invaded the system begin S. S. S. at once and drive them out.

Get a bottle today of any druggist but don't accept anything claimed to be "just as good."

Beware of substitution. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 107 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an illustrated book "What the Mirror Tells." It fully explains about skin diseases and is finely illustrated.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Wed in North.

Charles A. Anderson, 30 years old, and Luella Fields, 25, both of this city, obtained a license to marry in San Francisco yesterday.

Railway Extension Meeting.

A meeting will be held at the Slauson Playground tomorrow evening in the interest of a new car line. Great public interest is awakened on the subject in that part of the city and in the afternoon a parade will be held over the proposed route.

"Newspaper Day."

The Supervisors yesterday set October 1 as "Newspaper Day." On that day residents of the county are expected to send copies of newspapers to at least one friend each in the United States or Europe, detailing the growth of the city and county of Los Angeles and telling of the opportunities offered here.

Want Forest Rangers.

There will be a civil service examination for forest rangers on October 19-20 in this city and Sierra Madre. The written examination will take place at the Federal building, but the practical test, involving the loading of a burro and the "cinching" of the same, a practical knowledge of woodcraft, the pitching of tents and other outdoor tests will take place at Sierra Madre.

Trains on Time.

Of a total of 7622 different local trains run on the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific in July, 6821, or nearly 91 per cent., made schedule or better time, and 6709 arrived on time. On the Coast division, 1252 of the 1412 trains run arrived at terminals on time. But thirty of the remainder were over sixteen minutes late. The figures establish new records for the Southern Pacific for "on-time" trains.

Against High Prices.

In view of the high prices now prevailing in foodstuffs, the Women's Million Club has decided to hold a "Housewives' Rally" at its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at No. 540 Wilcox building. A general invitation is extended to all housewives to attend and protest against the rise in price and take such measures as may be necessary to prevent further rise. N. P. Olsen, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association, will address the club.

Death of Manufacturer.

Hugh A. Jones, secretary of the Kellastone Company of this city, died yesterday at the Rubaiyat apartments, aged 51 years. He came here from Chicago about two years ago, as representative of a company manufacturing stucco work, and later organized the Kellastone Company. He leaves a widow, the only relative in Los Angeles. The body is at Booth & Boylson's, awaiting word from eastern relatives before making funeral arrangements.

Predicted the World War.

Karl F. Bluthardt of this city, author of "The Cause of Wars and the Foundation for World-Wide Peace," which he published in Germany in 1904, has written to the State Department at Washington urging that steps be taken to reverse the treaty of 1905 between Japan and Russia. He declares that the present war is all the result of that treaty. In his book he predicted this war unless steps therein outlined were taken to prevent it. He has also addressed a letter to the Secretary of State and other officials, charging Theodore Roosevelt with quoting bodily from his book without credit, and using the material in his application for the Nobel peace prize, which was awarded him upon his return from Africa.

BRAVES FLAMES FOR HORSES.

Lieut. Block Saves Six—Fire Destroys Blacksmith Shop and Large Ambulance.

By the quick action of Lieut. Block of the police department, six horses were rescued when fire destroyed a blacksmith and paint shop owned by William H. Schortch, No. 1251 Trenton street, last night.

The building was discovered in flames before the first alarm was sent to the department and Lieut. Block, who was attending a large meeting nearby, rushed to the scene and brought out the horses in spite of the dense clouds of smoke covering the building.

Although the fire department responded promptly the loss to the building will amount to about $3000, while a similar amount was lost on the contents belonging to the proprietor.

An ambulance belonging to Garret & Co., undertakers, also was destroyed by the blaze, inflicting an additional loss of $3500. This machine was in the shop to be painted, and despite the efforts of the firemen could not be taken out in time to prevent its entire loss.

The building was owned by E. H. Kincaid. The amount of insurance, if any, could not be ascertained last night.

STREET CAR STRIKES TAXICAB; TWO IN HOSPITAL.

Los Angeles Man Suffers Possible Fracture of Skull in Smash on Street in Seattle—Wife Here Notified by Friends—Chauffeur Escapes With Bruises.

Emil E. Seidel, 35 years old, of No. 1930 Hillcrest drive, agent here for the Seattle Brewing and Malting Company, who arrived in Seattle Sunday morning, was very seriously injured, and Robert O'Hara, chauffeur of a taxicab, was bruised and cut, when a Broadway street car crashed into the taxi at Highland drive and Tenth avenue, north, in Seattle, last night. Mr. Seidel was taken to the Minor Hospital in an unconscious condition. Examination showed indications of a fractured skull. The auto was wrecked.

Mr. Seidel was taken out by passengers on the street car. He was on his way from the Georgetown plant of the company to the home of C. A. Thorndike, No. 2441 Federal avenue, where he had been invited to dinner, when the accident happened. Mrs. Seidel, who is in this city, was notified by telegraph of the condition of her husband. Doctors said Mr. Seidel's condition was such that an operation for the time being would not improve his chances for life.

Chauffeur O'Hara said he was driving slowly and did not see the street car when he tried to cross Tenth avenue North. Motorman James Connell said he attempted to stop his car, but saw the automobile too late to avert the crash. The car struck with such force that the chauffeur was thrown from his seat.

Mr. Seidel has been for a year and a half a resident of this city, representing the Seattle company. He came from Canada.

He Knew the Style

That gentleman you met at the formal reception reflected correctness of dress in every move he made.

You knew he was a business man and as business men go they have little time to study FULL DRESS.

Later when the guests were departing you saw him again dressed in his long black cape for the street.

Across the front was the black silk corded frog. The English cut to the back and the white silk or satin lining added the finishing touches of correctness.

When your questions of Correctness FULL DRESS affront you make it a habit—as this man does—to consult the expert advice of this exclusively FULL DRESS specialty shop.

DYING WOMAN SHOOTS BANDIT.

BRAVE WIFE OF SACRAMENTO MAN PREVENTS ROBBERY OF HIS STORE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—Shot and almost instantly killed by Earl Loomis, a lone young bandit, intent on robbing her husband's store, was the fate of Mrs. Marie Holcroft, 38 years of age, wife of Cliff Holcroft, as she was sitting in her husband's ice cream parlor tonight. But before her death Mrs. Holcroft, so seriously wounded the bandit that he was forced to go to the police for help.

The bandit entered the front door of the establishment and pointing a revolver at Holcroft, commanded him to throw up his hands. Holcroft did so, but his wife who sat near by attempted to draw a revolver. The robber noticed her action, and fired upon her, the bullet striking her in the right breast, killing her in a few moments.

As Mrs. Holcroft fell, she shot four times at the bandit as he fled through the door. One of her shots struck the man in the right side of the head, lodging behind his eye. He staggered a few blocks and at that point called to two men to take him to the Police Station.

COASTWISE TRADE OF PACIFIC MAIL.

STEAMSHIP LINES' EXISTENCE DECLARED DEPENDENT UP ON MEXICAN BUSINESS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The existence of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company depends upon the willingness of the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant its application for permission to continue in the coastwise trade to Mexican ports, according to the statement of R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager of the steamship company, before Commissioner H. C. Hall here today. The Pacific Mail Company is controlled by the Southern Pacific Company, which reaches by rail some of the Mexican cities with which the steamship company trades.

The specific point involved in the hearing was Mazatlan, and Schwerin said he had no fear the Panama Canal act could be construed to include his company's business with other Mexican and Central American points not reached by the Southern Pacific. However, he said that without the Mazatlan business his company could not engage profitably in the south coast trade, and the Pacific Mail Company's Oriental business would become unprofitable if the coasting steamers were discontinued.

Schwerin testified that the steamship company had paid no dividends since 1898, and said its continuance "has been largely sentimental." He added that "its withdrawal meant turning over the only considerable merchant marine business left under the American flag to foreign ships."

A number of importers and exporters appeared as the company's witnesses, and they testified that the Pacific mail service to the south coast is necessary in order to enable California merchants to compete with the East and Europe in Central America.

The case was taken under advisement without opposition.

Breach of Promise Suit of Former Chicago Stenographer Against St. Paul Lumberman Settled by Counsel.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Aug. 17.—A settlement in the breach of promise suit of Ada M. Cox, a former Chicago stenographer, against William Rufus Edwards, wealthy St. Paul lumberman, was agreed upon at a conference of opposing counsel, according to a stipulation filed in the District Court late today.

It is understood Miss Cox received the amount of the verdict, $17,425, which was affirmed by the State Supreme Court, less $300 costs incurred at the first trial.

The suit was tried in the District Court twice and was before the Supreme Court three times.

Much of the testimony at the trials centered about a vacation trip to St. Paul. Miss Cox testified that Edwards accompanied her, entertained her elaborately and that he promised to marry her.

Verdict.

DISTURBER IS FOUND GUILTY.

Rev. Convicted on Charge of Criminal Libel.

Fine in Jail or Heavy Fine Maximum Penalty.

Jury Disagrees in Case of Young and Andrews.

The Rev. William Francis Ireland, charged with criminally libelling Police Judge Warren L. Williams, was found guilty by a jury in Department 9 of the Police Court yesterday. He was subject to a maximum sentence of one year's imprisonment or a fine of $1000 or both. He will be sentenced tomorrow morning by Justice of the Peace Wells of Covina, who heard the case in the place of Judge Fredericksen.

The vote of six to six the jury disclosed in the cases of George R. Ross, managing editor of the Record, and Fred L. Andrews, called a "co-defendant," who were jointly tried with Ireland. They will be retried, according to Attorney Paul Schenck, who prosecuted the two.

The publication which is held libellous by the jury's conviction of Ireland appeared in the Record of March 7. It stated that Andrews had been taken from the inebriate farm and placed upon the Williams ranch at Covina, owned by the father of Judge Williams, without full and satisfactory compensation. The article charged that a police judge "is ex-jail-bird-and-outers to line his own pockets."

Evidence adduced was that C. Williams, the police judge's father, had taken from the inebriate farm a man contracted for the man's labor, and that the magistrate had no knowledge of Andrews's alleged failure to return.

HARD-FOUGHT TRIAL.

The trial has been in progress three days, the longest Police Court trial in a number of years.

The verdict is considered a brilliant personal victory for Paul W. Ware, special prosecutor for Police Judge Williams. He was opposed by Earl C. Ferry, staff libel lawyer for the Hearst newspapers, brought down from San Francisco, and by Earl Rogers. The length of the trial has been a matter of dissension between counsel, the point being bitterly contested. Attorneys were exhausted before the jury which tried the case was finally completed.

The verdict was returned after about four hours' deliberation. Retiring at 4:30 o'clock, the jury was closeted until 4 o'clock, when it was called into the courtroom. The foreman announced that twelve were agreed upon the verdict in the case of one of the defendants, but were divided seven to five upon the other two. After three more hours of deliberation the jury was recalled. The vote of seven to five had been changed to six even. The verdict convicting Ireland was then read.

During the progress of the trial Mr. Schenck sought to bring out the malice which was declared to have inspired Ireland to bring Andrews's grievance to the attention of the Record and the imputed malice of the paper in failing to completely investigate the case before publication of the article. That Young and Andrews escaped Ireland's fate is believed to be due to the instructions given the jury by Justice Wells.

"If the jury finds that, notwithstanding the fact that the publication may be false," he directed, "nevertheless the defendants honestly believed it to be true and published it only after a reasonable investigation to ascertain whether or not it was true, and it was so published with good motives and for justifiable ends, in such case the jury must acquit the defendants."

CHARGE CRITICISED.

Mr. Schenck in his argument declared that no communication could be considered as privileged which was false, notwithstanding the motive and

CLUBMAN IS UNDER ARREST.

CHARGE LONG BEACH RESIDENT WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

Alleged to Have Accepted Check for Property Which He Did Not Deposit to Buyer's Credit—Employees Complain He Gave Them Worthless Paper.

J. W. Young, realty dealer and clubman of Long Beach, was arrested last night by Constable Woodbury on a complaint charging him with embezzlement. Mr. Young is alleged to have defrauded a number of persons in land transactions. Other complaints may be issued by Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford.

The complaining witness is M. Mish, who asserts that Mr. Young swindled him out of $115. Mr. Mish declares that he gave Mr. Young a check for $115 as a first payment on a lot purchased by him from Mr. Young at Chanticleer Acres. Mr. Young told him, Mr. Mish says, he was agent for the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank and that the money would be deposited at the bank. When Mr. Mish went to get his contract at the bank several days ago the officials told him he didn't have one coming, as Mr. Young had failed to deposit any money to his credit. Mr. Mish then reported his case to Mr. Ford and the complaint was issued.

Mr. Young is married and has three children. He resides in a beautiful home at Long Beach. A dozen selling agents employed by Mr. Young have complained to the District Attorney's office that Mr. Young gave them worthless checks.

WOULD KEEP ALIVE WESTERN SMELTERS

SALT LAKE OFFERS TO ACCEPT DEFERRED PAYMENTS ON ORE SHIPMENTS.

With gold and zinc the only two metals now commanding normal prices in the world's markets, the Salt Lake took the initiative yesterday in a movement to keep the smelters of the West in operation. It takes the form of deferred payments on ore transmitted to the smelters for crushing.

As is well known, ore moves to the smelters at rates which depend on the assay value of the resultant product. If a carload of ore yields, for instance, a cash return to the shipper of $1000, the railroads get a return that is just twice as large as they would if that car of ore returned the shipper but $500.

With silver, lead and many other metals falling in price, the owners of smelters naturally foresaw the time when they would have to close down. The Salt Lake also foresaw its earnings per car of ore dwindling to the vanishing point, provided, of course, the smelters continued to operate.

So the Salt Lake, with the co-operation of the four smelting companies on the line, will put an ore schedule into effect today which provides freight payments that are next to nothing, but with the proviso that when the metal market resumes its customary tone the smelting concerns will pay the difference between wartime and normal freight rates on all ore moved in the interim.

CASES IN BANKRUPTCY.

Schedules in the bankruptcy case of Warren Swetland, former confectioner doing business at No. 705 South Broadway, were filed in the United States District Court yesterday. The debts of the petitioner amount to $4812.53, of which amount $4788.53 are unsecured. The assets are given at $11,508.13, and $1450 exempt, consisting of bills worth $4000, and personal property and fixtures valued at $4630.31. Oscar Knox, a railway brakeman of San Bernardino, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday. He owes $306.42, and his assets are $110, all claimed to be exempt.

MIGHTY STORY BOILED SMALL.

Complete Industrial Survey of All Los Angeles.

Chamber of Commerce Bureau Summing Great Task.

Significant Statistics of World Storehouse.

The ends of the world meet in our marts of trade, according to Industrial Commissioner Kinney of the Chamber of Commerce, who is now summarizing the industrial survey of this city, which has been under way the past eight months. This survey is to show the approximate amount of money invested by each manufacturing concern, as well as the number of men employed, the product or products, and the net yearly value of the output.

The survey is preliminary to the issuance of a manufacturers' guide to Los Angeles. This guide will show everything produced here and by whom, and is for the use of buyers the country over, as well as in foreign countries.

"The factories of Los Angeles show an unusual diversity of products," said Mr. Kinney yesterday. "But we need more home patronage, also a more general support of the Industrial Bureau's campaign to secure additional industries for this city. Why Philadelphia, with 16,000 industries, and Pittsburgh, with its hundreds of millions invested in the iron and steel industries, are combing the world for new industries that they may secure that diversity of products which assures a steady high level of prosperity.

NEW INDUSTRIES.

"Los Angeles is making strides, however. A number of important new industries have been located within our metropolitan area the past six months, while our manufacturers are showing an increasing disposition to take advantage of the opportunity which advertising offers to extend their selling fields."

One of the best proofs that Los Angeles draws on the world for raw products is furnished by a fertilizer concern. It imports bonemeal from India, phosphate from Japan, fishmeal from Alaska, potash from Germany—recently much of this article has been secured here—nitrate of soda from Chile, and other ingredients from China and Spain.

A soap concern here recently shipped four carloads of soap to break bulk at Hongkong for Chinese and Japanese points. Oil-well supplies from this city, including much heavy machinery, go to Japan, Australia and Borneo, while ore crushers from here find their way to every mining country of the globe. A recent large shipment was to South Africa. A concern here that deals in rebuilt typewriters finds Australia and Japan among its readiest markets.

But it is in the manufacture of automobiles and accessories that this city is making the most rapid strides. For instance, an automobile truck concern here manufactures 60 per cent. of the trucks used in this State, while another concern expects to shortly sign a contract with a San Law's Long Arm.

BRING BACK FUGITIVE WHO JUMPED BIG BAIL.

CHARLES E. WILLIAMSON, fugitive president of the National Tuna Fishing and Canning Company, was brought to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police N. N. Murphy and Deputy United States Marshal L. W. Tobias, of Bay City, Mich., and lodged in the County Jail. Williamson has been a fugitive from justice for several months, disappearing soon after his release from the County Jail on bond in $2000 furnished by the Equitable Surety Company.

The charge against Williamson is using the mails to defraud, it being alleged that he swindled Mrs. Minnie C. Emerson of No. 247 East Twenty-ninth street, out of several pieces of property on the south side, securing a power of attorney from the woman and afterward mortgaging the property for all it was worth. The amount involved is about $7000.

Following Williamson's arrest, Mrs. L. D. Cannon, wife of an attorney and friend of Williamson, went to his relief by giving the Equitable Surety Company a trust deed on her home on Boyle Heights, to secure the bond. Later on, Williamson and Cannon went to Dallas, Tex., where the father-in-law of Williamson resides. Williamson later went to Kansas City, saying that he could get the money to reimburse Mrs. Cannon there. From there he dropped out of sight, until he was picked up at his grandmother's home in Bay City, afterward being taken to Detroit.

Following his disappearance the bond of the fugitive was forfeited by Judge Wellborn. The prisoner will be brought into the United States Court this morning for arraignment. An effort will made to perfect some arrangement by which Mrs. Cannon will be able to save her property by paying the cost incurred by the government in capturing Williamson.

It is said that the tuna fishing enterprise promised big returns and that large blocks of the stock were disposed of to erect a plant at Long Beach. Mrs. Emerson invested in $9,000 shares of the stock.

BOND ISSUE PERMIT.

Authority has been granted the Southern California Edison Company by the State Railroad Commission to issue 321 of its 5 per cent. bonds of a par value of $1000 each at 87½ cents and accrued interest. These bonds are the last remaining portion of an issue of $2,500,000 authorized by the commission early in 1913.

CLEAR WAY FOR FEDERAL BOARD.

United States Labor Agents Here on Big Job.

Industrial Commission Due Early Next Month.

Employers and Employed Each to Have Innings.

A preliminary survey of the industrial situation in Los Angeles was begun yesterday by Basil M. Manly and W. P. Harvey, advance agents of the United States Commission on Industrial Relations which will hold a four-day hearing here early in September. The experts will save the time of the commission by studying general conditions and recommending a working schedule. Their work is of great importance, and, in this city, of a particularly comprehensive scope.

The agents are in conference with the representatives of the various organizations of employers and of the labor unions, and also with the most prominent individuals who are interested in the industrial problems of Los Angeles. Mr. Manly has had charge of the public hearing of the commission since its organization.

"We have not gone far enough with our work to know what the industrial situation is in Los Angeles except that it appears to be interesting," Mr. Manly said last night at the Lankershim. "We will take up a study of prominent features of the city's industrial life. By the end of the week we expect to have a knowledge of the local situation that will enable us to make recommendations to the commission as to what lines to pursue.

"Our work will be to make a general outline of the matters to be taken up here. About thirty to fifty persons, representing employers and members of organized labor, will be asked to give their views to the commission at its hearing here."

The commission began hearings on the Pacific Coast two weeks ago in Seattle. The commission is in Portland this week where four days are being devoted to an inquiry into industrial problems of that city and of the State of Oregon. The next hearing will be in San Francisco, and will last about two weeks.

The commission originated in the term of President Taft. Its present members were named by President Wilson. Under the act creating the body its life ends in one year. The commission has nine members. The

"God Save the King."

SMOLDERING FIRES STIR IN SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

PATRIOTISM, subdued but intense, gave zest to the old English smoker which opened a week's convention of the Sons of St. George last evening at Burbank Hall. With trembling lips and dimmed eyes, British subjects sang "God Save the King" as it has never been heard before in Los Angeles.

The leaders of the convention are using every effort to restrain patriotism from leaping over the bounds of propriety. The usual custom of floating the Union Jack over the convention headquarters was dispensed with for fear that the sight of the British national colors might unduly inflame the patriots.

"It is our purpose to observe President Wilson's wishes and not violate the country's policy of neutrality," J. D. Greene, one of the leaders of the organization declared last evening. "We have found it impossible, however, to restrain a show of patriotic fervor. The wave of patriotism is giving a keen flavor to the convention.

"Not before, during the history of the organization, has 'God Save the King' and 'Rule Brittania' been sung with such intense feeling as tonight. The smoldering fires of patriotism are bursting out in spite of our efforts and we don't know what will happen before the week is over.

"Two hundred members of our order have expressed a desire to return to England to fight for our country's honor if their services are needed. The order has not solicited volunteers, but they have insisted in thrusting their names upon us.

"A surprising feature of the situation is the number of Irish who have expressed a keen desire to fight for the home land. It appears that in the present crisis the local Irish have forgotten their grievances and are eager to enlist."

The Royal Oak Lodge, which is the local branch of the Sons of St. George, appointed a subcommittee yesterday to meet with a general committee from the British societies to form a Red Cross league. The subcommittee is composed of Mr. Greene, chairman; E. Bassett and John Topham. The General Committee will solicit funds for the relief of British reservists in case they are called home to bear arms.

A number of physicians, including Dr. J. F. Jenkins, who has been in Los Angeles twenty years, and Dr. F. Haigh have volunteered to serve with the Red Cross if their services are needed.

It appears that the banquet to be held Thursday evening at Hamburger's Cafe will be distinctly patriotic in tone. The toastmaster will be William Meek.

One of the interesting features of last night's programme was a patriotic song, "The U.S.K.'s Brigade," composed especially for the occasion by John T. Short of San Francisco and sung by P. C. Woodhouse, also of that city. The refreshments included ale and sandwiches. Clay pipes were distributed.

The programme for today includes a Grand Lodge session, beginning at 9 o'clock a.m. in Eagle's Hall, and a reception this evening by the Alexandria lodge in Pasadena.

FORBIDS AID TO GERMANS.

British Proclamation Makes a Loan or Contract High Treason.

A British subject who contributes any loan to Germany or contracts with the German government is guilty of high treason.

This is the purport of a proclamation received from the British government yesterday by C. White Mortimer, Vice-Consul, stationed here. Publicity was immediately given the notice.

There are no indications of activity of this sort here, and the proclamation is simply one that is being spread broadcast, wherever British subjects reside.

It is of particular interest because the Sons of St. George are in convention here this week.

Fredericks as the Republican nominee for Governor at the primary election. Capt. Fredericks will return Saturday from his long northern tour and will address a crowd that is expected to surpass the great Dreamland rink crowd to which he spoke in San Francisco a few weeks ago.

Preceding the evening meeting there will be a large Republican parade to pass through the downtown streets in a blaze of red fire and to the harmonies of many bands.

The automobile parade will be formed on Ninth street under direction of Sterling Booth, chairman of the parade committee. The various divisions of the parade have been assigned parking places on side streets between Hill and Flower. When the parade moves at 7 o'clock sharp it will be led by the Woman's Republican Club, the Professional and Business Woman's Republican Club, Young Men's Republican Club, Republican League of Los Angeles County, Lincoln Republican League (colored,) First Voters' Club and Rojo Club. Delegations from every county in Southern California will participate in this demonstration. Los Angeles county will be represented by Assembly districts arranged in numerical order.

ROUTE OF PARADE.

The parade will move east on Ninth street to Spring street, north to First street, west to Broadway, south to Seventh, west to Figueroa, south to Jefferson street, where parking places have been reserved around the Shrine Auditorium. The great number of machines will be jointly guarded by the Los Angeles police and the insurance department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The occupants of all the automobiles participating in the parade will have entered the Shrine Auditorium by 8:30 o'clock, at which hour the speaking will begin. A guaranty of seats for everyone who participates in the parade is made by the committee of arrangement, these seats being reserved until the line of march is disrupted. Others, the committee advises, should be in their seats by 7:30 o'clock.

F. C. Fairbanks, campaign manager for Fredericks in Southern California, will introduce to the assemblage, Oscar Mueller as chairman of the evening, and Mueller in turn will introduce Capt. Fredericks as the next Governor of the State.

Many bands have been secured for this parade and there will be red fire along the entire route. Restrictions against the making of noise have been raised for the time being.

At the Dreamland Rink meeting in San Francisco, Fredericks spoke to more than 5000 persons, all that the police would permit within the structure and enough were turned away to form two large overflow meetings that were addressed by other orators.

FOR SUFFRAGE.

ALL PARTIES UNITED.

Women of all parties are working to make a success of the big suffrage entertainment to be given next Saturday at the Hooker gardens on West Adams street. The object of the entertainment is to raise funds for the suffrage work in the seven Eastern States that vote on the question this fall. In the "melting pot" for the fund have already been dropped watches, bracelets and other bits of jewelry. Headquarters will be established at No. 557 South Spring street, where contributions will be received.

The committee on "suffrage sacrifice day" met yesterday with Madeline Frances Wills presiding. Mrs. Lillian Goldsmith will be chairman of the hospitality committee and will have twenty-five assistants. Mrs. E. R. Brainard will have charge of the badges and credentials, and Miss Cora Foy will be at the head of the concessions committee.

Girls in the Work.

Mrs. Jennie Keen, president of the Professional and Business Women's Republican Club, has instructed all the members to canvass the women workers in their office buildings or stores and see that all are registered and also see that they vote at the primary. The club met last night and heard addresses from Judge Gavin W. Craig, candidate for Presiding Judge of the Second Appellate Court; W. D. McConnell, candidate for Police Judge; Dudley W. Robinson, Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, and Elmer R. McDowell, candidate for Superior Judge.

Travelers for Fredericks.

Thirty "traveling men" met at the Alexandria Hotel yesterday afternoon and formed the Fredericks Commercial Travelers' Club, the sole object of which is to foster the candidacy of Capt. John D. Fredericks in both the primary and final election contests. The organization perfected locally will co-operate with a similar club in San Francisco, which now has more than 800 members. R. F. Peabody was elected president of the newly-formed body. A large number of new members are expected to be added daily, and the travelers will spread the Fredericks gospel all over the State.

Indorsed Candidates Speak.

Candidates who have been indorsed by the Committee of One Hundred, representing the various civic and social organizations among the Jews, addressed a meeting in the hall at No. 931 West Temple street last night. Attorney Sam B. Dannis urged that every man and woman present work for the election of W. J. Ford as District Attorney. Besides Mr. Dannis, who spoke for Mr. Ford, the following candidates who have been indorsed, spoke: Judges Willis L. Morrison, Myers, Jackson, Monroe, Shenk, Willis and Judge Works, Harry Lyons, I. B. Benjamin, Charles Coan and Bernard Fry. Another Jewish rally will be held before the primary election.

Talks for Fredericks.

Holy Cross Court, No. 1292, Catholic Order of Foresters, last night gave a theater party at the Burbank. More than 1400 members of the organization filled every seat in the theater. A box had been reserved for Capt. John D. Fredericks and he had been asked to address the court from the stage. By reason of the fact that he has not yet returned from his northern tour he was represented by Attorney W. J. Hanlon, a member of the Foresters. Attorney Hanlon spoke on Fredericks's record and his platform and the name of the Republican candidate was vigorously cheered.

Political Notes.

Judge N. P. Conrey, candidate for presiding judge of the Second Appellate Court, will return today from San Diego, where it is said he is supported by 90 per cent. of the lawyers. The Young Republican Club, learning that Judge Conrey was in town, adjourned and waited upon him in a body at the U. S. Grant Hotel.

Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Republican candidate for Congress in the Tenth District, has been indorsed by the Italian-American Club.

Chester H. Rowell, "Progressive" candidate for United States Senator, will speak next Thursday afternoon upon "The Causes of the War" at the Hooker gardens, No. 825 West Adams street. The Rowell "Progressive" Club and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hooker have arranged the affair.

The candidacy of F. G. Randle for Supervisor in the First District received great impetus at a meeting at "Arbed," the San Gabriel home of Mrs. Frank Marion Fowler. More than 200 prominent club women of Los Angeles and Alhambra were present.

Bernard Fry, candidate for Supervisor in the Third District, addressed a large meeting of the Western Star Benefit and Insurance Society last night. Charles Groman presided.

A large committee of old soldiers has undertaken the election day work at Sawtelle and the Soldiers' Home for Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Republican candidate for Congress in the Tenth District.

Election day organization to get out the entire Republican vote will be the keynote of a meeting of the Seventy-second Assembly District Republican Club tonight in the auditorium of the Manual Arts High School at Forty-second street and Vermont avenue. The speakers include Dr. Glenn MacWilliams, Judge Frank R. Willis, O. B. Nair, Fred Springs, Gen. Frank C. Prescott, Republican candidate for Congress in the Tenth District, and Harry A. Chamberlin, Republican candidate for Assembly in the Seventy-second District.

The Cigar and Tobacco Dealers' Association last night indorsed T. B. Harris for Supervisor of the Third District.

The boycott is on. Willie Mason, 8 years old, yesterday visited all the butchers and grocers in his neighborhood along Orange street and told them unless they voted for T. L. O'Brien for police judge he wouldn't buy any more supplies from them.

Clara Shortridge Foltz will have a busy week campaigning among the women of Southern California in the interest of the candidacy of her brother, Samuel M. Shortridge, for United States Senator. The women of California are not unmindful of the service both have rendered in the cause of suffrage.

Fred J. Spring, Republican county chairman, last night delivered an address before the Cigar Dealers' Association at the Jefferson Club, in behalf of Capt. John D. Fredericks for Governor.

The original committee of men and women who persuaded Sidney L. Briggs to become a candidate for Supervisor in the Third District has arranged a meeting for late in the week to canvass the situation and see that Briggs is properly represented at the polls with workers next Tuesday.

The Orange Street O'Brien Club was formed last night to boost the candidacy of T. L. O'Brien for police judge. Sylvia A. Gaston is president, Mary A. Balcom vice-president, and Mrs. R. Mason, secretary.

Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican candidate for United States Senator, has been indorsed by one wing of the San Francisco Republican County Committee. Considering that the other wing didn't indorse for this office, the action is regarded by Mr. Shortridge's friends as important.

A complimentary breakfast in honor of James D. Phelan, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, will be given at the California Club today by the Women's Democratic League.

Reports to the Angellotti committee state that the associate justice had a very pleasing reception at Riverside, the more pleasing perhaps that it was impromptu and wholly without formality.

The Venice Woman's Club will on Thursday night serve the candidates for nomination at the primaries with California fruit juices when they hold a reception on that night. The ladies have decided that the best way to investigate the candidates is to personally entertain them.

George F. Woodward, who resides at the Seminole apartments, this city, will have an opportunity for the first time in thirty years to cast a ballot. For that length of time Mr. Woodward has been a resident of Mexico, where he was engaged in the cattle trade. Woodward has notified the Knowland headquarters that his much-delayed vote will be cast for Joseph R. Knowland for United States Senator.

Assemblyman H. Stanley Benedict will be the speaker at the meeting of the Home Rule Tax League at noon today at the Hollenbeck Cafe.

Great enthusiasm characterizes the closing week of the campaign being made by O. P. Scherer, candidate for election as Supervisor in the Third District. New Scherer clubs are being formed every day, three being added to the list of more than forty already active in his behalf yesterday, according to his committee.

Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Republican candidate for Congress, Tenth District, addressed an audience at the Westlake Theater last evening.

The ladies' J. Vincent Hannon club met last night at the home of Mrs. C. A. Fritz, No. 2033 East Third street. A musical programme was furnished by Mrs. Catherine Burns-Robinson. Mrs. M. Hospital, Miss Nora Cushing and J. McDonald. William F. McLaughlin delivered an address on the judiciary.

More than a dozen clubs are announced to have been perfected in the citrus belts in support of County Assessor Ed W. Hopkins, a candidate to succeed himself in that office.

SHALL IT RING TONIGHT?

Curfew Principal Topic Discussed by Supervisors—Matter Taken Under Advisement—Some Boys Bad.

The curfew was the principal topic under discussion by the Board of Supervisors yesterday. The discussion arose after the reading of a report from Charles Haas, assistant county counsel, who informed the Supervisors that it had no power to pass a curfew ordinance. Mr. Haas quoted from a decision of the Appellate Court.

This decision admitted that there may be some bad boys, but declared they were amenable to the law and that it does not follow that all children must be kept off the streets. The matter was taken under advisement.

Disturber Found Guilty

ends. He quoted No. 153 California Supreme Court reports, which declares, in substance, that no person may assail the character of a candidate for office and escape liability on the ground that the charge was made in the honest belief that they were true and were made with good intentions.

Ireland, before his advent here, was a "divine healer" in Philadelphia and other eastern cities. He affected long hair and flowing robes. The hair has fallen under the barber's shears, and all that flows nowadays is a black tie and talk. He is the conductor of the "Socialist Open Forum" and is a self-styled "public defender" in the Police Courts. This latter position figured in the trial. Justice Williams on the stand related that he had called the "public defender" to his chambers and there taxed him with having received $10 from a scarlet woman whom he had defended. According to Justice Williams's testimony, Ireland after first denying that he had received money from prisoners he had defended, defended himself by saying that such gratuities he considered ethical and proper in his position. He was ordered from the chambers and later, according to another witness, declared, "We will get the judge, and before election time, see if we don't." Ireland in his turn on the stand denied these statements and summoned character witnesses, but notwithstanding these the jury found him guilty.

"The verdict completely exonerates Justice Williams by finding that the charges against him were utterly false," Mr. Schenck commented last night.

SUGAR STIRS UP BITTER STRIFE.

CALIFORNIA REFINERS RESENT INSINUATION THEY ARE JUGGLING MARKET.

Sugar hath lost its sweetness. Heretofore it has been regarded as the gentlest, the most peaceable of food ingredients. Now sugar, in its saccharine, insinuating way, has become the cause of much contention, envy and malice, for more bitter every minute is the war which it has stirred up among the refiners and the government investigators.

The former in California are up in arms at the implication in press dispatches Sunday from Washington, D. C., that they are designingly holding back shipments of sugar to the Kansas City territory, with the object of increasing the price.

"This insinuation is a decided injustice to California refiners, and grossly at variance with the facts," said F. E. Brown, manager of Parrott & Co., manufacturers, agents and distributors of sugar.

"I am requested forcefully to refute the statement that the shipments ordered forward are being withheld. The facts are that from the combined California refineries there are many cars of sugar now in transit to the Missouri River territory, and only a small quantity could possibly have reached Kansas City by this time, as the refiners only got started on the crop August 1.

"One refiner authorized me to state that he has orders on his books for 40,000 bags of new-crop sugar from eastern buyers, and only eight cars (less than 5000 bags,) have been ordered forward by the purchasers. He would be more than glad to get this sugar to the eastern territory, and get his money for it.

"On account of the demand from England raw sugars have advanced in the primary market of New York just 100 per cent. since the first of August—hence, the advance in refined sugar throughout the United States.

"There is really no mystery about the situation, and false, sensational reports should not be given credence."

Mr. Brown stated that large shipments of sugar are now going forward to England, that country not only taking the refined product, but the raw sugar cane from Cuba as well.

The nation-wide inquiry against inflation of food prices is on in earnest, it being claimed that a searching inquiry into the advance in prices is warranted.

WAR SCARE IN ENGLAND.

Conditions Graphically Told in Letter to Angeleno—Food Supplies Short; Prices Soaring.

That the war scare had gripped England even before the actual declaration between that country and Germany is well illustrated in the graphic story of conditions existing as told in the letters of Mrs. A. B. Furlong, staying at Leamington Spa, Warwickshire, to her son, J. A. Furlong, president of the Royal Securities Company of this city.

Her last letter was written at the time of the declaration of hostilities, and mentioned the fact that prices on foodstuffs were rising fast, and that there was already a shortage of many supplies. Many Americans were held because of the tying up of shipping.

"I fear that this letter may never reach you," wrote Mrs. Furlong, but it evidently was rushed through and arrived here safely.

THEY ARE ALL FOR TAX LEVY.

DELEGATION TO APPEAR BEFORE SUPERVISORS FOR ENTERTAINMENT FUND.

With the backing, it is declared, of representatives of 90 per cent. of the assessed valuation of the county and of twenty-seven Chambers of Commerce and other organizations, members of the 1915 General Committee of Los Angeles City and County on Entertainment and Celebration of the Opening of the Panama Canal, will appear before the Board of Supervisors at 10 o'clock today to plead for a special tax levy which will provide at least $600,000 for the committee's work.

At a previous meeting the Board of Supervisors assured the committee that at least $400,000 would be provided through the medium of a special levy for exposition purposes. Since that time this city has secured the 1915 meeting of the Elks and of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, as well as a number of other important conventions. It is planned to have the money needs of the committee explained in detail at this hearing.

TELEPHONE BILLS JUMP.

Whether or not the county shall pay a $120 increase in its telephone bills each month or use only one telephone is being considered by the Supervisors. Under new rates adopted by the telephone companies the county's bill per month jumped $120 and serious objection is being made as a result. The matter will probably be decided Monday.

CRUCIAL TEST FOR RAILWAY

Applications Up to Sta[illegible] Commission Friday.

Will Affect City Car Lin[illegible] for Twenty Years.

Merger and Greater Bondin[illegible] Power Contemplated.

Its application that will have [illegible] influence on the street rai[illegible] [illegible] history of this city for the ne[illegible] [illegible] years will have its third an[illegible] probably final hearing Friday befor[illegible] Commissioner Edgerton of the Stat[illegible] Railroad Commission. It is the ap[illegible] [illegible] of the Los Angeles Railway [illegible] Corporation and its subsidiary, th[illegible] City Railway Company, to transfe[illegible] their property to the recently-incor[illegible] [illegible] Los Angeles Railway, and o[illegible] the latter company to issue stocks and [illegible] bonds.

The application, as Managing Di[illegible] [illegible] W. E. Dunn of the Los An[illegible] Railway pointed out yesterday, [illegible] [illegible] its origin in the desire of H. E. [illegible] [illegible] Huntington and those associated with [illegible] [illegible] to secure $36,500,000 in additional [illegible] [illegible] bonding powers for the "yellow car" [illegible] [illegible] of this city. The bonding powers [illegible] [illegible] of both the Los Angeles Railway [illegible] [illegible] Corporation and the City Railway [illegible] [illegible] company were exhausted over a year [illegible] ago.

The addition to bonding powers [illegible] [illegible] is based, according to Mr. [illegible] [illegible] on estimates of investments [illegible] [illegible] the Los Angeles Railway must [illegible] [illegible] in the next twenty years. It [illegible] [illegible] does not follow, however, that the [illegible] [illegible] "yellow car" lines must necessarily [illegible] [illegible] make their investments in better[illegible] [illegible] years during that period to $36,500,000, [illegible] [illegible] as all physical improvements [illegible] [illegible] will constitute investments [illegible] [illegible] will thereby increase the sup[illegible] [illegible] bonding powers of the Los [illegible] [illegible] Railway.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED.

Among the improvements imperatively necessary in the near future, according to Mr. Dunn, are the extension of existing and the building of new lines and the purchasing of [illegible] new equipment, also the relocation of car barns. The Los Angeles Railway is also preparing itself to [illegible] with the city in tunnel and other [illegible] improvements, which will [illegible] benefit the street car company [illegible] provide new or improved routes for its cars.

Progress on this bonding proposition has been exceedingly slow, due [illegible] the city's interposing of objections [illegible] that its representatives on the [illegible] of Public Utilities termed an [illegible] to overbond the property. In the first hearing of the case the board [illegible] in an appraisement made by [illegible] Damon over a year previous, [illegible] showed the reproductive value [illegible] lines of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation and the City Railway Company to be $19,762,364, and [illegible] depreciated value $14,782,112. [illegible] municipal ownership as a possibility of the future, President Wright [illegible] the Board of Public Utilities stated [illegible] the city would oppose the plan [illegible] and the street railway property [illegible] $36,000,000.

Following the Damon appraisement, [illegible] street car company offered an [illegible] [illegible] of Consulting Engineer [illegible] of San Francisco, showing the [illegible] value of its property to [illegible] $36,554,642, and the depreciated [illegible] $24,579,556. At the second [illegible] of the application, Acting En[illegible] Sachse of the State Railroad [illegible] [illegible], acting on instruction [illegible] his superiors, brought in an [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FLEE FROM WAR; ABANDON BAGGAGE.

LOS ANGELES PHYSICIAN AND FAMILY NOW EN ROUTE FROM ENGLAND.

Dr. H. G. Brainerd, his wife and son, Fred, of this city, who were in Berlin at the time of the outbreak of hostilities and the seizure of the railroads for military transport purposes, had to abandon all their baggage and make the best of their way out of the endangered territory.

All their trunks they had forwarded from Vienna, a previous stopping place, to Munich, to which city they were en route at the time war was declared.

Purchasing personal effects sufficient for their immediate needs, the Brainerds fled forthwith and did not stop till they were safe in England. At Liverpool they joined Mrs. Cecilia White's party, and a cablegram received at Dr. Brainerd's office yesterday announces their departure from Liverpool last Saturday on the liner Megantic for Montreal. They are due the latter part of this week and will probably be in Los Angeles again within two weeks.

Dr. Brainerd and his family left home on a pleasure trip to the continent last April and would have remained in Europe some weeks longer but for the war.

DAUGHTER ACCUSES POLICE SERGEANT.

HE IS SUSPENDED PENDING INVESTIGATION OF AN ALLEGED ASSAULT.

Sergt. August W. Hartmeyer, acting Lieutenant of the University police division, was yesterday suspended from duty by Chief Sebastian pending an investigation into the charges that he had struck his 18-year-old daughter, Pauline, in the face with his fist. A hearing will be held in the Chief's office tomorrow, and if the charges are substantiated, Sergt. Hartmeyer will be dismissed from the force, the Chief says.

Accompanied by W. A. Herdman, a department manager for Jevne's, where she is employed, Miss Hartmeyer appeared at Central Station Saturday. Her face was bruised, one eye being black and her lips cut. She said that her father had attacked her that morning at the Hartmeyer residence, No. 154 West Fiftieth street. According to Assistant Chief Flammer, Sergt. Hartmeyer admitted having chastised the girl with his open hand, but not with his fist.

LOS ANGELES IN LEAD.

Divides Honors with Seattle for Building Activity—Ranks with Big Eastern Cities.

Los Angeles and Seattle divided first honors in building achievements among the cities of the Pacific Coast during the month of July, this city leading by a substantial margin in the number of permits issued and the Northwest metropolis being ahead in valuation. San Francisco was third in both respects.

Los Angeles had 853 permits to its credit for the month, these representing new structures to cost in the aggregate $2,081,396. Seattle, with 762 permits, boasted a valuation of $2,520,590. San Francisco issued 569 permits, for buildings to cost in all $2,068,537. The figures are from a compilation of building statistics put forth monthly by Construction News.

According to the same authority, building operations in the United States for July showed an increase of about 15 per cent. over the corresponding month a year ago, the comparison being based on cost. The gain in the number of buildings was also substantial.

Outside of Seattle, Cleveland was the only city in the United States of less than 1,000,000 in population that led Los Angeles in point of building outlay for July, the Ohio city, with $2,522,050, having a slight edge on the Pacific Coast place. New York had 1598 permits and $10,549,279 valuation; Chicago, 1107 permits and $9,148,760 valuation, and Philadelphia, 1556 permits and $4,661,850 valuation.

RAZE STORY A DAY.

Records Made in Demolition of Old "Broadway" Which Will Give Way to a New.

The workmen engaged in demolishing the corner portion of the old Broadway Department Store building made a day of it yesterday by razing one entire story, the third. The contractor has hopes of bringing the second story down today and of leveling the ruin to the ground tomorrow. Another day or two will be occupied in clearing away the debris and then, it is announced, the excavations for the second unit of the $1,000,000 "Broadway" will be immediately begun. Records both of destruction and construction are being made in the creation of the big downtown store.

The completion of the mammoth mercantile house will be marked with interesting features, according to those in charge of the work. When the steel frame of the structure begins to rise it will be necessary to link each girder and upright with mathematical precision to the steel ends left exposed on the north side of the finished part of the building. This will be accomplished floor by floor until the nine stories of the skeleton work have been erected. There will be no interruption at any time to the selling activities of the store.

As the different floors are turned over by the workmen the temporary partitions that comprise the north wall of the structure will be knocked out, one by one, to permit of the installation of merchandise. Thus the final step in the preparation of the building for use will be a slight one, the whole work of constructing and equipping the store having been accomplished gradually and without inconvenience to the shopping public. The time set for the complete occupation of the New Broadway is April 1, 1915.

STRAPPED TO FALLING POLE.

Two Linemen Seriously Injured When It Gives Way, Carrying Them to the Ground.

A telephone pole crashing to the ground at Violet avenue and Wilson street yesterday morning carried with it J. I. Streton and Carl Hetz, employees of the Los Angeles Fire Alarm Company. Strapped to the pole by their leather belt they could not leap clear of the pole and suffered severe injuries.

Mr. Hetz, who lives at No. 1540 East Fifty-fifth street, fractured both legs, and Mr. Streton, who lives at No. 428 Temple street, was internally injured.

Both men were near the top when the pole fell. The accident was caused by the rotting of the pole at the base, the police declare.

Story Bolled Small.

Francisco concern for the fabrication of 100 delivery wagons.

In tire making this city is forging ahead. This city also makes automobile springs, one concern alone placing its steel orders in quantities of 250 tons or more. Storage batteries for automobiles are also made here by three concerns.

ODD INDUSTRIES.

Los Angeles also manufactures motion-picture cameras, aeroplanes, as well as axle grease, tin cans and saddles. One saddlery concern makes a specialty of ornamented saddles and finds its most lucrative fields in the narrowing cattle zones of Wyoming and Montana. As for tin cans, one concern here has a machine that will turn out 80,000 tin cans every ten hours. And there is a market for them, for the tuna-canning industry is becoming one of the mightiest hereabouts.

Among the growing industries are those which manufacture bathing suits, sweaters, disappearing beds, roofing paper, office and bank fixtures, school apparatus and candied fruit. The sweater business is especially lively at present, as the schools and colleges will soon open and their opening means a heightened demand for fancy sweaters. Los Angeles is the home of the disappearing bed, and also has a near monopoly on the roofing-paper business on this Coast. For instance most of the buildings of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition are roofed with a paper made here. This city also ships candied fruit the world over, sometimes as many as ten cars being billed out of here in one day.

A unique new industry is that which makes a patent gas stove. This stove is placed in some inconspicuous place, as a porch, and the heat is forced into the house through furnace pipes, preferably, by a small electric motor.

Los Angeles also has the only wire solder plant on the Coast and also the largest bolt and nut factory. The Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company bought all its bolts and nuts from this concern.

In the manufacture of those things which make life worth the while this city is well in the forefront. One brewery has a capacity of 2000 barrels a day, a machine that will fill and cap 35,000 bottles a day, and its own ice plant, with a capacity of 125 tons a day. One cigar-making concern expends $1600 a day on tobacco and in wages.

WHITE-SLAVE CHARGE.

Woman Alleged to Have Brought Girl Here—Had Quantities of Morphine and Opium.

Yesterday a complaint sworn out by Herbert Preston, assistant special agent of the Department of Justice, charging her with white slavery, was served on Mrs. Josie Andrews, 38, who, with Katharine Nicholas, 20, was arrested Sunday morning by the city police at No. 727 New High street.

When the women were taken into custody, in the room they occupied was found a quantity of smoking opium, several revolvers, a smoking opium outfit and much morphine. It is alleged the women came here recently from Rawlings, Wyo., and that the Andrews woman conducted a disreputable house in that city. Miss Nicholas was taken to the Federal Building and interviewed by the Federal officers. Today Mrs. Andrews will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Williams, charged with violating the white-slave law in bringing the girl into California from a neighboring State for an immoral purpose. Both women are in the County Jail, but Miss Nicholas will be used as a witness by the government in an effort to make out a case under the Federal statutes.

If the government fails there will be a prosecution for violation of the State laws in having in their possession the revolvers, smoking opium, opium smoking outfit and morphine.

INTEREST IN STAMPS.

Public Library Rousing Children. Extensive Exhibit to Be Placed in Juvenile Department.

Interest in philately, particularly among the children, is being aroused by the public library officials, who have arranged for an extensive exhibit in the juvenile department beginning next Saturday and running through the following week. A number of prizes for the best exhibitions, and also for the boys who write the best essay on the pony express, are to be awarded. Miss Jessamin Britton has been appointed by Librarian Perry to supervise the work.

Flags of many nations; books on various countries that have produced extensive stamp series; stories pertaining to the heroes and heroines, as well as to rulers and famous men who appear on the many stamps, or historical incidents pictured, will be called to attention in various works. The collections are varied and extensive, covering practically every country in the world that has issued stamps since their original introduction in 1840.

BALDY NEARER NOW.

Supervisors Accept Deeds for New Highway Under Construction to Popular Outing Place.

A shorter route from Los Angeles to Camp Baldy was provided for yesterday when the Board of Supervisors accepted deeds from the property owners for a new highway.

The road is under construction and when completed will be turned over to the county, which will supply rock and oil for the surfacing.

C. H. S. Littleton of Pasadena, who presented the matter to the Supervisors, stated the new route will be via Claremont and will cut off several miles from the present highway.

ALLEGE INFRINGEMENT.

The Western Reinforced Concrete Pipe Company brought an action in the United States District Court yesterday against John Balch of San Pedro, alleging that he has infringed a patent granted to John M. Phelan and Henry Billings, for sewer pipe and coupling, the ownership of which is now vested in the complainants. It is alleged that the latter have suffered damages in more than $50,000, and the prayer of the petition is that Balch be enjoined from making and selling the device, and that an accounting be had for the benefit of the complainants.

DEATH OF MRS. BABCOCK.

Well-Known Winter Resident of Los Angeles Passes Away in Helena, Mont.

The death of Mrs. E. C. Babcock of Helena, Mont., will come as a distinct shock to her many friends in Los Angeles. She has for a number of years been a winter resident at the Hershey Arms, where she made friends of all who came in contact with her. On August 5 she was out walking near her home in Helena, suddenly collapsed from heart failure and died almost immediately. Her husband died there four years ago, where he had been in business from 1886. Mrs. Babcock's maiden name was Minnie Swan, her home being at Monmouth, Ill., and her body was taken to that place to be laid by the side of her husband.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF DEVELOPMENTS YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The domestic financial world made another step toward normal conditions yesterday and private dealings in stocks and bonds were more active, although resumption of open trading was not yet in sight. The complete understanding between Washington and the great banking interests gave great encouragement to the New York financial district. Big savings banks announced but few depositors had wished to withdraw their money and that all excitement was over. Wheat advanced nearly a cent as the export situation became more clarified.

(Abroad:) The War risks insurance office in London announced a reduction in the rate of cargo insurance. Buenos Ayres banks have so far been strong enough to have no need of the moratorium proclaimed.

(For details see financial page.)

CARRANZA'S CASH.

The capital is ready for the entrance of Carranza. This means the City of Mexico and not the sort of capital on which a man does business and draws interest. It is all right to say that to the victor belongs the spoils, but Mexico City has had so many victors that it has precious few spoils.

JUST LIKE US.

It was a Los Angeles steamship loaded exclusively with Southern California products which blazed the trail of Pacific Coast vessels through the Panama Canal. The big new waterway was not made entirely for this city and port, if you listen to other ports, but you never can convince our own people that it was not.

IF SHE WINS.

A woman has succeeded in having herself nominated for justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas. Running against her for the same office at this time are five other candidates. Should she triumph at the polls her election would be the most signal honor ever conferred upon a woman. Some have inherited crowns, but this woman's glory is her own achievement.

A MINISTER OF UNDERSTANDING.

Rev. Stephen Samson Powers, who has resigned the rectorate of the Episcopal church at Yuma, Ariz., in order to marry Miss Mary Elizabeth Nugent, who, by the way, is the only woman banker in her State and a lady of great culture and charity as well, was in his youth an actor of genuine ability and has played in many of the old theaters of the great cities of this country.

A REAL BATTLE.

When West Virginians go to war they do not have a battle line more than 250 miles in length, but somebody really gets killed and the press reports are not censored thereafter. The latest news from the West Virginia front says that twelve bandits were slain by 200 citizens in a single engagement. It will ultimately dawn on some of the free lances back there that the bandit business does not pay.

DRINK AND THE DRIVER.

An engineer on a railroad cannot drink and keep his job. Other people's lives are at stake and the company must know who is at the throttle and a good deal about his state of health and mind. A man may drive his own automobile to the devil without immediate supervision and he often does it. It would be astonishing if the world could know how many automobile fatalities and minor accidents could be charged to the demon rum at the wheel.

DANIEL AND DILLON.

They are different in character and time, but alike in prowess. Daniel went into a lion's den and saw angels. Dillon took a band of Angels into a den of Tigers and subdued them. Daniel may have been only an allegory and he happened a long time ago. Dillon is a reality and he and his Angels slew nine Tigers twice only this past Sunday. He was satisfied to be a Daniel and not an Alexander. He did not weep because there were no more Tigers to conquer. It may be as well to be conservative about wild animals from the jungles of Venice.

VALUATIONS.

What you have and spend does not make you rich and what you have not and cannot expend does not make you poor, except as you think and feel. Your final appraisement does not lie with others, but with yourself. Your bank cannot really report on your value. Dun and Bradstreet cannot say what you are worth. There is but one measure of a man and he takes that of himself. It is a question of his own realisation. The world must judge a man by the use he makes of his faculties. It requires one set of tools to express one man and a different set to express another. The square of the good carpenter and the compass and trowel of the true brick mason are equal in honor to the million dollars of the man who deals in terms of finance. It is all very well for the banker to judge men by the way they handle their money; yet the minister may as well judge a man by his morals, a physician by the care he takes of his health and the whole world by his faith in all of his conduct. When you get down to rock bottom it is hard to find a word superior to integrity. The business without any leaks, the life without any breaks, the cloth that is in one piece, ah, these are very good!

OVERSEAS—THE SITUATION TO DATE.

The capital of Belgium was moved yesterday from Brussels to Antwerp. The information is not contained in any boast from Berlin, but in a Reuter telegram from Brussels to London. The significance of the move may be guessed by readers of The Times who have been following the impartial news accounts of the war.

A London dispatch last night conveyed the intelligence that the British politicians, so to speak, are already tired of the war. They are projecting a date for the war to close. They are represented to fear a stalemate all along the line from Basel to Maestricht. Lord Kitchener, however, is represented in the same dispatch to be extraordinarily busy in assembling a more formidable army than he found when he took charge of the War Office for England.

The German Emperor and three of his sons arrived yesterday at Mayence. The significance of his departure from Berlin at this time remains to be measured.

The part Japan is to play in the war, if indeed the war lasts until the date Tokio has set for the expiration of the Mikado's ultimatum to Berlin, namely, August 23, continues to inspire profound interest and speculation. If Tokio plays no great part in a great war, the Japanese may be expected to have a large voice in the negotiations for peace, and this phase of the situation is an entertaining a theme as the other. At any rate it is clear that the policy of the United States in the Far East in the event of hostilities between Japan and Germany will be one of non-interference. Assurances to that effect are contained in an important Washington dispatch last night.

Thus, while the great events may be said to have already cast their shadows before, the great battle of the greatest war in all time is still an event of the future, with a possibility that no great battle will be developed. If the fears of British politicians of a stalemate in Belgium are well grounded one might use the word "probability" here for "possibility." Moreover, the Kaiser yesterday acknowledged the receipt of President Wilson's note proposing to end the war by mediation.

A PRACTICAL WAY THROUGH.

In presenting to the City Council plans for an open cut two blocks wide through Bunker Hill the hill residents and a committee representing the Business Stability Association offer a satisfactory, practical solution of the serious problems that have arisen because of the great natural barrier between the city's business district and the territory northwest of it. With the rapid growth of the city, traffic congestion has become almost a menace, which city and railroad officials are continually endeavoring to overcome. Removal of Pacific Electric cars from Main street, rerouting of some of the yellow car lines and the subway westward proposed by the Pacific Electric Railway Company undoubtedly offer substantial relief; but the chief difficulty and one that must be overcome before traffic conditions can be satisfactory, is the hemming in of a considerable portion of the city's busiest district by Bunker Hill.

Another problem concerning which business men have felt grave concern relates to the permanency of the business district. In the opinion of bankers the unrest that has characterized the retail merchandising district is detrimental. It was chiefly for the purpose of dealing with this condition that a number of the big property owners of the city organized the Business Stability Association. That association, having studied carefully and intelligently the various causes of the trouble, have concluded that a wide cut through Bunker Hill will have a powerful effect in stabilising the business zone.

With greater population and more needs to be supplied it was inevitable that more and larger retail stores would be established, and just as inevitable that the retail district would have to expand to make room for them all. This growth and expansion will continue, for hardly anyone doubts now that Los Angeles will have twice as many people in 1920 as at present. Extension of the business zone southward on Broadway and Spring streets has been a natural sequence of growth. Such expansion, within limits and along natural lines, cannot be regarded as in any way detrimental. It is the possibility that, hemmed in otherwise, it may spread in a long, thin line far to the south, its units too widely separated to be either convenient or satisfactory, that has alarmed thoughtful business men.

As the city grows there will be increasing need for retail establishments in the northern end of the business district. Residential sections naturally tributary to that district are growing as rapidly as any part of the city. The territory west and northwest of Bunker Hill is being rapidly built up. Hollywood and much of the country between the city and the sea should find its outlet into Los Angeles far north of Seventh street. San Fernando Valley, with its prospects of continued prosperity and largely increased population, seeks entrance from the north.

The open cut project appears to meet the situation adequately. The outlet would relieve traffic congestion and, with adequate improvements on the western side of the hill, would afford a passageway direct to the heart of the business center for a very large percentage of the city's inhabitants. Judging from the engineer's reports the project not only brings desirable advantages, but has the important merit of being susceptible of consummation. It can be built for a price that people can afford to pay and quickly enough to secure benefits promptly. The completion of the regrade and attendant street work will not retard the growth of business south of Fifth street. It will afford business facilities north of Fifth street that are of vital importance. There is no part of the business zone that would not be affected for the better by a convenient passageway through the hill. In its bearing upon general traffic conditions the cut would be of distinct benefit to everybody in the city.

RESTORATION OF OUR SHIPPING.

Is Columbia the gem of the ocean as a national song asserts, or is she a rhinestone of no merchantable value? There was a time when ships flying the Stars and Stripes carried 90 per cent. of American commerce. Now they carry less than 10 per cent. We pay foreign carriers over $300,000,000 per annum for bringing European goods here and carrying American products there. We could keep this money in the country instead of sending it to Europe if we had the ships, for the rates for ocean freight on the Atlantic have, within the last two years, doubled and in some instances trebled. The shipping trust is largely responsible for the advance. No concerted effort has been made to break into the monopoly because it takes time to build ships and they can be built on the Clyde for one-third less than they can be constructed in American shipyards.

When the Panama Canal opened last Saturday there were not half a dozen American ships to use it and no English, German, French, Austrian, Belgian or Russian vessels at all. The war vessels of the warring nations are barred from the use of the canal, and their vessels of peace were keeping out of the way of the war vessels. While the canal itself is neutral, as are the ocean waters for a few miles from its entrance at either end, the seas beyond these limits offer excellent ground for either a combat between battleships or the capture of merchantmen by cruisers.

Germany and Austria together have 388 war vessels, ranking from dreadnoughts to submarines. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Russia and Japan combined have 1427 war vessels. It is not possible for 388 vessels, however skillfully maneuvered and bravely manned, to contend for any great length of time against 1427 vessels of equal power.

On the other hand the six allied powers have 25,954,635 tons of merchant shipping to guard, while Germany and Austria have but 5,166,018 tons. It would take five times as many warships to adequately convoy and protect the merchant ships of the allies as would be required to convoy and protect fleets of the German and Austrian merchant fleets.

Great Britain has a naval reserve of only 25,200 men, while Germany has a naval reserve of 110,000 men.

Germany and Austria together, with 388 warships, could inflict more damage upon the 25,954,635 tons of mercantile marine of the allied six nations than they, with 1427 warships, could inflict upon the 5,166,018 tons of the mercantile marine of Austria and Germany. If the allied powers on the one hand and Germany and Austria on the other were each to sink or capture an equal number of ships, until the merchant marine of Germany and Austria should be extinguished, there would still be over 20,000,000 tons of shipping of the allied powers subject to German and Austrian assault, while Germany and Austria would have no ships upon which the allied powers could make reprisals.

The non-warring nations of Europe—Norway, Sweden, Italy, Spain and Greece—have together but 6,105,524 tons of merchant shipping, an amount totally inadequate to transact the carrying trade of Europe on the seas, and if their citizens as well as those of the United States shall be inhibited by the doctrines of the London conference from purchasing and registering foreign-built ships the ocean commerce of the world will be almost extinguished.

Under the circumstances it is not impossible that Germany and Austria may insist upon the doctrine adopted at the London conference that transfer of ships from a belligerent to a neutral flag will not be permitted during or immediately before a war, and that such transfer, if made, will not be respected by the belligerent power. If a British ship, for instance, should now be sold to American owners and given an American registry, Germany might seize her on the high seas because she was transferred during war time. Such seizure would, if we insisted on the right of transfer, be a casus belli against Germany. If the war-mad Kaiser should add Norway, Sweden, Italy, Spain, Greece and the United States to his opponents it might shorten the conflict, but at the end of it Germany would have disappeared from the roll call of nations.

Considered in the light of modern civilization it is to the interest of Austria and Germany as well as to that of the powers with which they are at war not to have their merchant marine destroyed, but to allow it to be transferred to the flag of a neutral nation. There is no telling how long the neutrality of Italy, Spain and the Scandinavian nations can be kept out of the maelstrom of the great European war. The United States is the only nation that can, without partiality, afford safe shelter under its flag to the imperilled commerce of the world. We are absolutely neutral in this contest, not merely in cold compliance with the mandates of international law, but in feeling as well. Every city in America counts among its inhabitants and among its naturalized citizens men and women of British, French, German, Austrian, Belgian, Russian and Servian birth. Any attempt of persons of any race to extend unlawful aid to either of the combatants will be promptly suppressed. Ships flying any flag—even the American flag—about to leave our ports are searched by our government and not permitted to depart if in their cargoes there are any articles contraband of war. The playing of foreign national airs in public places is forbidden. The ministrations of the American Red Cross Society will be impartially extended to the wounded of every army.

It will be a shameful and inhuman thing if, in consequence of the objection of any power, foreign-built merchant vessels shall be excluded from the shelter of the Stars and Stripes. Such vessels, if admitted to American registry, will never be permitted to sail from our ports without rigid examination. If any power shall return to the barbaric and cruel usage of former centuries and, in order to conquer its opponent, shall exclude food from non-combatants and women and children, the government of that power should be outlawed of civilization.

That the registration of foreign-built vessels will, if acquiesced in by Europe, restore our mercantile marine to its rightful place among the nations is doubtless true, but that is an advantage to which we will be fairly entitled.

A REMARKABLE ACT.

Prof. Shigetaka Shiga has arrived in this country from Nagashino, in the province of Mikawa, on an exceptional mission. He has entered at the port of San Francisco a huge natural stone bearing a double inscription. On one side is the legend to the heroes of the Alamo. On the other is a poem to J. B. Bonham, the one of the brave little handful of 188 men entrenched within the walls of the Alamo who was chosen by the intrepid Col. Travis to make his way to Col. Fannin, then at Goliad, with a burning appeal for the reinforcements that never came. When Bonham found his quest was vain he made his way back to the Alamo and certain death. Prof. Shiga was so deeply stirred by this story on a former visit to Texas that he obtained permission from the San Antonio authorities to erect a monument to the martyrdom of the Alamo defenders and he took the stone from the precincts of the cemetery where sleeps the remains of a great feudal hero of Japan named Torri, whose death was the climax of a rare demonstration of courage more than 400 years ago.

A German correspondent, whose address was not given, writes to The Times referring to the matter of collecting moneys here for relief purposes in the war zone of Europe. She makes the mistake of crediting activity in the wrong direction to a lady named Huntington. The Times is advised that the name was erroneously used.

GIVEN SHIPS, SOUTH AMERICA'S VAST TRADE IS OURS.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

It is estimated that the trade of South America with European countries amounted to $1,600,000,000 in 1912. In the fiscal year 1912-1913 (latest published complete figures) the trade of South America with this country was:

Imports from South America..	$217,747,028
Exports to South America	146,147,993
Total only	$363,895,021

Not only are our own business men, bankers, shipping men, exporters and manufacturers awake to our present opportunity to remedy this state of things, but South America is alarmed and is appealing to us to come to her aid. Her civilization is seriously menaced by the paralysis of European commerce. A thousand things for which she relies on importation are suddenly withheld from her so far as her usual sources of supply are concerned, and she turns to us in her need.

Practically every country that purveys manufactured articles to the South American peoples is now at war. Great Britain, Germany and France, in the order named, were the principal providers. Italian and Spanish commerce, what there is of it, does not mean the things most needed; machinery, textiles, products of highly-developed manufacturing skill. Even supposing that England speedily opens the way for her shipping, her share of the South American trade of Europe was a scant one-third, namely, $235,570,000 imports and $221,925,000 exports, or $457,508,000 in all.

Here, then, is a shortage, present and prospective, of, broadly speaking, a thousand million dollars in the yearly foreign trade of the South American continent. Who is to have it? Who is to send to these active and advancing republics the means and appliances they need to work out their destinies and to take from them the food and the raw material of industry which they produce? Who but ourselves? And would it not be worse than madness for our people to let such a chance pass them by?

The approaches which the South American diplomats are making to the State Department and the Pan-American Union have been anticipated by action in shipping and export interests here. The newspapers within a day or two announced that numerous houses were sending "drummers" and samples to South American ports by the earliest steamers. On August 8 the agents of the important Lamport and Holt steamship line told of the company's plans to run an efficient service to the ports within their compass as soon as the matter of insurance rates could be settled. Bankers have been discussing new systems of credit to finance the new volume of business. On all sides appreciation of the crisis promises an effective meeting of the South American appeal, assuredly with high mutual advantage.

One project that gains an unexpected timeliness is that of the Navy Department for running fast mail, passenger and express lines and establishing a freight service from the United States to South American ports, especially via the Panama Canal. As worked out in detail and embodied in the bill now before Congress, the plan will permit of a beginning along this line with small or no impairment of naval efficiency. An experiment can be made with five fast cruisers for mail and express transportation and ten auxiliary vessels of the navy capable of carrying considerable ladings of freight.

It is proposed to carry on the service largely with officers on the retired list, while extra men are to be enlisted. As the service develops vessels fully adapted for it may be built or bought and thus become a valuable auxiliary fleet in time of need. Whatever the ultimate economic or military defects of the scheme may be, it at least meets a temporary need. Our great lack in developing the new field that fortune has opened to us is the dire scantiness of available shipping, and the naval proposition helps solve this difficulty until private enterprise and capital have time to act.

At this time of unexampled opportunity and given ships, bought or borrowed, and the ubiquitous Yankee "drummer," South America's vast and profitable trade can easily be ours.

THE MAD WAR LORD.

[Baltimore American:] Emperor William, having declared war on Russia, forced France into the fighting and drove Great Britain into aggressive as well as defensive measures for her own protection. He has brought upon Europe a war that will, in truth, stagger humanity. This he has done at a time when civilization was believed to have reached a higher plane than at any other era in the world's history, at a time when Germany claims precedence in all that pertains to human knowledge and to the progress of science. This war is not one between savage tribes seeking rapine and plunder, but among the world's greatest powers, and, however it may end, must mean a setback in the world's advance along all lines that lead to human advancement and human betterment.

This war of the twentieth century—counted an era of peace—is a war of the Kaiser's own making. Upon his shoulders the world will place the blame—the whole blame—for the conflict.

The War Lord of Germany has acted like a madman. He has aroused against him Russia, France and Great Britain. He asks for no mercy and will get no mercy.

Kept Them Going.

[Philadelphia Telegraph:] Reference at a social affair, the other evening, was made to acquiring habits, when Congressman John H. Small of North Carolina was reminded of an incident that occurred in the South.

One afternoon a traveling salesman was going through a wooded section, when he saw a lot of razor-back hogs crazily running from tree to tree. For a while he wonderingly watched the show, but not being able to solve the problem, he asked a woman standing near a small cabin what ached the porkers.

"It's this way," answered the woman, "my husband is deaf and dumb, and he learned the hogs to come to dinner when he tapped on a tree——"

"You don't mean it!" smilingly interrupted the salesman. "Did it work?"

"Yes, for a while," answered the woman beside the cabin. "But now the woodpeckers are almost makin' the poor things run their legs off."

Deceiving Appearance.

[National Monthly:] It always annoyed Tom Spencer to have a waiter attentive to the point of almost forcing him to tip. On one occasion Mr. Spencer entered a cafe and hurriedly ordered his lunch. In a few moments the waiter returned, and after serving the required order hung about making unnecessary arrangement about the table.

"Feel like a cup of tea, sir?" said he, bending over the patron solicitously.

"Do I look like a cup of tea?" snarled Spencer.

Street Assessments.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The people of this city are being continually assessed for street work and various public improvements that many of them directly affected do not favor. It seems to me that action for such work should be based on petition from the people directly affected. If in the absence of a petition of one half of the property owners affected no action whatever should be possible. It is they—the owners—who should initiate such movements. If they do not want the improvement the people on whom the expense will fall—do not want the improvement badly enough to ask for it, then it should not be attempted. As for improvements which are for the good of the whole city and which the entire population will help pay for, let the people vote on the questions at some of their never-ceasing elections. Do you think there is entirely too much graft in the guise of "street work" at this time?

For Uncle Sam.

PROPOSE TAX ON ALL WINES.

AID TO DEFICIT CAUSED BY DROP IN IMPORTS.

Five Cent Levy Per Gallon Would Hit California Hardest, but It Has Many Good Advantages—Revenue Collectors Confer, but Will Not Take Stand.

Revenue Collector Scott of the San Francisco district conferred with Collector Carter of the local district yesterday on ways and means necessary to rehabilitate the deficit in Uncle Sam's strong box caused by the paralysis of our imports.

About $100,000,000 is needed by the government to make good the deficit, and California, as the premier wine State, will be asked to assume her share of the burden. In Peoria, Ill., and Kentucky, the question is what the whisky traffic will stand; in Milwaukee it is beer, in other sections of the country it is tobacco and cigars.

Collectors Scott and Carter have been asked their opinion of laying a small tax on wine as such, applied to both the dry and sweet varieties. It has been suggested that a levy of 5 cents a gallon be laid, but this is merely tentative, and a point about which the discussion of the collectors revolved. While neither is willing to be quoted it is understood that they reached the conclusion that the proposed tax would be the proper thing, without any regard to the amount of alcohol in the product.

The wine production of this country is about 40,000,000 gallons, and of this amount California produces at least 32,000,000 gallons. At 5 cents a gallon the tax would produce $2,000,000. There is now no tax on dry wine, produced in the central and northern sections of California. With a tax on dry wine, the business would be under the jurisdiction and control of the government, and it would be managed like the beer and whisky business.

Southern California is the home of sweet wine, and it produces four-fifths of all the sweet wine pressed in the country. The only tax the government now receives is the 3 cents a gallon imposed upon brandy used for fortifying the wine. During the recent discussion in Congress there was a great deal of talk about taxing brandy used for fortifying $1.10 a gallon, and Senator Pomerene of Ohio, prepared an amendment to the then pending Underwood tariff bill, imposing such a tax.

It is argued that to impose a tax of 5 cents a gallon on wine as such, would not only disarm the members of Congress who are determined to increase the tax on brandy, but it would also be a blow at the argument of those boosting for State-wide prohibition, who assert that the wine industry pays no tax to the government.

Statistics show that grapes raised in Southern California are unusually rich in sugar, ranging last season as high as 26 per cent. Nothing approaching them in saccharine matter can be produced in Central or Northern California, where the dry wine flourishes.

The local wine season will begin next week, and preparations are under way for gathering the large crop of grapes and pressing a record-breaking amount of wine. Grapes this year are unusually rich in saccharine matter, and that means wine of the finest quality. There are not less than 10,000 acres of grapes in Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties alone.

TROUBLE FOLLOWS COLLISION.

Man Tells Police City Prosecutor Struck Him—Acted in Self-Defense, Declares Official.

In an altercation with George McKeeby, City Prosecutor, last night, Carl Beers, 60 years old, of No. 1626 Cherokee street, told the Hollywood police that he was abused and rendered unconscious by blows on the head.

According to the best information obtainable by the police, it appears that a son of the prosecutor was coasting down Vine street in a home-made coaster and by accident ran into Mr. Beers, who happened to be passing.

The alleged victim is said to have remonstrated with the youngster and cautioned him to be more careful in the future, when, according to the police, the elder McKeeby appeared on the scene. Trouble followed and Mr. Beers alleges he was manhandled and his ear drum broken. He was treated by Dr. J. A. Jackson. Later he asked for Mr. McKeeby's arrest, but was informed that a warrant was necessary.

Mr. McKeeby stated later that he had struck Mr. Beers, but only after the latter had tried to knock him out with a blow on the lower jaw.

"I would never strike any man except in self-defense and I consider that the fact that Beers attacked me was sufficient reason for my action," he said. "I regret the incident, but the man was so angry that he was ready to fight any one."

Mr. Beers was not seriously hurt, according to the report of the police.

CONDEMN DICE SHAKING.

Tobacconists Disprove of It in Every Form Except the Ordinary Playing for Cigars.

The Tobacco Association of Southern California at a meeting last night in the Jefferson Club passed a resolution condemning gambling of every sort, especially dice-shaking for everything but cigars, and appointed a secret committee to work in conjunction with the authorities to bring malefactors before the law. It is the wish of the tobacconists to put their calling on as high a plane of respectability as any other business and not to have it condemned in any respect by charges of gambling.

They will not permit minors to shake dice nor others for any other purpose than to secure cigars.

More than 500 tobacconists, mainly of Los Angeles, were present. A banquet followed the meeting, at which several political aspirants spoke. Anthony Schwamm, president of the Retail Cigar Dealers' Association, presided.

The firm was adjudged bankrupt on March 19, 1913, and the judgment for $1020.50 was rendered November 14, 1912.

A WOMAN'S VIEW.

Shaw's "Misalliance" Discussed by Lilla Perry.

"If you compel an adult and a child to live in one another's company either the adult or the child will be miserable. The fact is, simply, that a child is a nuisance to a grown-up person." This is the premise on which Shaw bases his discussion of the relation of parents and children, his preface, 126 pages in length, to his play called "Misalliance."

"Misalliance" (do not be misled by his title) deals not with the mismating of a man and woman, but with this same fundamental incompatibility between parents and children, of which his preface dissertates. It is a marvelous preface! In it Shaw chases the tail of his thought round and round, and stands at the end where he started. But he has given us a diverting spectacle, and perhaps set us to thinking. Behold him swing the circle. First of all, he reads us a declaration of children's rights. "A child," he says, "has a right to find its own way, and go its own way, whether that way seems wise or foolish to others, exactly as an adult has. But," and here he whisks back again, "to allow a child to misbehave without instantly making it unpleasantly conscious of the fact would be to spoil it."

He inveighs against schools, the prison-houses of children. "We have no right to insist on educating a child. Compulsory completion of education is the last folly of a rotten and desperate civilization. Yet," and here he turns again, "I am prepared to admit that I had rather have been compelled to learn to read and write with tears by an incompetent and ill-mannered person than left in ignorance.

"When the pursuit of learning comes to mean the pursuit of learning by the child instead of the pursuit of the child by learning, cane in hand"—now, think we, he has gotten somewhere, but behold he turns another corner—"the danger," he continues, "will be precocity of the intellect." In fact, Shaw's imagination seems unwilling to conjure any improved state of being which will leave him bereft of his opportunity to gibe and jeer!

And now for the play—if it is a play. It is rather a series of scintillating dialogues. Nos. 1 and 2 talk together until No. 3 comes in. No. 1 departs and Nos. 2 and 3 hold the stage. So it goes on with an occasional chorus of voices for variety. There is talk—much talk—and considerable humor in the closing words of the play. "I suppose," says Tarleton, "there's nothing more to be said." And his daughter, Hypatia, exclaims fervently, "Thank goodness!"

But this, after all, is rather unfair to the quality of the talk. It is clever, extravagant, bewildering, as Shaw's talk usually is. Shaw seems to be of the suffragette opinion—that calm appeal, reasoned argument, presented to the British mind, has no power of cleavage; it is necessary to smite him between the eyes with a paradox or a Pankhurst.

Back of all his random violence, striking first at us and then at his own conclusions, till we cry out dizzily, "What would he have us do? What is he getting at?" the real truth which he amuses himself in expressing so deviously seems to be that there ought to be a more human quality in the relationship between parents and children, that they ought to give to each other the chance they give to strangers. Tarleton says in the play: "Read any man's letters to his children. They're not human. They're not about himself or themselves. They're about hotels, scenery, about the weather, about getting wet and losing the train, and what he saw on the road, and all that. Not a word about himself. Forced, duty letters. I tell you there's a wall ten feet thick and ten miles high between parents and child."

Yes, after all, if we can forgive Shaw his smartness, he really does have something to say. We make one mistake when we expect him to be constructive or to conclude anything. As Dowden said of Walter Pater: "He is content to be fruitful through manifold suggestion."

NO COURT VACATION.

Crowded Calendar Permits no Relaxation This Year—Cases to Come Up and Other Business.

There will be no vacation of the United States District Court this summer, as the American Brokerage Company case occupied most of the time usually given to relaxation on the part of the court and its attaches.

There will be court today, when it is possible that Judge Wellborn will take up the B. F. Graham habeas corpus case, if Judge Ross should be otherwise engaged. There will be no court for the remainder of the week, but next Monday the law calendar, postponed yesterday, will be called, and on the following Wednesday the venire of the grand and term trial jurors will be returned. The criminal calendar will immediately begin, the first case being that of Frank Yuma, an Indian, charged with murder.

RAILWAY DIFFICULTIES.

Southern Country Wholly Dependent on United States for Imports. Officials Fear Constitutionalists.

With Mexico now almost wholly dependent on the United States for import supplies, including foodstuffs, machinery, and a host of other things, there is a growing feeling among railroad men that the Laredo and El Paso gateways might profitably be opened to traffic. President Brown of the National Railways of Mexico has taken the stand, however, that the opening of the lines will mean merely the turning over to the Constitutionalists of additional railway revenue.

Until last week the Nogales gateway of the Southern Pacific of Mexico was open, service being furnished daily as far south as Guaymas, with service three times a week south of that point. But disturbed political conditions in Sonora caused the withdrawal of all service.

A MURDEROUS PLANT.

Feeds on Insects and Has the Power of Moving Towards Its Desired Prey to Grasp It.

[Scientific American:] Without eyes, ears or sense of smell, so far as we know, plants are apparently affected by the presence of objects that do not directly touch them. In the case of animals, objects produce this effect through the well-known senses, but it is hardly probable that plants have any of these, although the discovery of lenses, analogous to those of the eye, in the leaves of some plants indicate that they must have some faculty nearly akin to ours, as is clearly shown by the experiments described by S. Leonard Bastin. We know now, Mr. Bastin asserts, that plants are able to feel objects at a distance. That is to say they act as if they were aware of the presence of a certain thing, even though they may not be in contact at all. He gives as follows a few of the most startling cases which have come under his notice:

Everybody knows that the sundew catches flies. The leaves of this plant are covered with tenacles which, being very sensitive, close in around the captive. But the foliage of the sundew has another remarkable characteristic. If a fly is fixed about half an inch from any of the leaves, a most astonishing thing happens. After a short interval it is seen that the sundew leaf has moved perceptibly toward the victim. Soon the cruel tenacles have reached the unhappy fly and are seen to be slowly moving around their prey. There is now no chance to escape, and with every movement the fate of the insect becomes more certain.

A few feeble wriggles and the fly is dead. When one comes to think of it, it is very strange that a plant should be able to go in pursuit of its prey in the manner indicated. Some plants are very unscrupulous; unable to secure a living on their own account, they prey upon the more hard-working of their fellows. Such is the dodder, a most virulent parasite, which, apart from the first few weeks of its existence, has no roots or leaves, and exists as a blood-sucker on other plants. The seed of the dodder germinates in the soil, and from this arises a curious, thread-like growth. Now it is of vital importance that the young dodder should be able to seize hold of some suitable host, such as a clover plant, for instance. It is strange to watch the manner in which this thread-like growth works in and out among the grass stalks, seeking for a victim. When it comes within a certain distance of a clover plant the dodder grows forward at a very rapid pace until a hold is secured. Even the sturdiest plant must go down before the attacks of the cruel parasite. The thread-like shoot is, within a few weeks, multiplied by the thousand, and from every point are produced suckers which draw away the life-giving sap.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

NINETEEN young Marlborough girls were delightfully surprised yesterday with the engagement announcement of Miss Frances Edwards and Dr. Archibald Macleish, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Macleish of Kingsley drive. This very interesting bit of news was told at a dainty luncheon given by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. F. H. Edwards, of No. 601 South Harvard boulevard —tiny ivory fans fastened to Dresden bouquets of roses and forget-me-nots divulging the secret. The table also glowed with Dresden colors, a mound of Dorothy Perkins roses, forget-me-nots and shaded candelabra playing leading parts. A stringed orchestra stationed behind a curtain of greenery played during the repast. The bride-to-be is one of the young and lovable girls in the smart set, and while attending Marlborough made many friends. Dr. Macleish is a Berkeley man. Young women who responded to invitations yesterday included Miss Blanche Davenport, Miss Katherine Torrance, Miss Isabel Wintrode, Miss Eleanor Johnson, Miss Lucile Evans, Miss Muriel Tottenham, Miss Mildred Barbour, Miss Irma Milligan, Miss Helen Burton, Miss Helen Hoover, Miss Cecil Call, Miss Dorothy Camp, Miss Splina Ingram, Miss Julia Van Derburg, Miss Ruth Greppin, Miss Jeannette Mackie, Miss May Cole and Miss Muriel Farish.

Wedding Announcement.

Miss Lillian A. Krauss and Ernest Albert Sherwood were married Saturday at La Jolla, the summer home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Krauss of this city. The service took place in the La Jolla Episcopal Church and later breakfast was served to the guests, who included members of both families only. Friends in this city will read with interest of the affair, as the young people decided quite suddenly to be married Saturday. The honeymoon outing will be enjoyed at Lake Tahoe and later they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Krauss at La Jolla.

Another Wedding.

Miss Floy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Raymond of No. 4075 South Figueroa street, was married last evening at the family home to Roger M. Gurman. The Rev. Dr. Turk performed the service in the living-room, which was handsome with flowers and ferns. The young bride was attired in white embroidered organdie and carried a shower of bride rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Gurman will enjoy a honeymoon outing at San Francisco and later will make their home in Compton.

THE REAL MENACE.

In Every Other Country But the United States Big Business Is Welcomed and Encouraged.

[Leslie's:] Let every man, woman and child learn by the bitter experiences of the present, that a far greater danger to this country than big business is the big demagogue. Let the people learn that in every other country big business is welcomed and encouragd because it means commercial supremacy, busy workshops, better homes, and larger dinner pails. The future cry of this country, as the cry now is in Germany, England and France, will be for big business, the bigger the better. The big factory, the big shop, the big pay envelope and the big dinner pail will be in demand everywhere. The little merchant never had a better chance than when the big men were developing business, building railroads, creating industries, opening mines and spending untold millions for labor from which the little and big shops must derive their principal support. The day when the malignant hand of the demagogue was stretched out to palsy big business was a day of darkness and despair for the American wage earner. Capital and labor have suffered together as they always do. The demagogue whose smooth sophistries deceived the American people stands guilty at the bar. Judgment will be pronounced unmistakably in November next.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

Poverty Cannot Hinder Love.

"Oh, love! young love! bound in thy rosy band,
Let sage or cynic prattle as he will,
These hours, and only these, redeem life's years of ill."

The plaint of many a young man is: "I have fallen in love with a fair young girl, but because I am cursed with wealth and she is the daughter of poverty, I cannot make her realize that love knows no golden bars." A score or more of letters are on my desk, each from a man, asking me to tell the girls the truth—enlighten them upon this subject.

Nothing gives me more earnest pleasure. I believe it of widespread interest. While one young man who already has enough of this world's goods will wed for social position or advancement the great majority of men who are wealthy will wed only because of old-fashioned love, the kind that attracts two hearts to each other.

It is all very well for mutual friends to bring young men and women of their own class together. If there is not that compelling, invisible something which attracts them, one to the other, the good offices of the would-be matchmaker are all in vain.

The wealthy girl may be beautiful in her costly furs and feathers, but a man knows that fine feathers make fine birds! He considers that she looks no better than she ought to. When the daughter of poverty is fair of face he realizes it is a divine gift, bestowed upon her from heaven. It is not the face of the poor girl only which compels his admiration. It is her personality, sweet ways, her independence and refusal to be trifled with. There are girls who are oversensitive, and will not invite a rich suitor to their humble homes lest he might secretly sneer at their surroundings. Girls should know that when a man's in love he is quite blinded by the tender sentiment. A tenement-house, whose roof covers his dearie, will seem like a palace; the plainest furnished room like a dainty parlor.

It's the girl he's looking at and considering, not her surroundings. Even if he should cast his eyes around and observe the meagerness of her home, his one ambition will be to take his jewel from the plain setting and to transplant it to one of luxury. Many a rich man thinks wealthy girls have scores of suitors in their trains and are therefore natural coquettes. But the poor girl has less chance of marrying, and therefore appreciates with all her heart that which kind providence sends her. She weds him and remains ever after a wife who admires her husband and idolizes her children. Love goes where fate intended it should. Poor girls should take heart, and not think a rich man is not in earnest when he sues for an introduction. The rich man who weds for love invariably picks out a poor girl.

MISS LIBBEY'S REPLIES TO YOUR LETTERS.

Correct name and address must be given to insure attention—not to print. Address your letters to Miss Libbey, No. 916 President street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Pretending Her Rival was Wild.

Dear Miss Libbey: I love a young man not living in the city, but coming to school here; known him for two years. He is one of the finest of boys. We talked together, went out together, when there were two or three couples along. Ere he went home this spring he called me over the 'phone every night, and we talked a long time. He went home, wrote me a letter every week that he loved me for the past two years. Did not tell; he thought his studies came first. He said: "I will be able to talk when I come back next time." (He is bashful.) He was conditioned in two subjects in school, came back to summer school. Since returning he does not act as before. I've a girl friend he likes better than me. Often he told me he thought her inclined to be a little wild, and if he were me he would not go with her. I dearly love him. He seemed to like me till he came back. What must I do—let him know how disappointed I am, or, pretend I don't care?

Heart-heavy Admirer. M. N.

Is there any harm in boys and girls going in bathing together if the girl's brothers and uncles are along?

These changeable, so-called lovers are of a different mind often over night. Such men pretenders are not worth while bothering your head about. The day will come, in the near future, when you will congratulate yourself on being free from his company and engaged to a true man. Proper bathing costumes, relatives along, are just right.

Husband Jaunts; She Stays Home.

Dear Miss Libbey: I am a married woman, 18—wed when I was 15. Have twin boys 2 years old, and sweet girl baby 7 months old. I work. My husband works good; seems he does not care for me as he should. I never go anywhere; have no time. When he's not at work, he's gone most times. I have to stay at home and worry with the children. I'm not in good health; have nervous spells. Only care to live for my little ones. Thanks for your advice. RUBE.

Poor soul, my heart is awakened with deep pity in your behalf. You are young to have such misfortune. Your children are a blessing and your joy. For their dear sakes have a calm, heart-to-heart talk with their father. Try to not mope. Assume cheerfulness. Ask your children to lisp, "papa, come see baby." A man with the smallest heart cannot help turning, doing good, so tenderly approached.

No One to Care for Me.

Dear Miss Libbey: I am a lonesome girl. My friend works away from home. I do not see him often. Do you think I am too young to marry, 20 years, or if he cares for me, when he don't come often? He tells me he does. Appreciating your advice.

MISS C. B.

If I knew I would tell you. It may be like the oft-told poem:

"No one could tell, for nobody knew,
Why love was made to gladden a few,
And hearts that would forever be true
Go, lone and starved, the whole world through."

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

Spook Planned a Factory.

[Cleveland Leader:] The only factory in the world founded on belief in spiritualism is being completed at Bridgeport, O., by Frank Wilcox, glass worker. He says he received in visions of his dead father inspirations for inventions which will revolutionize the glass industry. Wilcox's building, where he will perfect and use these inventions, is known as the "house of mystery." Only Spiritualists are employed in the construction work, and a score of husky guards—all Spiritualists—are on watch day and night to prevent any except employees from going inside the ten-foot concrete wall which surrounds the place.

"I am going to make a fortune in glass," Wilcox tells his friends, "and all because of my belief in Spiritualism. I began my experiments in Pittsburgh several years ago, but secret service agents who tried to steal my designs forced me to leave there.

Wilcox has bought valuable real estate in Wheeling, W. Va., where he plans to erect a Spiritualist church to cost $12,000 as a memorial to his dead parent.

ALL KINDS OF VAUDEVILLE.

Chrystal Herne Headliner at the Orpheum.

Riotous Laughter and Song at Pantages.

Republic, Hip and the Moving Pictures.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Chrystal Herne is the headliner among the newcomers at the Orpheum this week. A most graceful and delightful personality, is Miss Herne, with great promise as an emotional actress, but the vehicle in which she appears, "Dora," is one of the mellowest of tabloid melodramas, in which the old plush-album favorites, such as "'Tis my honor against our old love!" and "I never wrote that letter!" occur at the obvious places. One can fancy Miss Herne thrilling us in a better play, and there are moments when she reminds one of Nance O'Neill, in the old days. "Dora" should be shelved.

Prince Lai Mon Kim, the Chinese tenor, despite oriental clothes and name, is correctly occidental in his singing of pretty love songs, which he does exceedingly well. Also he has a most pleasing manner and personality, and scored a big hit yesterday. The "Chinese rag," which might so easily have been weirdly ridiculous, was artistic, and gave a delightful spice of novelty to his set.

Everybody on the bill except Miss Herne did a dance, from Trixie Friganza to the elephants. Ernette Asoria, with Chevalier de Mar and Miss Eliante, were the best of the new twirlers, their act being exquisitely costumed, and their dances new and rather startling. Miss Eliante's "Dance of the Butterfly" was particularly fascinating.

Clark and Verdi, billed as "Italian Comedians," caught the house with their pranks and patter.

Trixie was great as ever in her sparkling fun and rollicking dances. That impersonation of Miss Herne is rather wicked, don't you think? but awfully funny. Miss Friganza is also shown in the movies in the traffic pictures, taken for the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Sammy Burns and Alice Fulton in "Terpsichorean Offerings" were as pleasing as last week, as were also the gorgeously staged "Five Melody Maids and a Man."

The clever animals of the Corradinis continue among the favorite stars on the programme.

Pantages.

If you want to register laughter hard enough to break the camera just visit the Pantages this week. There isn't a gloomer on the bill.

The darky riot, known as the "New Orleans Creole Ragtime Band," take the "muse" out of "music," but there's a lot of pep to the performance and they get it over.

To Little Jewel and her manikins belong the honors of the show. A lot better than some human actors were they in their comically agile ragging, cowboy riding and ball-playing stunts.

Pretty mature boys are those boys in the "Original Newsboys' Quartette," but their songs and dances and patter are young, anyhow, and their voices are harmonious.

Cooper and Ricardo in character impersonations are all right, especially the girl, whichever she may be. Her character song, "You're Going to Lose Your Husband," is a clever bit, and the ballroom dances of the duo catch the crowd.

In "A Laughing Picture of a School That Never Was," by the Hendricks and Belle Isle Company, the girls are pretty and the boys witty, and what more can you want in school or out?

Standard Brothers do a clean-cut and original "Study in Strength."

Hippodrome.

A big crowd three-cheered "The New Chief of Police" at the Hippodrome yesterday, when Walter Montague's great arraignment of the woman reformed made its bow, with Will Abram and Agnes Johns in the principal roles. Victory Bateman appears as president of the Reform League.

Nardini takes first honors in the surrounding bill. She wears a lot of pretty clothes and plays a lot of pretty music.

"The Little Blonde Lady" is a jolly comedy skit about a dramatic critic who writes his reviews in advance.

Frank and Lillian Burbank and the Three Aerial Bones are both rattling good acts.

Republic.

Ideal for a summer show is that at the Republic this week. Nobody makes a noise like a brow; nor does "business of heavy frowning." All is comedy and joy.

Clarence Lydston, baritone of excellence, and Mixie Mitchell, dainty and delightful in her songs and dances, make a big hit.

So does the Musical Fletcher, who plays all the funny instruments with the hard names.

Dorothy Raymond sings pleasingly. Magee and Kerry prove themselves comedians de luxe in "A Department Store;" the Vincettis are first-rate acrobats; Heinie Auerbach, as the "German Consul" is a fun-fan, and George and Marie Brown, "the human fashion plates," score decidedly.

Tally's Broadway.

Max Figman made a shadow bow at Tally's yesterday in the five-act photoplay, "The Man on the Box," by Harold McGrath, and crowds visited the show. The big drama gives the popular actor a big chance, and he makes a correspondingly big success.

Clune's Auditorium.

"The Spoilers," by Rex Beach, crowded Clune's Auditorium yesterday morning, a line of the film-fighters waited at the box office at noon and a record attendance filled the house all afternoon and evening. A new scene shows the lovable Slapjack calling for his pal, Glennister, to come back. But the boat steams away, and Slapjack turns back to his lone cabin. Carli Elinor is directing the music this week.

Clune's Broadway.

Kathlyn Williams, the ever popular and beautiful film star, "appears" at Clune's Broadway this week in the most thrilling show ever "staged" at this house. "The Speck on the Wall" is guaranteed to give ten thrills a minute by the clock.

War news is also retailed via picture and bulletin.

Woodley's.

Paul Armstrong's "The Greyhound" at Woodley's proved all that was promised for it, telling a vital story in which crime and comedy, romance and revenge, are deftly blended by a master hand. The story tells how Claire, after trying in vain to reform her husband, a confidence man, is drawn into a suicide pact. She performs her part, but he doesn't. Instead, he leaves for Europe with his old pals. The poison doesn't "take," however, and Claire becomes his Nemesis. In company with an old sweetheart, she breaks up the gang's plots and the Greyhound, meeting on shipboard the wife he has believed dead, hurls himself into the sea.

Miller's Theater.

"My Friend from India" made as many friends for itself in Filmland as ever it did on the "speaking" stage. Its numerous comedy situations lend themselves delightfully to picture reproduction. The inimitable Walter E. Perkins, in his original role of A. Keene Shaver, which he created and has played over 3000 times on the speaking stage, is a wonderful fun maker. Mary Pickford, Billy Quirk, Flora Finch and others are mighty amusing in a bright comedy, "Mugsy's First Sweetheart."

FLIGHT OF THE MOCKERS.

Agnes Woodward and Margaret McKee to Leave Los Angeles for Chautauqua, N. Y.

Southern California has numerous mocking birds—some in feathers and some in velvet gown. The plumed ones are generally permitted to stay at home, to make our moonlit nights melodious, but those in Parisian attire are often summoned away for a display of their wonderful vocal pyrotechnics.

Agnes Woodward and her brilliant young pupil, Margaret McKee, have become famous from ocean to ocean for their beautiful whistling, and both will leave Los Angeles a week from today, to appear on a programme of the New York Chautauqua, which opens on September 2. They will whistle together and in solos.

Miss Woodward began to teach artistic whistling in Los Angeles nine years ago, and has won much distinction both as performer and instructor. Her pupils have been numerous, and her "whistling choruses" have given brightness to many large entertainments and conventions.

Margaret McKee has been with Miss Woodward for four years. She has been called the "Little Queen of Whistlers" because of her perfect imitation of the songs of various birds. Praise from high and competent quarters has come to her. Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, on hearing her, exclaimed: "Wonderful! I have heard the greatest artists in Europe and America, but I have never heard her equal." Adolf Tandler was equally enthusiastic. "For beauty and purity of tone and artistic delivery, Margaret McKee excels any whistler I ever heard," he once declared.

JOSS STICKS EXEMPT.

Used for Worship They Can Be Brought Into the Country Free of Duty.

[New York Times:] Declaring that the general policy of the tariff law is to admit the free entry of articles used in worship of whatever form of religion, the Board of United States General Appraisers recently decided that joss sticks are entitled to exemption. The case before the board was that of Odo Shoten and others, of Honolulu. The collector exacted a duty of 20 per cent. ad valorem on the sticks as non-enumerated articles under the tariff act of 1909.

The importers went before the board with the claim that joss sticks are specifically provided for in the free list. It was brought out at the hearing that the Treasury Department had ordered customs officials to disregard the free list provisions for the goods for the reason that joss sticks have largely lost their identity in this country as articles of religious use and are generally employed here for driving out mosquitoes. In view of this use the government decided the goods should pay as non-enumerated articles.

A representative of the importer stated that the use of the sticks is in Chinese places of worship, where they are lighted before Joss, the Chinese idol or god. He also said they were employed in private religious services and also for measuring time at night. Judge Hay, in his decision sustaining the importers, saying the government has failed to offer testimony either as to how the articles in question are known in the trade or how they are used, or anything that would give the board any help in the determination of the case.

BOMBARDMENT OF TOWNS.

War Barbarity Wrote Its Own Treaty Sought to Prevent Crimes Against Civilization.

There is a provision in the Hague treaty of 1907 against the bombardment of "towns, villages, dwellings or buildings which are not defended," and a further restriction to the effect that bombardment, in the case of a fortified town, "must be confined as much as possible to military objects, that is to say, to the fortifications, to the religion, art, science or charity purposes, historic monuments, hospitals and places where the sick and wounded are collected, provided these buildings are not being used at the time for military purposes." BOMBARDMENT OF TOWNS.

War Barbarity Which The Hague Treaty Sought to Prevent Is a Crime Against Civilization.

[Philadelphia Press:] One particularly barbarous feature of warfare that the world ought by now to have outgrown is the bombardment of towns. There is a provision in the Hague treaty of 1907 against the bombardment of "towns, villages, dwellings or buildings which are undefended," and a further restriction to the effect that besiegers, in firing on a fortified town, should respect, as far as possible, "buildings dedicated to religion, art, science or charitable purposes, historic monuments, hospitals and places where the sick and wounded are collected, provided they are not being used at the time for military purposes." The besieged are required to mark such buildings with "distinctive and visible signs."

To respect merely the letter of these clauses is far less than civilization of to-day expects. Take the case, for instance, of the bomb-carrying aircraft, the use of which should certainly be confined to dropping explosives on actual fortifications, bodies of troops or fleets. There is one report that a German Zeppelin dropped a bomb in the main square of the French town of Luneville, annihilating a body of infantry and blowing out the walls of the principal church. The truth of the story, which exists in different versions, is not so much in question as the possibility of such an occurrence. Little doubt attaches to the report that the German army is now shelling the Belgian town of Liege, and possibly Namur; an action which not only hurts one's sense of fair play, but endangers many buildings that are priceless records of the past, historically and architecturally.

The greatest crime against art and civilization in the annals of modern history was the shelling of the Propylaeon at Athens by an Austrian gunner. The Turk, it is true, had used the ancient temple as a powder magazine and thus made the act one that would still be sanctioned by the rules of war. Yet, what man of intelligence and culture but would see the fleets at the bottom of the ocean rather than one Parthenon shattered?

The Belgian towns are rich in cathedrals, churches and town halls dating from the middle ages or renaissance. The cathedral of Antwerp, for example, is one of the great cathedrals of Europe; the churches and civic buildings of Liege and Namur are perhaps less imposing, but date from as early a period. Whether the Germans advance into France or the sea coast, they must pass throng many such towns. They shall repair the wrongs we utter as soon as our military aims have been reached," said the German Chancellor last Tuesday. What the civilized world wants, however, is guarantee against wrongs which any man or nation living can repeat in the light of Germany's recent disregard of all treaties and agreements has the world any such guarantee?

MORE POWERFUL SUBMARINES

The Under-Water Terrors Will Be Equipped with Heavy Guns and More Torpedoes.

[Baltimore American:] Submarines of 2000 tons, armed with four 6-inch guns and an increased number of tubes for torpedoes, are foreshadowed as among the possibilities of the near future in marine engineering.

Alexander Richardson, the eminent authority on the subject, in an article in the new issue of Brassey's Naval Annual, says:

"As great an advance, proportionate to the size of the ship, has been made in submarine boats as in any craft, and thus the task of the designer has been greatly increased. This is due not only to the desire for higher speeds, but greater fighting equipment. In this respect Germany is showing marked progress in size as well as in numbers. Obviously other nations must follow, and vessels of at least 1700 tons displacement may be quite frequent in the near future.

"As the trend is for larger craft, may be justifiable to speculate on the basis of the data already given as to the large German and Russian boats, on the increase in size, and especially in engine-power, to make 14½ knots with guns of greater power and range.

"Four guns of four-inch caliber, instead of the same number of twelve-pounders with ammunition which would involve directly an increase in weight of armaments of ten to twelve tons, and the use of the same number of six-inch guns an addition of seven or eight tons.

"The 1700-ton vessel would, therefore, twelve tons more weight, because the 1800-ton vessel, while for the latter twenty-eight tons for six-inch guns the displacement would become 2000 tons.

At the end of the article Mr. Richardson adds:

"It can be accepted with confidence that our admiralty officials are keeping our supremacy in engineering science as well as in other departments of activity."

FIELDER JONES GETS FORTUNE FOR JOINING FEDS.

At Least.

FED MANAGER IS BACK HOME.

Outlaws May Establish Minor Leagues.

Would Compete With Clubs on the Coast.

Refuses to Discuss Salary Terms.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 17.—Fielder Jones returned here today from St. Louis and announced that he had called a meeting of Northwestern League directors at Seattle for tomorrow morning, when he would tender his resignation as president of the league.

Jones refused to discuss the terms of his arrangement with President Gilmore of the Federal League, by which he is to become manager of the St. Louis club, other than that the first offer made to him was one of $50,000 in stock in addition to his salary.

Fielder Jones admitted that the outlaw organization was seriously planning on branching out and establishing several minor leagues, bound to the parent body, and that plans were under foot to establish one in the Northwest next season.

"The Federal League intends to create several of these circuits," said Jones. "One scheme which they have is to open a league in the northwest country, putting one club in Portland, two in Seattle and the other three in other cities most available."

Jones said the new league would try not to conflict with Northwestern League dates in all the cities except Seattle.

MINER BROWN IS IN REVOLT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—Miner Brown, who will be succeeded as manager of the St. Louis Federals by Fielder Jones, formerly of the Chicago Americans, said today he would not play under Jones. Brown added that thus far he has not been notified of any change in the managership of the team.

NORMAN BROOKES TO ENTER TOURNAMENT.

SOUTHAMPTON (N. Y.) Aug. 17.—Thunder showers and the belated arrival of many of the field of seventy-four contestants in the Meadow Club cup singles, resulted in a poor start today in the tennis tournament that holds the position of being the preliminary to the national championship at Newport. Robert Leroy, the Columbia ex-intercollegiate title holder; Richard Harte, the Harvard star; William M. Johnston, the dashing youth from California, and Alfred S. Dabney, the Bostonian, were all among the winners.

The draw is marked by the names of many well-known players, including Norman E. Brookes, the Australasian captain; R. Lindley Murray, the Pacific Coast expert who won the Metropolitan and Sleepy Hollow honors; N. W. Niles of Boston, S. Howard Voshell, R. Norris Williams, II.

ALCOCK WON'T GET TO OAKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Aug. 17.—The deal by which the Oakland club was to get Infielder Alcock from the White Sox this week in exchange for Outfielder Quinlan has been blocked by the refusal of the latter to sign a 1915 contract at this time. Alcock has been notified by wire not to start West.

He Can't Do Business With This Kind of Samples!

Wo Need New Blood.

RISING GENERATION A SAD LOT OF ATHLETES.

Veterans Are Shining in Practically Every Line of Sport While, With Few Exceptions, the Youngsters Are Being Licked With Great Regularity — Some Instances of This.

THE present-day crop of athletes is a sad disappointment in the United States. Young stars in any branch of sport are an exception rather than the rule. Football and track apparently are the only sports that have not suffered. Perhaps the lack of international contests has kept these sports above the cross-examination for defects. At that, the Oxford four-mile relay team defeated the class of the American colleges in the Pennsylvania relay carnival and the New Zealand "All Blacks" made the Pacific Coast Rugby teams look like a lot of children.

Even our great national game of baseball has been shy of young stars this season. The rise of the Federal League and their raids on organized ball clubs have given the young players the greatest chance in baseball history, and they have made feeble use of the opportunity. Glance over the leading batters in the big leagues and the old-timers will be found doing all the heavy hitting. Cobb, Crawford, Jackson, Speaker, Baker, Eddie Grant, Meyers, Magee, E. Collins, Cree, Daubert and a dozen other veterans are up there busting the ball.

OLD-TIMERS.

The Washington club has had to fall back on Germany Schaefer and Mike Witchell, while Chance had to tow Birdie Cree back from the International League when his young outfielders failed to show. Clarence Walker and Leary of the Browns; Robertson and Stock of the Giants, and Cook of the Yankees are about the only young stars that have stirred the big-hedge fans outside of the pitching department.

Young beavers have been abundant this season. "Brick" Leonard, the young southpaw from St. Mary's College, has waded through the American League batters in a decisive manner, that has placed him at the head of the twirlers with sixteen victories and three defeats, according to the latest averages. Connie Mack has his usual number of classy kid heavers, and Hugh Jennings dug up Main and the rejuvenating Covaleskie.

Great old Christy Mathewson leads the National pitchers. Brooklyn produced two good kids in Pfeffer and Atchison, while the Cards present Doak and the Phillies have Mayer. The veteran, Vaughn, is Chicago's star. Rudolph has been the best newcomer for the Braves. Even then it took Johnny Evers to put the kick in the Boston club.

THE POLOISTS.

The American polo team, the "big four" they were called, was literally slaughtered by the dashing Englishmen. Lopsided scores emphasized the inefficiency of the American players. Polo experts claim that there are no young players that can hope to cope with the Englishmen in the next few years. The cup defenders this year were veterans of long experience.

Walter Travers and "Chick" Evans were America's hope for golf, and they failed miserably. Young Ouimet was eliminated early in nearly every important tournament. His brilliant success of last year seems but a fluke on a course that he was familiar with.

Willie Ritchie went over to England and lost the lightweight title to Freddie Welsh, a man that has been in the game for years. "Harlem" Tommy Murphy, Ad Wolgast, Leach Cross, White and numerous other veterans have been the leading lightweights in all the ring battles this year.

NO MIDDLES.

The middleweight crop has been a pitiful crowd of fighers. Men that

TRUCK DOPE NOT FIGURED.

The winners of the motor truck reliability contest are still unknown and will not be announced until late this afternoon, according to the members of the contest board who labored all day yesterday at the Los Angeles Athletic Club over the reports of the observers.

It was believed late last night that the final figurings would result in a tie in at least one of the divisions and if such is the case, the dead heat will be run off over a fifty-mile course under the officials of the contest.

There are four trophies to be awarded. The Lakin trophy is to go to the winner in class A, the Smith emblem is to go to the high score truck in class B, the Riverside trophy is to go to the winner in class C, and the Zobelein cup is to go to the winner in the heavyweight division, class D.

TENNIS STARS IN BIG TOURNAMENT.

MANY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CRACKS ENTER SANTA MONICA MEET.

Tennis stars of Southern California will gather for a round robin in mixed doubles on the courts of the Santa Monica Tennis Club Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Prominent among those who will try for court honors are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bundy, her sister, Mrs. B. O. Bruce, and Miss Florence Sutton, and Miss Joan McCall. Entries will close on Friday, and a long list of players is expected to be made by that time. The men will choose their partners and the two courts will be used at the same time for games on both days. The winners are to play in the finals. Much interest has been shown since this little club organized and built its new quarters, and the games this week are expected to draw quite a number of tennis fans.

RACING DRIVERS READY AT ELGIN.

WISHART AND DE PALMA SET FAST PACE IN THE TRIAL SPEED TESTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ELGIN (Ill.) Aug. 17.—Seventeen of the thirty drivers entered in the fifth annual Elgin national automobile road races, to be held next Friday and Saturday, took their first official practice spins today.

Ralph De Palma, winner of the Cobe cup last year and of the Elgin national two years ago, set the fastest mark with 6 minutes, 34 seconds, for the eight and a half miles. Spencer Wishart circled the course in 6 minutes and 38 seconds.

The record for the course is 6:26, made by Tetzlaff last year. The drivers will continue their trial practice tomorrow and Wednesday.

LIPTON'S YACHT ARRIVES SAFELY.

SHAMROCK IV TO BE PLACED IN WINTER QUARTERS AT ONCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger, Shamrock IV, arrived at the Brooklyn ship yard today. Capt. Turner, sailing master of the challenger, said the voyage from Bermuda had been without incident. He said the Shamrock would be placed in winter quarters at once.

White Arrives As Cross Leaves.

A New One.

CHARLEY WHITE HERE IN TOWN.

Says He Would Like to Lick Somebody.

Cross Then Indulges in Some Philosophy.

Thinks Maybe He Could Lick Welsh.

Charley White, whose claim to be the undisputed champion of America, is only disputed by about as many fighters as there are soldiers in the German army, limped into The Times office last night in a pair of felt bedroom slippers, his tootsies being victims of the heat.

Here he met Leach Cross who had come with Brother Sam to say his farewells—being about to depart for the East.

They shook hands like long-lost brothers and hoped they'd fight soon.

"Look at my feet," groaned Charley, stepping like a gouty sailor.

A DISTINCTION.

"I'll look at your teeth, but I won't look at your feet; I'm a dentist, not a chiropodist," said Leach.

The talk turned to fights and White's manager remarked that he had, during the afternoon, promised Promoter McCarey to fight any of the following boxers in Los Angeles this fall: Leach Cross, Joe Rivers, or Willie Ritchie.

"You've got me in that!" said Leach.

"Sure I got you in that," said Charley.

"Ain't it funny," said Leach, turning to the crowd, "that every fighter thinks he can lick every other fighter?"

"Do you think you can lick me?" asked White, grinning broadly.

EASY MONEY.

"Sure, I think you're a pipe and you think I'm a cinch," said Leach. And he added, "There is only one fighter that I don't think I could lick. That is Packy McFarland; nobody could lick him because he has four left arms."

"How about Freddie Welsh?" asked some one, recalling a very painful chapter from the career of Dr. Wallach.

"Maybe I could lick him the next time," said Leach. "He might lose a leg or something."

Charley White, with a fight with Welsh in his mind, asked a few questions about the lightweight champion. Leach replied that Welsh sometimes trained very hard when he was a wonder; again he would not train at all and fell victim to boys like Jimmy Duffy.

SOME HOPE.

"I hope he is in the best condition of his life when I fight him," said White.

"Not me," said Leach. "I hope he comes into the ring on a crutch the next time we fight; you can't make them too soft for me."

There is some probability that Leach and White may fight, but not much.

Leach will leave Los Angeles this morning for New York because there seems to be very little doing for him in the lightweight tourney now in progress.

Joe Rivers is considered a more suitable opponent for the winner of the Red Watson-Willie Beecher fight than Leach Cross because Leach has already fought Watson twice and Beecher and Cross, both being from the East, lack local interest.

JOE POPULAR.

By his game and plucky fight with Cross, the Mexican won the most friends of any fight of his career and is now on the crest of the wave of high favor again.

If Rivers wins this fight with the winner of the Watson-Beecher go, he will probably fight Charley White on Thanksgiving Day.

It is recalled that Rivers first won fame in a preliminary to one of White's fights.

White was matched with Danny Webster for twenty rounds. It was White's first twenty-round ecantest and it was one of the worst ones ever fought at Vernon. He has the grace to be ashamed of it and says that he would like to wipe out the memory of it.

THE REASON.

White accounts for the wretched fight he made with Webster by the fact that his manager was not with him out here, and, lacking his advice is his first long fight, he was afraid to cut loose.

Rivers, that same day, fought a preliminary with Frankie Sullivan.

"I trained with Frankie Sullivan for that fight," said White, last night. "And when I saw him come back to the camp with his face looking like he had been stung by a swarm of bees, I knew that a new fight star had risen."

Leach intends to fight a few ten-round fights in the East and come out here after Thanksgiving Day.

Charley White and Leach Cross,

VAN SYCLE CUT OFF FEDERAL STAFF.

PRESIDENT GILMORE RELEASES UMPIRE ON ACCOUNT OF RULES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Umpire van Sycle of the Federal League was given ten days' notice of his release by President Gilmore today. According to Gilmore the umpire did not enforce the rules in yesterday's Chicago-Baltimore game when he failed to forfeit the game to Baltimore when Manager Tinker of the Chicago club refused to send up the proper batter, pending settlement of an argument over a technical question.

M'GREEVY RESIGNS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 17.—President Fielder Jones announced today that Eugene McGreevy had resigned as umpire in the Northwestern League and that Ralph Frery had been named to succeed him.

Figures.

GUS FISHER IS STILL LEADING IN BATTING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Both the batting leaders of the Pacific Coast League stumped this week, but when the averages had been cast up Gus Fisher of Portland led Del Howard, the San Francisco manager by one point. Fisher, .344; Howard, .343.

As might have been expected after winning seven games out of eight, Portland, which leads the league, also leads the club batting averages. Portland, .278; Los Angeles, .270.

In club fielding Venice was comfortably to the front with .963, and San Francisco, second with .962.

Hari Maggart of Los Angeles has brought in more runs this year than any other player.

His total is eighty-two, but Carlisle of Venice is pressing him hard with eighty-one.

Bayless of Venice and Lober of Portland are now tied with eight home runs each, but Bayless is easily the heaviest hitter of the league, for he shows in the column of triples with seventeen three-baggers and Lober fails to appear. Walter of Los Angeles has twelve triples and six home runs.

The craftiest base runner is Rodgers of Portland. He has sixty stolen bases to his credit and it might be said that there is no second for the next best man, Schalier of San Francisco, can show only thirty-seven.

Tuning Up.

HORDE OF GOLFERS IS READY FOR TOURNAMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Nearly all the 132 golfers entered in the national tournament, including all the leading professionals and several well-known amateurs of the United States and Canada, today swarmed over the links of the Midlothian Country Club in final practice play.

The first qualifying round of eighteen holes will be played tomorrow, sixty-six players participating. The thirty-two players whose scores are best will compete in the finals on Thursday and Friday with the other thirty-two who will qualify on Wednesday.

Francis Ouimet of Boston, holder of the title, which he won in a spectacular contest last year, with Edward Ray and Harry Vardon contesting, was the only prominent amateur on the course today.

The whereabouts of Charles Evans, Jr., western amateur champion, is somewhat of a mystery. After playing unbeatable golf in the western amateur meet at Grand Rapids recently, he has dropped from prominent play. What form Evans is in now was a secret so far as the other entrants in the national open tournament could learn. Professionals predicted that if Evans maintained the game he played at Grand Rapids he could easily capture the present event.

Ouimet is said to be in splendid condition. He did not extend himself today, playing a few strokes above par. In the forenoon Ouimet played in a four-ball match with Tom McNamara of Boston, Walter Hagen of Rochester and J. J. McDermott of Atlantic City. McDermott, whom Ray and Vardon term the best professional in America, got into trouble on the seventh hole for a 7, and could do no better than 89. Ouimet had 78 and McNamara 76, losing to McDermott and Hagen, who took 74, by one point.

The course is in fine condition, the greens being flawless. The fairways are somewhat burned, but recent rains have slowed them up to a suitable condition. Ouimet and the eastern professionals said that conditions were good for excellent golf.

Ouimet will tee off with M. J. Brady of Wollaston early tomorrow. Warren K. Wood, former western amateur champion, will follow soon after with G. R. Murray of Montreal, Carl Devol of Riverside, Chicago, is the only other amateur to play in Tuesday's qualifying round.

Evans, K. P. and Donald Edwards, Jack Neville, Pacific Coast amateur title holder, and R. E. Hunter of Los Angeles will start on Wednesday. Tom McNamara and J. J. McDermott will also be idle tomorrow.

JOE BUSH BLANKS CLEVELAND NAPS.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Bush kept Cleveland's hits scattered today and the vistors were shut out by Philadelphia, 5 to 0. Philadelphia won the game in the first inning, by scoring four runs on singles by Walsh and Baker and triples by Collins and McInnis, with one out. Score:

BANKER FAILS IN THE PINCH.

A well-known banker of Juarez became so enthused over Jimmy Fox, the San Francisco featherweight, that he offered to back him in a Labor Day contest against Johnny Dundee to the extent of $2500. After Scotty Montieth had scraped together enough money to cover the bet offered, Fox's admirer changed his mind and the proposition fell through.

Jack Jevne Makes New Record.

LONG-STANDING MARK IS BROKEN.

RECORD SCORE FOR COURSE SHOWS LOCAD MAN IN GOOD FORM.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Congratulations are raining thick and fast upon Jack Jevne of the Los Angeles Country Club, who has just made a new record score for the Los Angeles Country Club links. He has surpassed his own previous record with a dazzling 71, the best score ever made on that course by amateur or professional.

The record had stood at 72 for some time, three names enjoying the credit thereof—Norman Macbeth, E. S. Armstrong and Jack Jevne. The latter made his 72 only last week, so that this 71 following so closely upon its heels would indicate steady, as well as brilliant, golf in the southern celebrity.

He was playing in a foursome with E. S. Armstrong, R. D. Lapham and Bob Cash, their respective scores being: Armstrong, 77; Lapham, 80, and Cash, 81.

* * *

The Score.

Par for the course is 76—40 the first nine, 36 the second. Jevne achieved 37 going out and 34 coming in. His card will be interesting:

Out .... 4 4 4 3 5 5 4 4 3—37
Home .. 4 3 4 3 3 4 4 4 5—34

He took the fourth hole, as par 5, in 3 and improved upon par by a stroke at Nos. 6 and 9.

At Nos. 10 and 13 he also won from par by a stroke, and throughout the whole round he only lost a single hole to par—No. 5, where he took 5.

Naturally his southern friends are overwhelmed with enthusiasm and consider him well in line for championship honors at Del Monte if he will but maintain the standard.

His whole style of play has come in for keen criticism and it is generally agreed that Jack Jevne is permanently among the aristocrats of the game. He plays now with a happy assurance and seems to enjoy a cosy intimacy with his whole bag of clubs.

Del Monte Course.

E. S. Armstrong spent part of last week at Del Monte and reports the course in the best condition that he has ever seen it. Those holes which southern players will well remember —Nos. 1, 2, 5, 6 and 9—are now all under grass, a delight to the eye as well as to one's golf.

In the meantime the New York players, who seem to be as imperishent as ourselves, declare that the reason Jack Neville never won any laurels over there was because he played too much bridge. This is serious news. At Del Monte last year mamma looked after him with infinite care and he said good-night nicely and said his prayers somewhere about 9:30 p.m. We all felt that that was why he won the Coast honors last time, and nodded our heads in approval. What became of mamma in the East?

Jack Jevne,

Who made a new record for the Los Angeles Country Club golf course of 71, one stroke less than the previous record held by himself and several others.

* * *

The Need for Mothers.

With this example before us, it is to be hoped that some of our southern players will be accompanied to Del Monte by their mammas this year. Mothers have been a little out of fashion for some time now, but if it can be proved that they have such a definite tangible value in so vital an issue as a big golf tournament, it would be easy enough to arrange a little renaissance.

Mothers to the rescue. Henceforth no earnest golfer should consider it respectable to travel without his mother. Oh, but we could mention a few mothers we should like to see there! Then, indeed, might some of our southern golf men return home with a very different tale to tell. So far their tales have usually taken the form of explanations. And he who explains has lost—toujours.

Still, if Del Monte became a mother's meeting it wouldn't be Del Monte. At present most of us feel that 'twas better to have gone and lost than never to have gone at all.

RED WATSON, DISGUSTED, QUITS THE NESA CAMP.

Says that It Is Impossible for Him to Get in Condition Out There and So Calls Off His Workout and Moves Into the Western Athletic Club, Where He Will Train in the Future.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

RED WATSON did not do any work yesterday afternoon. The work he did Sunday in the hot and dusty Nesa training camp disgusted Red so much that he gave up his afternoon work and started up town to make arrangements to train at the Western Athletic Club.

Babe Picato was the first boxer to refuse to train at Levy's camp, but claims he was told that if he did not train there, his match would be called with Freddy Andrews.

Johnny Tillman also lays his poor condition to training there when his match was called off with Joe Rivers. He started in at the Western Athletic Club, but says he was told to move to Levy's by Harry Burns.

Watson's complaint is that the quarters are dirty and dusty and too hot to get into good condition. Also that it was impossible to get a decent cottage within any reasonable distance of the camp, and every time he finished his work he would get choked up traveling home.

The roads in the neighborhood are too dusty for road work and the cars running all night made it impossible for him to get any rest.

Good condition should be insisted upon by every man who enters a ring, and in order to do a good job, good training quarters are essential.

McCarey denies that he ever insisted upon any boxer training at any particular place, but does not care to have boxers who are to meet train in the same camp.

Jockey Jack Kelly has about finished the improvements at the St. Ignatius Club and has every accommodation for boxers to get into the best of condition. There is a fine, open-air handball court and an enclosed and open-air gymnasium.

Kelly says he will offer special inducements at his quarters for any good men to train at his camp.

His card for Thursday night is as follows, and Matchmaker Bill Huddy has exerted himself to outdo his former efforts to get good matches:

Harl Chaney will meet Dick Brenton at 108 pounds. Ray Lincoln and Joe Spain will box at the middleweight limit. George Lammerson and Freddy Doty, from England, will box at 125 pounds and the semi-windup will be between Paddy Mills and Ralph Lincoln. Frankie Dolan and Kid South will meet in the main event at 116 pounds.

Matt Hinkel, the well-known business man and Cleveland referee, has two boxers under his management whom he believes will some day win championships in their class. Dick Stosh, his new lightweight, he says, is the greatest boy of his class ever turned out of Ohio. Matt also predicted great things for Johnny Griffiths and Johnny has made good.

Artie Root, Hinkel's bantamweight, he thinks will be able, in a couple of years' time, to meet the champion.

Hinkel is a good judge of a boxer and his boys will no doubt make good.

Stosh won the A.A.U. championship this year and the Cleveland papers speak highly of both Stosh and Root.

Hinkel is a great boxing fan and has plenty of means to develop boxers and will spare neither money nor time in doing so with his boys.

RAISING THE MARRIAGE AGE.

Spinsters Are Becoming Less in Number at Every Age but One Decade, and Remarriages Declining.

[Boston Transcript:] Even Cupid is aging the strain of modern life! Yearly his task grows more difficult. In England, for instance, figures have just been published by the registrar-general to show that the average marrying age for both sexes is steadily rising. Although two 14-year-old girls, thirteen aged 15 and one 15-year-old boy were among the brides and bridegrooms in the 253,334 marriages in England and Wales during 1912, the number of husbands and wives under 25 years of age has shown a continuous fall ever since 1870. Nevertheless, spinsters are fewer at every age—except between 25 and 35. In this decade there has been a constant rise of numbers since the 80's.

The average age of all bridegrooms in 1912 was 29.13, of all brides 26.84. Bachelors averaged 27.55 years; remarrying widowers, 46.77; spinsters, 25.85 and widow brides, 41.89. Remarriages are continuously declining, widowers being especially reluctant. But ten widowers over 55 years old and five widows over 50 made second ventures. The youngest widower remarrying was 20 years old, but two 19-year-old and ten 20-year-old widows remarried.

CHARLEY WHITE AT VENICE TONIGHT.

CLASSY LIGHTWEIGHT WILL BOX AT HARRY GILMORE'S CLUB.

In addition to a double main event Harry Gilmore of the Venice Athletic Club will have on hand as an added attraction the famous lightweight, Charley White, at the club's regular Wednesday evening show. Nate Lewis, his manager, will allow him to go on in an exhibition bout with one of Gilmore's pupils.

Clarence Hennecke, Southern California featherweight champ, meets Walter South, a promising local amateur, at 118 pounds.

Leo Balersky, State amateur champ, takes on George Gonzales at 125 pounds. Gonzales defeated Balersky a few weeks ago, but is fighting him again because of Balersky's plea that he was not in condition at the time of the fight. His present fine condition seems to promise some scrap.

Another fight that promises some action is the bout between Buck O'Laverty and Johnny Harris.

Sailor Mason and Kid Burns, two sluggers, will do battle at the lightweight limit.

Billy Burke and George Sandy meet at 135 pounds.

Gilmore's famous colored boy, "Snowball" will be seen in action against a famous unknown.

WILLIE BEECHER IS WORKING HARD.

The fact that Willie Beecher went through a six-round boxing match Monday afternoon shows that he is allowing no grass to grow under his feet while preparing for his match with Red Watson. After going through a hard grind with the gymnasium apparatus, the East Side scrapper donned the gloves with Dummy Gordon and Kid Dalton for three rounds each. His mates are working along the same lines as does Watson, which will aid to prepare for the kind of a fight he will pass through Friday night. Jordan and Dalton are hard hitting lightweights and Willie makes the best of every minute he is in the ring with them. Beecher is hitting like a middleweight and is speeding up a great deal. If he continues to improve in his daily work from now on he will show Watson some scrap.

MANY FIGHT STARS IN LOS ANGELES.

There are more fistic stars in Los Angeles right now than in any other fight center in the world. Willie Beecher and Red Watson are training for their Friday-night bout. Joe Rivers, Leach Cross, Charlie White, Johnny Dundee, George Chip, Harlem Eddie Kelly and Babe Picato are awaiting dates and Johnny Kilbane and Tom McMahon are due to arrive here Tuesday.

WASHINGTON WILL NOT GET ARMY-NAVY GAME.

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Aug. 17.—It was announced today at the Naval Academy that efforts to arrange for the playing at Washington of the Army-Navy football game this season had been abandoned. The contest probably will take place at Philadelphia or New York.

The only suitable place in Washington was the Polo Grounds, a government plot near the White House, and it is said that such conditions for the use of the grounds were imposed that representatives of the two services discontinued negotiations.

"Most Perfect Girl" Goes to Little Theater.

Gossip Up and Down the Actors' Walk.

The Southern California Auto Club owned the Orpheum last night, and made a noise like a college boys' reunion, the occasion being the canned adventures of Trixie Friganza in connection with the buzz wagon. She certainly put the "ad" in "adventure" for the auto club, all right, and the sleep-baters, better known as the auto clubs, gave the joyous comedienne an ovation and several tons of American Beauty roses.

The pictures are to be shown from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

The Sans sisters, otherwise the "Fashion Plates," at the Empress this week, are among the prettiest girls on incandescent alley. They don't wear home-brewed hats and wilted shirtwaists on the street, either, but keep up their rep by wearing the most modish things obtainable at the minute.

Prince Lai Mon Kim, at the Orpheum, dressed for the leading role in "A Willow Pattern Plate," but giving voice to those heart-interest ballads, in a fine tenor voice, is a real Chinese prince with an ancestral tablet and tea garden at home. He is a graduate of Washington State University and they wanted him to come home and be a governor or something, and live in an embroidered house and drink his tea, but he refused, taking to the vaudeville stage instead.

The Prince has a fascinating personality and a beautifully-trained voice, and it is said some of the Oriental play scouts are after him, also that a Mikado company has made him an offer.

That elephant in the Curradini menagerie at the Orpheum is the firm friend of the dogs with whom he performs. Last night the writer took a peep into his cage, and there were a dozen lumps of sugar cached in a corner. "What's that for?" was asked. His keeper informed me the big elephant had saved them from his own store of treats for his canine friends!

The war is responsible for other things beside bloodshed. Even amusements are suffering. The theatrical season in Canada in particular. Many English companies, billed for Canadian theaters, will stay at home. This ought to give United States companies a chance.

William A. Brady is building a new play in New York, called "Life." Brady is one of those producers that goes to work with his dinner pail. From 7 a.m. until past midnight he is busy with his chief scenic artists, head carpenter, and Thompson Buchanan, the author. The play will be seen in this city next winter, probably at the Mason.

Marguerite Edwards, former star of the Gaiety company at the Morosco, and known as "the most perfect girl on the stage," has been engaged by Manager Frank C. Egan as a feature for the Little Theater. So much for the brown!

Hingate and Randall, two well-known vaudeville performers on the Coast, will appear at the Little Theater on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week in a new sketch, "Poverty," produced for the first time on any stage.

A grave experience had Alec B. Francis, popular Eclair leading man, last week, in the movies. A part of the scene required Francis to be encased in a coffin-shaped box, in which he was supposed to be suffocated. "Stuffy Death!" as Yum-Yum says. The actor took his place in the box, the camera ground out the scene. As the coffin was hermetically sealed, all hands were congratulating each other on the "strong, dramatic scene." Sweetness and light! But to their horror, it was found that when the right moment came, Mr. Francis couldn't be uncanned and it was feared he would suffocate before the right sort of can-opener could be obtained. After herculean efforts, however, the lid was pried off. A very weak and half conscious movie hero was removed and taken into the open.

SLAVS IN AMERICA.

They Come With Little Industrial Experience or Skill and With Habits Peculiar to Europe.

[Chicago Journal:] There are 2,000,000 Slavs in this country, according to the census of 1910; there are 3,000,000, according to their leaders.

Of these, the Poles, numbering 941,000 in 1910, are the most numerous. Bohemians and Moravians counted 228,000.

Illiteracy runs from 1.7 per cent. among the Bohemians up to 43.6 per cent. among the Ruthenians.

Except among the Bohemians, there is little industrial experience or valuable skill, according to a writer in the Century Magazine. "It is as if great numbers of the English of the sixteenth century had suddenly appeared among us."

These newcomers gravitated from the start to the mines, the metal works, the packing centers and other centers of "raw" labor.

For these Slavs no work is too toilsome and dangerous. "Their fatalistic acceptance of risk has much to do with the excessive blood-cost of certain of our industries."

"So many are single men that they form an extraordinarily mobile labor force, willing to go anywhere for an extra 2 cents an hour."

The Bohemians and Poles furnish what farmers are in the east. They come here to stay.

The Slav is frankly vinous. Our squeamishness about liquor strikes him as hypocrisy or prudery.

In a steel town of 30,000 population the saloonkeeper gets $60,000 the Saturday and Sunday after pay day.

In twenty-one rural counties in Minnesota the Polish women average seven children in fourteen and a half years of married life.

So They Say.

HUNTERS REPORT LOTS OF FINE DEER TRAILING.

RETURNING hunters report that signs for a banner year are fine. The mountains are alive with tracks, and beds are numerous. The few who are coming back from the Sespe are urging their friends to strike out for that country, for it is said that the hordes of gunners who have gone higher up have chased the deer all lower down, giving fifteen or twenty who were wise enough to stay above Henley's Camp an admirable chance to pick off the fugitives. Even the amateurs are finding the picking there easy.

Maybe the Mexicans are poor soldiers, but that is not what the Sespe hunters are telling of several just returned from the revolution. These boys get on the trail of a deer and stay with him, until they get a shot at him and that is all that is necessary. There are five of these war veterans hunting up in that country now and each is reported to have gotten his first one.

One stayed on the trail of a buck for twelve hours Saturday night before bagging him and the others are said to be just the same kind of human bloodhounds. Another thing encountered up there is the smell of garlic on all hunters. What for? Why, to make the rattlesnakes rattle. That is what the old-timers say.

Kern county hunters report plenty of game, but few shooters. Right where it is best is at Switzer's Inn, four miles back of Le Beck's, in the Tejon Pass. The Frazer for whom Frazer Mountain was named bagged two the first night of the season, and other red hats say that it is not even necessary to keep wide awake to bag them in there.

Only one case of the hunting being spoiled by amateurs is reported so far, this season, and that was in one canyon of the Santa Monica Mountains. Forty-three hunters were counted in this canyon and the whole crowd bagged only three bucks. Of this aggregation of gunners, about thirty were aroused and they were shooting at every rock and tree. The experts give this as a reason for so few bucks coming out of that country.

Jacob Veil went up to Strawberry Peak Friday night, had his grub burned up in a small brush fire, and has now struck out into the Malibu country.

Bert Begue, who brought the first buck into the Dyas sporting goods house, was not satisfied with his catch, so went into Blanchard Canyon, this side of San Fernando, and bagged a pretty five-pointer weighing 175 pounds.

Eddie Maier, Bernal Dyas, Orvie Overall, and Gene Doyle got three bucks on Maier's Santa Susana ranch. Maier bagged a 145-pound four-pointer, Dyas a ninety-pound spike, and Overall a 110-pound spike. John Dersh got a 160-pound spike in the Simi country just beyond.

Carl Crouch got a 110-pound spike back of Monrovia, and a 140-pound two-pointer was killed in the Santa Monica Mountains by a hunter named Zeech.

D. A. Overshipe bagged two bucks in the Malibu and C. A. Hickcock got another out of the same territory.

Some of those still out gunning are: R. P. Holmes, Frank Obiols, Charles Briseno, C. B. McCoy, Clifford Feak, C. W. Blown, B. L. Holt, E. J. Brent, Herb Squires, R. C. Jackson, M. P. Schmederberg, E. DEATH RATES DECLINE.

Census Report Shows Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Lives Saved in One Year.

[New York Times:] The thirteenth annual report on mortality statistics of the Bureau of Census shows that the death rate in the registration area, which now includes about two-thirds of the population, fell from 14.2 for each 1000 of the population in 1911 to 13.9 in 1912. The death rate in this country has steadily declined from 17.6 in 1900, a decline which means a saving of life at present in this country at the rate of about 350,000 a year.

In the last eleven years the death rate for tuberculosis has decreased from 202 to 149; for infant diarrhoea, from 109 to 70; for typhoid fever, from 36 to 16; for diphtheria, from 43 to 14. The rate for heart disease, on the other hand, has increased from 123 to 151; for apoplexy, from 67 to 75; for Bright's disease, from 89 to 103, and for cancer, from 83 to 92.

This does not mean that the diseases which have caused increasing mortality have been growing more virulent or widespread. Generally speaking, it shows that more persons have escaped the diseases of early life and have succumbed to diseases more prevalent in middle and old age. Medical and sanitary science has greatly checked the diseases which produce the greatest infant mortality, while the diseases which cause death in middle and old age are generally less preventable. Popular Science, in an analysis of some of the tables of the report on mortality statistics, says:

"In 1850 the death rate was 19.8. If we put a merely commercial valuation on the lives saved it amounts to $1,000,000,000 a year. It would surely be reasonable to spend the amount thus saved by better living conditions, improved hygiene, and more efficient medical service to promote further advances in the same direction.

"The death rate has declined in all the great nations with the possible exception of Russia and Japan. Thus since 1850 the decrease in England has been about 6, in Germany about 9, in France about 3. These great differences for different nations are in large measure due to the age constitutions of their population. Thus England doubled its population by natural increase in sixty years and Prussia in fifty years, but now the birth rate in both is rapidly declining. There is thus in their populations a small proportion of old people and a decreasing proportion of young children, which in large measure explains why the death rate is lower than in France, where the population has been nearly stationary and there are nearly twice as many old people.

"The death rate for New York City in 1912 was 14.5, and for the entire State 15, but this does not mean that conditions are more favorable to health and to long life in the city than in the country. The death rate in New York City is low because, owing to the immigration from abroad and the influx of young people from the country, an unusually large percentage is the age when deaths are few."

ORIGIN OF GAS AND OIL.

Scientific Men Are Divided Between Organic and Chemical Theories, the Former Having the Preference.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] The problem of the origin of Kansas gas and oil, though having been discussed for forty years, is no nearer a definite solution than at first, according to Prof. Erasmus Haworth, State Geologist, who is at the head of the department of economic geology at the University of Kansas. And the knowledge of the origin of these vast petroleum stores, thinks Prof. Haworth, would be of great benefit in locating new pools.

Two theories as to the origin of oil and gas are accepted by different bodies of scientists. They are the chemical and organic theories. Upholders of the organic theory believe that oil and gas were generated from great vegetable and animal deposits, in the same manner that coal was formed. The other theorists think that oil and gas were and are being formed in the interior of the earth by the decomposition of water acting on hot metals.

The organic theory is well known in connection with the origin of coal beds. The assumption is that the accumulated vegetable matter of luxuriant prehistoric swamps buried under water and mud gradually was changed into coal, gas or oil. Decomposition of vegetable matter in the mud of stagnant pools causes gas to arise in bubbles. In the winter this gas collects beneath the ice and will burn if lighted. It is called marsh gas, and is of practically the same composition as methane of natural gas. Gas found in shallow wells in glacial drift, whence no exhalations from the earth's interior could have penetrated, is advanced as supporting the organic theory.

The organic matter produced in the sea, and buried in the sands of its bottom, is said to be more than sufficient to account for all the oil and gas ever prospected. Other experiments in higher chemistry show that the hydro-carbons petroleum and gas and ordinary vegetable material have the same relation in regard to their refraction of light. This is taken to indicate their common origin.

Modern research, according to Prof. Haworth, seems to indicate that the organic theory is the correct one, but scientists do not, as formerly, hold that the formation of the hydro-carbons has ended. In the sands of the oceans' bottoms today and in the ooze in the great fresh water lakes, organic matter, animal and vegetable, is accumulating. By the process of decay, these forms must be broken up into natural gas and petroleum, for the benefit of the earth dwellers a million years hence.

University of Iowa Association, the college alumni association, has offered a handsome silver loving cup to the candidates for this season's football squad, who devises the best play before the end of August. It must be an original formation, and every man's part in it must be carefully worked out. The idea has the approval of Coach Hawley.

PHEASANT REARING FOR ENGLISH AUTUMN SHOOT.

BY MARSHALL D. TAYLOR.

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

TO SPORT-LOVING Americans it seems the height of cruelty to rear game merely to shoot it down a few months later. But such, however, is not the case on a well-conducted shooting box, where annually thousands of birds are hand-reared and turned loose in the coverts when nearly full-grown.

The object of rearing pheasants and the feeding of wild ones is to keep the birds on the estate until the shooting season commences. Pheasants are very prone to stray and are easily enticed to an adjoining property by crafty gamekeepers in the employ of some unscrupulous land owner and fall easy prey to the guns of men who have taken no interest or shared any of the heavy expenses in stocking an estate with game.

FIRST MOVE.

In January large wooden traps are placed, but not set, in the various coverts. By daily scattering grain in and around these traps, mature wild birds are soon enticed from the solitudes of the woods and become accustomed to entering and leaving the traps. At the psychological moment the traps are then set and the unwary birds are easily caught.

At a convenient distance from the shooting box a pheasantry is built of wire netting. Into this the captured birds are placed, one tom and five hens to each pen. By careful feeding the captives soon become accustomed to their temporary prison and commence to perform their allotted duty.

THE FOOD.

In order to procure the maximum limit of eggs from each hen bird, stimulating foods, such as "Greaves," "Nubix" and various grains, are fed the captives until the egging season is over. The birds are then liberated and allowed to roam at will in the woods. So stimulating has been their diet during confinement that when freed they make nests of their own and bring up an offspring in the natural way.

The eggs are daily collected from the pheasants and set under domestic hens for incubation. A nest comprises approximately nineteen eggs. These are usually placed in a stable, or outhouse, as the temperature is more even indoors than out in the coverts during the cold, wet weeks of early spring. During the first week the mother birds are taken off the nest for a period of ten minutes each day. During the second week fifteen minutes' recreation is allowed, while during the third and last week of incubation the mother birds are taken off the nests for as long as twenty minutes.

THE SYSTEM.

Each mother bird turns her own eggs. Six pens of laying pheasants, counting one tom pheasant and five hens to a pen, will produce as many as 1000 eggs in a season.

The foster-mothers are prepared for their trying ordeal several days before the time appointed for incubation. If the requisite number of clucking hens is insufficient the countryside is scoured and recruits purchased. These cost about two shillings and sixpence each, or 50 cents in American money. At the end of the breeding season these foster-mothers are sold to the highest bidder and fetch as much as one shilling and sixpence, or 30 cents in our coin of the realm.

TAKEN AWAY.

When incubation is over and the young chicks thoroughly dry they are taken to the rearing field, which usually adjoins a wood, and placed to the number of fourteen in coops in charge of a foster-mother. As pheasant chicks all look alike, the foster-mothers take what chicks are allotted to them without any fuss or discrimination, as they are unable to detect their own particular brood.

The young chicks, however, are extremely astute. If one foster-mother is kinder than another, in protecting her young ones from inclement weather or in feeding them on extra special tit-bits, she will gather around her birds from other coops. I have counted as many as thirty-four young pheasants being mothered by a kind hen, 10 per cent. of which had left their own legitimate coops on account of indifferent treatment.

THE COOPS.

The coops in the rearing field are arranged in rows thirty or forty yards apart. Between these rows are shelters, constructed of green branches. Under these the young chicks hide when disturbed, or when hawks, foxes, rats and other vermin make known their presence. The mother birds generally give warning of danger, when a scramble ensues and the young chicks remain secreted until the danger has passed. In hot or wet weather these shelters are much frequented and prove popular outdoor retreats. They also serve as valuable aids to flying and in teaching the young birds to roost in the branches of trees.

The rearing field is always fenced, and as an additional safeguard against foxes a rope, covered with tar or renardine, is stretched around the field at a convenient height from the ground. Foxes will not cross this barrier, which is easily and cheaply constructed.

NEED CARE.

It is during the rearing of these young birds that the utmost care has to be bestowed upon them, as they are not only delicate and prone to disease, but poachers are ever on the watch to trap and entice the more mature birds.

For a period of six weeks the young chicks are cared for in the rearing field. During this whole of that time they are never out of sight of the watchful eyes of the gamekeeper in charge, who, with gun in hand, looks after their every want and keeps off all marauders.

The duties of a game warden on a pheasantry are many and arduous. At 5 o'clock every morning the coops have to be opened and moved to fresh ground.

FED AND WATERED.

The young birds are then fed and watered. For the first two weeks of their life on the rearing field hard-boiled eggs, finely chopped and mixed with a little oat and barley meal is given them, supplemented with a little biscuit meal. As they grow bigger and stronger, boiled rice, greaves, chopped onions and lettuce and the meat of wild rabbits, well boiled, is given. These meals are given four times daily. Between feeds, as an incentive to scratch and assimilate the natural foods of the woods, ants' eggs, which the keeper digs from the mounds in the rearing field, are also given, mixed with grit and oyster shells.

So keen are the young chicks to partake of this delicacy that they will follow their benefactor from coop to coop in their eagerness to obtain a cropful of the coveted morsels. The ant hollows are utilized by the birds as "dusting" places.

ONLY ONCE.

Rearing fields are never used a second time, as a preventive against disease. Pheasants, like young turkeys, are different to raise and suffer greatly from enteric fever, the gapes and other maladies. When gapes infect any of the birds these are at once isolated in coops and given doses of camilla, a preparation of camphor and lime. This powdery substance is blown into the coops of sick birds, disinfects them and speedily kills the worm, which attacks the throat of the baby pheasant.

Clear water must be given daily, both to the chicks in the rearing field and to the wild ones scattered throughout the woods. These latter are watered by placing the precious fluid in specially-constructed clay-lined receptacles, placed in shady and quiet nooks throughout the estate.

COOPS MOVED.

After six weeks in the rearing field and when sufficiently weaned, the coops are moved into the woods and coverts within calling distance of each other. The foster-mothers, still confined in their coops, encourage their young charges to keep within bounds. In this way the shooting season opens soon after the birds have reached maturity, with little or no loss from straying.

The wandering proclivities of these young birds is astonishing, and unless some such method was adopted thousands of birds would be enticed to neighboring estates, killed by foxes, rats and other vermin, or netted by poachers. Again, the weather in July is so variable that unless the foster-mothers were present in the woods many of the young birds would sicken and die from exposure.

NEED NO HELP.

Healthy birds perform their daily toilet without artificial assistance. It is a common sight to see a number of young birds bathing themselves in the early-morning dew and flying to the tops of the coops to dry themselves in the rising sun. This daily bath assists them to feather and keep in condition.

As a preventative against "rough feather," which may arise from a variety of causes, not the least frequent of which is lice and other insect pests, mercurial ointment is used as a dressing to the necks, heads and parts under the wings of all afflicted birds. Dust-holes are also provided, filled with wood ashes, lime and insect powder.

When the young pheasants are ready for removal from the rearing field to the woods and coverts, the keepers usually select a wet night for their work, as inclement weather forces the young birds to seek shelter in the coops. In this way each brood can be shut in and carried into the woods.

DAILY TOUR.

Every morning the keepers make a tour of the many "rides" strewing as they go grain for the wild birds and those newly turned loose. This is done to keep the game on the estate until the shooting season opens on October 1. The real season, however, does not open until November 5, when the leaves are off the trees and the birds are thoroughly wild and full grown. A sufficient number of hens are left in the woods by the hunters to insure of a plentiful supply of eggs for the ensuing year.

THE REGENERATION OF ASIA.

Trade of All the Eastern Nations Is Rapidly Developing and Agriculture Is Giving Away to Industry.

[World's Work:] The economic awakening of Asia is unmistakable. During the latter half of the nineteenth century the trade of India increased fourfold and that of China sixfold. The trade of Japan has increased sevenfold in twenty years. But the twentieth century will see far greater developments in the East than the nineteenth. The simple age of agriculture is giving way to an age of industry, handicrafts to national commerce, and isolation to the new means of communication that are producing a new national and international consciousness. The chimneys of the great factories of Osaka and Calcutta tower like those of Birmingham. A decade or two ago scavengers were picking up old horseshoes in the streets of London and shipping them out to make third-rate plows for the farmers on the hills of Central China. Today, digging under those hills in the four central provinces, they find what may prove to be the greatest coal fields in the world—enough in the Shansi province alone to supply the world for more than a thousand years, according to the estimates of the German geologist, Baron von Richthofen. In Central China they have found iron ore better for casting than that used today in Pittsburgh. The great Hanyang Iron and Steel Works at Wuchang, across from Hankow—the Chicago of China—employs 4000 workmen, and is turning out steel rails of the highest quality for the new railroads of China. If China's manufactures were developed as efficiently as those of America, the gross returns would equal the entire national debt ($377,000,000) in three weeks. Though retarded for a short time by the adjustment of her political difficulties, it will surely, though not slowly, develop these vast resources.

"PAUPER" IS PASSING.

So Also Is the Word "Charity" and "Poor-Houses" Giving Way to More Gentle Expressions.

[New York Press:] An old and disagreeable word is dying out in this country, according to a report of the United States Census Bureau on State laws affecting the dependent classes. "Pauper" is rapidly disappearing from official use. "Indigent" and "dependent" are among the synonyms used instead of the harsh old noun. "Pauper" is a word which grates upon the American ear. It suggests a horrible, hopeless poverty which is, or should be, foreign to a rich and wonderful land.

With "pauper" there is also passing the use of another word, beautiful in its original sense, but cold and harsh when used in its application to the mechanical giving of assistance to the wretched. That word is "charity." It is a disagreeable adjective and sometimes an objectionable noun. So "charity hospitals" are taking other names. "State charity" is becoming "State aid" just as pauper asylums and poor-houses are being changed, both in name and nature, to infirmaries, hospitals and homes for the aged and infirm.

Poverty will be with us for a long time yet, but it is well to remove the stigma from those that are dependent because of their misfortune and not because of their fault.

URGE CO-OPERATION WITH GOVERNMENT

WINNIPEG (Man.) Aug. 17.—Governmental regulation of the sale and control of the price of wheat is advocated by the Bread and Cake Manufacturers' Association of Canada in a resolution unanimously adopted here today. The resolution says:

"We believe that one of the best ways for us to show our loyalty and devotion is to co-operate with the government, so far as the prices of our raw material will permit, by not taking advantage of speculative conditions by unduly advancing the price of bread.

"The association asserts its belief that there is absolutely no justification for the present inflated prices of wheat and flour."

GOVERNOR ACTS IN NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON (N. J.) Aug. 17.—Gov. Fielder today directed Atty.-Gen. Westcott and the twenty-one county prosecutors of the State to investigate every combination that might exist in New Jersey to boost the price of food. The Governor declares that if there is any combination among speculators and dealers to raise food prices, such combination may be prosecuted under the anti-trust laws of this State.

SUGAR IN PORTLAND UP FIFTY CENTS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 17.—Sugar took another jump of 50 cents on the local market here today. Cane sugar was quoted at $6.05 per hundred, which is the highest price it has ever reached in Portland.

His Greatest Compliment.

[Youth's Companion:] The Earl of Shaftesbury once stood on the corner of one of London's busy thoroughfares when the traffic blocked the way. He was waiting for a chance to cross the street. On the same corner stood a little child; she also wished to cross to the other side, but she was afraid to do so.

With a child's shrewdness, she eagerly scanned the faces of those about her. Then she stepped forward, and putting her hand in that of the great Earl, she asked, in trusting confidence: "Will you take me across the street, please?"

Carefully the Earl piloted her between the vehicles to the other side. With a happy smile and a "Thank you, sir," the child skipped away.

In relating the incident, the Earl said, "It was the greatest compliment I ever had, that that little child, after looking in the faces of all the crowd, should single me out to conduct her across the street."

AMERICAN GOODS IN CHINA.

Every Dollar Invested in Promoting the Welfare of the Orientals Will Come Back in Trade.

[World's Work:] For every dollar invested in philanthropy or missions in China $100 will come back in trade to this country. Although this is not the motive of our work, the fact is nevertheless indisputable. Twelve hundred Chinese students, who are studying today in America, are going back as the future governors, officers, engineers and leaders of every department of that great republic. Where will these men procure their machinery and supplies? In answer, let me record that I traveled over a railroad in the East, where I was drawn by Philadelphia locomotives, in cars made in Wilmington, Del., over Pittsburgh rails, nailed with New York spikes to Oregon ties. In the dining car I ate Chicago beef and Pittsburgh pickles; I saw many houses of the better class that were lighted by American oil, or equipped with American sewing machines. The broad fields of Manchuria are being reaped by American harvesters, and the opportunities for big business in the East are enormous.

HOLDING HIS MONEY.

He Could Not Play Cards and Became Angry When Jumped Upon and Replied With Acerbity.

[Baltimore American:] Jones didn't want to play cards; never had wanted to play cards in his life, and said so. But to no purpose. His objections, conscientious and otherwise, were waved to one side by the red-faced person who was looking for a partner.

Jones took his seat at the card table. Before they had been playing fifteen seconds Jones and the red-faced person took a forty-horse-power dislike for each other. Then the wretched Jones made his first serious mistake. He of the ruddy complexion banged the table.

"Why on earth didn't you follow my lead?" he shouted.

"If there is one man in this world today whose odious example I would not follow in any circumstances you are the man!" retorted Jones, with dignity.

After that the jolly pastime proceeded. Then Jones put his foot in it again, and again the rubicund one banged the table.

"Couldn't you see me calling for a spade or club?" he boomed. "Haven't you got a black suit, man?"

"Yes, I have," said Jones, rising from the table, and I'm oily well hanging on to it for your funeral!"

Mail Will Be Forwarded.

[St. Joseph News Press:] The London naval conference of 1908-1909 obligated belligerent nations to respect first-class mail and to forward with all possible dispatch even when taken from a confiscated ship. Therefore, letters addressed to European nations at war or that may become involved in war are certain to reach their destination eventually, although considerable time may be lost in transmission.

A GIGANTIC RAILROAD TASK.

The Trans-Siberian Line Is Being Built to Capture Nations and the Cost Is Not Considered.

[World's Work:] There is a railroad from the North Sea to the Japan Sea. It was built by a nation to capture nations. It has failed of its purpose so far. The Trans-Siberian, all things considered, is the most gigantic railroad task that ever was performed. In money, it will eat up more than $1,000,000. In lives, it has destroyed thousands. Its earnings are practically negligible. Yet, at this time, the Russians are laying double tracks on it from end to end. Moreover, they are building one branch of it that would reach from New York to Chicago and leave 500 miles for sidings, and that will cost more than $150,000,000.

If that were only a railroad, it would be the greatest railroad mystery of the ages; but it is not only a railroad. It is like the army and the navy of Russia. It is a national expenditure for the conquest of Asia. Some day, no doubt, when the coffers of Russia are filled again with gold, the rest of the story of the Trans-Siberian will be written. Now it is only being dreamed. Probably the men who are doing the dreaming will not live to see the writing.

England's Present Position.

Philadelphia Ledger:] Sir Edward Grey's statement to Parliament is characteristic of the deliberation and sincere longing for peace which have been evident in British policy since the beginning of the present crisis. The nation will not be rushed into war. Nor, on the contrary, will it avoid the issue forced upon it. The army and navy are being mobilized. The defense of the north French coast and shipping has been specifically guaranteed. If Belgium is compelled to submit to violation of her neutrality, said the Foreign Minister, England's duty is clear. She must protect her ward. The mere possibility of German control of littoral so near to England jeopardizes fundamental British interests. Belgium must remain free. But this, too, the government refers to Parliament, leaving to it the last word as to British policy. Not one man, nor two, nor twenty shall decide for the empire in the great crisis. Factional differences have been obliterated for the time being. A coalition government, in which every faction will be represented, will be formed if necessary. Finance has been protected by authorization of a moratorium and sequestration of gold.

A Time for Cool Heads.

[Philadelphia Ledger:] One needs only to stand on the street and look into the tense faces of those watching the war bulletins to see at first hand the dreadful anxiety of men and women of foreign birth. Some of their own kinsfolk are or will be participants in the conflict, the greatest war of modern times, and some responding to their country's call "will return no more."

An Egg in the Wilderness.

[Youth's Companion:] An amusing little incident concerning an egg is told by Capt. Stigand in his "Hunting the Elephant in Africa."

It was a solitary ostrich's egg that I found in the open. I supposed it had been dropped by the ostrich before she had decided where to make her nest. I ate that egg in omelets for three days, thinking myself lucky to get an egg so far from civilization, but marveling much at its peculiar flavor. From later experience of ostrich eggs, I now know that the egg was bad!

BOY'S TRAGEDY LIKE MOTHER'S.

Explosion Kills Parent; Now Son Lies Dying.

Lad Drops Burning Garment in Can of Powder.

City Budget Pared Down to Passable Size.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 18.—With half the skin of his body burned, Reginald Kelsey lies in a critical condition in the same hospital in which his mother died from burns received in an explosion at her home five years ago. His suffering is agonizing and small hope is entertained for his recovery. The boy is 17 years old and is the son of H. B. Kelsey of Fig street, Altadena.

The accident occurred late Saturday afternoon on his father's ranch in Antelope Valley while he was digging up some buried cans of gunpowder. One can was opened in some way and as he stooped over to raise another of the cans from its burial place matches in his pockets were ignited and his overalls were soon in a blaze.

Memory of the cause of his mother's death flashing through his brain and the realization of his immediate danger caused the youth to lose his head; he tore off the overalls and in his great excitement threw them from him,—into the open can of powder.

There was a terrific explosion and the boy was hurled into the air and fell ten feet away. Hearing his agonized screams, his brother, Gilbert Kelsey, rushed to his assistance, and carried him to the house and summoned a physician from Lancaster.

Sunday night the father started to Pasadena with the boy in an ambulance which had been summoned from Los Angeles. They arrived at the Pasadena Hospital at 4 o'clock Monday morning and everything possible is being done to save his life.

BUDGET ALL READY.

The City Commissioners will today probably adopt the budget as pared down by them for the fiscal year 1914-1915. Every estimate as filed by the heads of departments has been made in an effort to lower the tax rate.

Through strict economy the Commissioners have saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars this year. The tax rate in the old city limits for 1915 will be $1.11, or 3 cents less than last year.

POVERTY PAIR.

Dressed in a garb in which they had attended a "poverty party," Lloyd Eyrie of No. 1941 Lundy street and Scott Porter of Lamanda Park, were arrested near Library Park as suspicious characters and were marched to the police station where they had a hard time explaining why they were in the park dressed like yeggmen.

The officer in charge did not book them, but it was difficult for him to believe that he had not arrested a couple of cutthroats. And when the youths disappeared through the door he shook his head over and over again, saying that he wouldn't be surprised if he had been too hasty in letting them go.

GOES TO PRISON FOR THREE YEARS.

MAN WHO CAUSED FIRE LOSS BY ROBBING GAS METER PAYS PENALTY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 17.—For robbing a gas meter that resulted in a $25,000 fire loss in the Ontario business district about a year ago, Edward Burke was today sentenced to three years' servitude in San Quentin by Judge Oster. Burke applied for probation, but the court stated that it would take more than fifteen years for the prisoner to pay back the loss and would not consider probation for that length of time.

After touring the country Burke returned to Ontario about two months ago to call on his sweetheart and he was arrested. He told the court today that his conscience had troubled him and that he had returned to make restitution.

THE CITY FOR HIS.

On the completion of his term as Superior Judge in this county on December 1, Judge F. F. Oster, for the past eighteen years a jurist here, will reside in Los Angeles, where he will practice law. This became known today when it was announced that Judge Oster had completed a transaction by which he trades his home on D street in this city for the Charles E. Cast home at No. 2106 Eighth street, Los Angeles.

San Bernardino county will not have a farm advisor until September and possibly not then. The request of the Chino delegation that the Board of Supervisors appoint a soil expert to assist newcomers in the successful pursuit of agriculture, was today laid on the table and will not be considered until next month at least.

MILK PRODUCTS ARE STANDARDIZED

IMPERIAL VALLEY CREAMERIES GET TOGETHER TO GET BEST RESULTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, Aug. 17.—According to a letter sent out to all of the dairymen by the various creameries of the valley, all of the cream sent to any of them must hereafter come up to a specified standard or it will not be received. It is declared by the creameries that this action is absolutely necessary in order to avoid the necessity of pasteurizing the cream, if the creameries in the valley would be able to continue to meet the strong competition of the northern establishments.

According to the edict of the creameries, all cream sent in must have been kept in the shade covered with wet blankets. No cream will be received if it has flies or ants in it. The statement ends with the positive assertion that the day has passed by when the creameries will receive just any kind of cream for the mere sake of obtaining more business.

The letter is signed by all of the valley creameries. This is a step on the part of this great industry of which the Imperial Valley people are very proud.

In compliance with the urgent requests of the valley creameries the Wells Fargo Company has agreed to change the former tri-weekly service in butter shipments to the north and give them instead a daily service, the train leaving the most southerly creamery every evening except Saturdays. Owing to the extra amount of ice required to transport the butter during the summer months it has been found impossible to ship it as general express matter.

BEAN THRESHERS ASK BETTER PAY

Growers Incensed Because Advantage Is Taken.

Greatest Crop Orange County Ever Had in Sight.

Prices Go Higher Than Ever Because of War.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 17.—The harvest of the greatest bean crop Orange county ever had has been begun this week, and with it comes a war between ranchers and threshers over the price of threshing. Up to last year the usual price paid threshers was 25 cents per 100 pounds. Last year there was a short crop and by consent of the ranchers the threshers got 30 cents.

The threshers do not want to go back to the old price and the growers are up in arms. The ranchers say that the crop is the heaviest in the history of the industry, and at 25 cents the threshers will make a great killing. There are nine threshing outfits, and all of the big ones seem disposed to hold out for 30 cents.

The cutting of blackeyes was started the last of last week. The blackeyes are less than one-fifth of the acreage set to beans, there being 21,000 acres to limas and 4000 to blackeyes in the county. Of that acreage, 21,000 is on the holdings of the Irvine Company, farmed on leases. The vast fields on the Irvine ranch constitute the largest bean patch in the world, no such acreage being found on the holdings of any other one man or corporation in the world.

The warm spell has hastened the maturity of the limas, and today some of the ranchers began cutting the vines and piling them to await hauling to the threshers. Cool days and plenty of dew and fog have made the growing season the best the bean industry here has experienced.

A number of the ranchers contracted to sell their blackeyes at $3.75 per 100 pounds and their limas at $4.75, which are fair prices, before the war boosted prices. Beans are now bringing as high as $8 and $9.

ART OF WATER PUMPING.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN JACINTO, Aug. 17.—Ranchers are recognizing the advantages of storage reservoirs for irrigation purposes and among the San Jacinto land owners who have lately completed large irrigating reservoirs are A. D. Record, S. B. Gerber, C. B. Woodhead, W. C. Wilder, F. C. Brooks, Mrs. Guthrie and J. L. Congdon. By impounding the flow from pumping plants in reservoirs the pumps can be kept running continuously, while the work of irrigation need require but a portion of the day. For instance, a pumping plant furnishing a flow of fifty inches would give the irrigator an irrigation head of 150 inches for eight hours of the day, provided the plant is run the full twenty-four hours. It has been demonstrated that better results can be obtained with 150 inches of water in eight hours than with five inches for twenty-four hours. With the large head there is also the advantage of daylight work when water can be better conserved. With the storage systems smaller water supplies can also be used to advantage.

FUNDS FOR HARVEST.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, Aug. 17.—The cotton growers of the valley are planning, in case of failure to obtain funds from the government to harvest their splendid crop, to raise the money themselves. Owing to the European war situation and to the consequent uncertainty in the price for the coming crop it has been found difficult to secure money with which to handle the crop. Congressman Kettner has been appealed to by the people urging that he ask aid from the government, but as practically all of the cotton-growing sections have done the same this may fail. Arrangements are under way between the growers and the local banks to secure the necessary funds, and, although the banks are short of funds to loan just now owing to the big demands for improvement purposes, it is believed that the money can be secured through them.

STEAM ROAD SHOVEL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OWENSMOUTH, Aug. 17.—A big new steam shovel has been received here by the county road department and is being taken to the Topanga drive, where it will be used in constructing the new valley-to-sea road. The shovel has a capacity of from forty to eighty yards of earth per hour. It is operated by a forty-horsepower engine and weighs more than thirty tons. The freight charges on the machine from Marion, O., to Owensmouth amounted to $974.95.

FLYING-BOAT PLANS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 17.—The exciting sport of water flying may be enjoyed by the crowds at the exposition next year. Glenn H. Curtiss, the famous birdman, who has just arrived from Hammondsport, N. Y., claims that water flying is much greater sport than ordinary flying in an aeroplane and he is here to take up the matter of a line of flying boats with the exposition people.

HUNTER INJURED IN AUTO WRECK.

ALHAMBRA MAN'S CAR TURNS TURTLE NEAR FILLMORE. OTHER NEWS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FILLMOE, Aug. 17.—While driving here from Alhambra in company with R. G. Field, John Dear met with a serious accident when his roadster turned turtle on a bad stretch of road near Camulos. His foot was badly crushed and after treatment here he returned to his home in Alhambra.

Field, with Parker Dear, Sr., and Parker Dear, Jr., are hunting deer in the Agua Blanco country, and were to have been accompanied by John Dear.

James Putnam, an employee of the Union Oil Company, suffered a severely crushed leg when he slipped and fell in front of a wagon loaded with two tons of casings. The wagon passed over his right leg.

A drastic prohibition measure, now before the City Trustees, will put an end to illicit selling of liquor in blind pigs or otherwise, when it becomes a law, it is believed.

The Bardsdale bridge is to be rebuilt, the contract having been awarded to the Mercereau Company of Los Angeles, at $20,278.

REDLANDS MAN KILLS HIMSELF.

ILL-HEALTH IS MOTIVE FOR DEED COMMITTED AT ONCE HAPPY HOME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 17.—While his wife and children were partaking of their dinner, Frank S. Haupt of Terracina avenue left the table, went to his room upstairs, and shot himself through the heart with a shotgun. Death was instantaneous, and when the family, disturbed by the report, reached him a minute later, he had breathed his last.

Haupt was 57, a native of Pennsylvania, and a resident of Redlands for the past twelve years. He had been in ill-health for several months and his failure to find relief at several sanatoriums is assigned as the reason for his act. Coroner E. P. Fuller came from San Bernardino late this afternoon and held the inquest.

DANCE IN THE STREET.

Redlands Crowds Make Merry on the Asphalt and Set New Fashion. Cornmeal Incentive to Success.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 17.—A free monthly street dance is now one of the features of the city of Redlands' social life. The initial dance was given August 4 in one of the main streets of the town. A street was picked in which there were no car tracks. Ropes were stretched and a municipal band of twenty-six pieces was stationed in front of the newly-completed First National Bank building. Cornmeal was scattered on the street, which converted the hard asphalt into a first-class dance floor.

That the dance was a success was shown by the crowd which attended, most of whom proved to be dancers. The fun was begun at 8 o'clock and was stopped at 10 p.m., as that was the closing hour as decreed by the officials. Many prominent families of Redlands were represented, as well as some of the millionaires from the hill.

IMPROVING ROADS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN JACINTO, Aug. 17.—During the past two months a great deal of work has been done upon the roads of the valley with splendid results. Owing to lack of county funds, this work has now been suspended until more money is available. Within a short time work will be begun on the new mountain road up Baptiste Canyon to Hamilton Valley and the Cahuilla country, surveys for which were completed this week. This road will bring that newly-settled mountain country nearer to San Jacinto by some twenty miles. A new bridge across the San Jacinto River has also been approved and will be built this fall. The bridge will be a great improvement over the wooden structure that went out with the high water last spring.

Los Angeles Harbor.

BRITISH STEAMERS TIED FOR FEAR OF GERMANS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 17.—Two British steamers now in port here may be tied up indefinitely because of the presence of German warships on the Pacific Coast. The Frimley is discharging 2000 tons of coke and merchandise, and it is expected that she will await further orders before proceeding to San Francisco with the balance of cargo.

Extra precautions are necessary on account of her cargo of coke. It is feared that the need of fuel on board the German cruisers would make the Frimley a valuable prize. The steamer is under charter to G. W. McNear, Inc., of San Francisco, and loaded her cargo at Antwerp. The first news of the war was received by the crew upon arrival here Saturday.

The British tank steamer Clam anchored in the outer harbor today after loading a full cargo of fuel oil, awaiting word from London. The Clam arrived from Hongkong last week in ballast to the General Petroleum Company. No word had been received in the Orient of trouble in Europe when the Clam sailed for this port, and her crew, too, received their first war news upon arrival here.

Monrovia.

BABE EATS POISONOUS PILLS AND NOW IS DEAD.

MONROVIA, Aug. 17.—Little Johnnie Woodward, the 1-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Earle B. Woodward, of No. 301 East Greystone avenue, is dead after eating thirty pills, which he found in his father's study and mistook for candy. The pills are said to contain both morphine and strychnine.

Mrs. Woodward found the child while he was still eating the sugar-coated pellets, and summoned physicians immediately. Two doctors for an hour and a half tried to save the little fellow's life, but were unsuccessful. The fight was almost hopeless from the first for the pills dissolve almost instantly in the stomach, the child had swallowed thirty, when one-half a pill is considered a dose.

This is the third occurrance in Monrovia during the past two weeks in which children have obtained poisonous medicine, and eaten it, thinking they had candy. In one instance a 2-year-old child climbed to a medicine cabinet and secured a bottle of pills, from which it ate. Medical attention saved its life as it did the lives of three other children, who ate poisonous pills as a treat offered them by a small friend.

BRAVED PLAINS IN EARLY DAYS.

PIONEER OF LONG BEACH DIES OF HEART TROUBLE.

Rode Prairie Schooner to the Coast Before Cities Were Born—Youth Perhaps Fatally Injured by Motorcycle Accident—Launch Captain Rescues Catalina Excursion Boat.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Evelyn Carter, who came across the plains to Long Beach behind an ox team before the original townsite of Long Beach was established, died of heart trouble this afternoon at 3:45 at her residence on Hellman street. She is the third member of the party of pioneers who braved the hardships of the plains and desert in 1869 to die here within the last few months. She was 62 years of age.

Her husband, John Carter, died March 14, and Mrs. Orpha Shrode, another member of the pioneer party, passed away a month later.

Together with W. J. Shrode, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Teel, parents of J. A. Teel, Milton Teel, LaFayette Morell, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis White, they set out with a caravan of prairie schooners from Benton, Tex., for the last stage of a journey from Illinois. Mrs. Carter was married to John Carter en route.

After great suffering and the loss of almost all their stock, they came to Southern California, the Carters at first settling near Bolsa Chica at the close of the year 1869. In 1878 the Carters settled on a ranch in the northwestern part of what is now Long Beach.

Six children, William, Anna, James, Claude, Edward and John, are left. Mrs. Carter has been ill with the heart affection for about three weeks.

BEACH BRIEFS.

Robert Wright, aged 18, living at No. 713 Pine avenue, may die as the result of injuries sustained when his motorcycle collided with an east-bound Pacific Electric car at Locust avenue and Third street, this afternoon. Wright sustained a basic skull fracture. Physicians at the Seaside Hospital, where he was taken, have doubts regarding his recovery. He was employed as stockman for a local electric supply house. Wright was riding south on Locust and, seeing a car coming on Third, swerved into that street in an effort to avoid a collision. His machine was wrecked and he was thrown to the pavement, alighting on his head.

Capt. William Graves towed into the harbor today the launch El Capitan of San Pedro, which became disabled in the heavy sea off Catalina Island and the occupants were saved from a night at sea, perhaps, by the timely arrival of Capt. Graves at the helm of the fishing launch Tourist.

C. H. Randall, P. O. Conway, J. F. Farnham, W. B. Morehouse and W. G. Cline, constituting the Los Angeles committee in charge of the first annual picnic of Southern California Methodists, came here today to make arrangements for the big recreation meeting of the churchmen in Bixby Park Saturday. They expect 10,000 Methodists.

ONTARIO MAN DIES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, Aug. 17.—Clarence E. Christensen died yesterday at his home, No. 212 East F street, after a long illness. He was a director of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce and up to a few months ago was a grocer. He was a native of Utah and came here from Salt Lake City, where his family was prominent and influential. He was a brother of D. H. Christensen, superintendent of the schools of Salt Lake City, and of A. H. Christensen, manager of the Utah Construction Company, both of whom are here. A widow, three daughters and one son are left. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 11 at Draper's chapel and the body will be taken to Salt Lake City for interment.

RECONSIDERS VOTE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 17.—Through the efforts of the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce, local civic bodies, and a mass-meeting the City Council tonight decided to reconsider its vote on the type of seawall to be built along the ocean boulevard. The ballot was four to three for the retaining wall which the City Engineer termed as a "gamble," thereby putting aside the type which would be the nearest thing to perfection. The permanent wall would cost $55,679, or $9000 more than the other.

AUTOS RESTRICTED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, Aug. 17.—The Board of Supervisors of Imperial have set about to discourage auto speeding on the mountain road between San Diego and the Imperial Valley, they have passed an ordinance restricting automobiles to ten miles an hour on the straight way and to six miles and hour on the curves. An officer has been placed on the mountain road to inforce this new ordinance.

PROMISES NEW SCHEDULE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ORANGE, Aug. 17.—Assistant Superintendent Wilson of the Pacific Electric was here today and stated that the road is preparing a schedule for cars between Santa Ana and Orange whereby a thirty-minute service will be given instead of an hourly service.

RAILWAY MEN PLAY AT BEACH.

FIFTH ANNUAL PICNIC IS ATTENDED BY THOUSANDS OF L. A. EMPLOYEES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 17.—The fifth annual picnic of the Los Angeles Railway was held here today. At 5 o'clock 10,000 tickets had been collected. The relief crews and their families which came down after that numbered fully 4000 persons.

A nursery was provided in the auditorium, where hundreds of babies and small children were cared for by attendants while their mothers enjoyed themselves, or while the little ones slept.

The picnic programme was arranged by the Executive Committee of the Los Angeles Railway Employees' Association, which consists of L. O. Lieber, E. D. Lewis, F. Van Vranken, E. L. Stephens, J. E. Bass and T. A. Donahue.

An incident of the day was the mock marriage of H. Lippi, impersonating a female character, and Shultz Lieber as the groom, with Dr. T. M. Hart officiating, assisted by Miss Dorothy Thompson as bridesmaid and O. G. Stangland as best man.

The couple created considerable attention and were followed about with bags of rice, with which they were profusely showered, the crowd being completely fooled.

In the prize waltz Mrs. L. J. Manning won first prize for ladies and Mr. F. B. Hourlick the gentleman's prize. In the two-step Mrs. C. C. Allen and T. A. Donohue won. The most graceful lady dancer was Miss Betty Nefroney.

A fine programme of sports was carried out.

GOES AFTER FIRE ENGINE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OCEAN PARK, Aug. 17.—Fire Chief E. P. Nittinger has been delegated by the City Council of Santa Monica to go to San Diego to purchase a fire engine. It will be placed in the south end of the city to protect the amusement district, which has been rebuilt where the disastrous fire of 1912 destroyed the former amusement avenue. A committee which tried to buy an engine on the installment plan in Los Angeles failed; hence the trip south of the fire chief.

IDEAL HIGHWAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, Aug. 17.—Present indications point to the completion of an ideal highway between Yuma and San Diego before January 1. The State Highway Commission has awarded a $61,000 contract for constructing a road from the base of the Mountain Springs grade to Coyote Wells, and the Imperial County Supervisors are busy making ready for the construction of the road through the sand hills between Yuma and Holtville.

UNEXPECTED LAND VALUES.

Fortunes Often Made on Property Abandoned as Useless by People Who Only Saw Surface Indications.

[Popular Magazine:] It doesn't matter so much where we are, as what we see while we are there. Any one could see a chunk of gold as large as a box car sticking out of a field—if it happened to be there. And there are a good many millions of people who never see anything that isn't right on the surface. The best of things are rarely on the surface. It is those who take a second or third look, and who do something in the meantime, who find the real values.

Up at the edge of a Wisconsin town, a bluff has been standing for a great many years. It was too rough to cultivate, and it had no use at all except being a bluff. At least, so ten consecutive owners thought. But at last a fellow came along, took a few good looks, and did some digging. He found the bluff was a solid bank of sand and fine gravel, which meant in this age of cement that he could sell thousands upon thousands of loads of sand throughout the coming years at a net profit of 30 cents a load. Better than a gold mine—at least, better than the sort most of us buy stock in.

Over on the northern slope of the Ozarks was a strip of thin, hilly land. Immigrant after immigrant came into the country, looked at the land and saw nothing but corn; planted corn, and got a failure. Some stayed on two, three or five years before they starved out; then others came. They had been accustomed to seeing corn on the field. That was the obvious thing to plant, and when it failed, as it always did, they moved on, broken, disheartened. Then one day came a man who took a second look, and a third look. He planted peach trees. Last summer, from the railroad switch nearby, were shipped 160 carloads of Elberta peaches, at $1.60 a bushel, net.

This doesn't apply to land alone, but to business, to factories, to professions. It applies to living itself. It's the man that looks beneath the surface and uses brains to discover ways and means and markets who finds gold where others have found only ashes; who finds happiness and contentment where others have garnered only misery and the thistles of discontentment.

Italy's Foreign Trade.

[Consular Report:] During the first five months of 1914 the foreign commerce of Italy, exclusive of the trade in precious metals, amounted to $491,804,631, of which $289,878,038 was for imports and $201,926,593 for exports. Compared with the corresponding period of 1913 there was an increase in the total trade of $3,876,281, and in exports of $10,828,787; but imports diminished by $6,952,506, owing to the decrease of $14,300,000 in wheat imports.

HUNTER BLOWS HIS HAND OFF.

[Local correspondence.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 17.—While unloading a weapon of a deer-hunting party in the local mountains in extracting a cartridge that became jammed in a rifle, Will Hudson suffered such serious injuries that his right hand was amputated today. The shell exploded as the charge partially blew off the hand. He was hurried to the city, but doctors found they could not save his hand.

HARBOR NOTES.

The British steamer Princier may be laid up indefinitely after her San Pedro cargo is discharged, according to statement made today by C. W. McIntyre, who is under charter to the Princier Steamship Company. The Princier is now in San Francisco and has a large quantity of cargo there and it is said that she probably will not be sent to this port as long as there is any cargo to be had in San Francisco.

Another British steamer, the Cleveland, is expected to arrive in this harbor tomorrow to load lumber for Australia. The Cleveland is the vessel that was chartered by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company to carry cargo to Australia, but which was taken over by the British government for use as a transport. The Cleveland is now in the coaling port of Cardiff, Wales, and has a large quantity of cargo for Australia.

THE MATTER WITH KANSAS.

Investigation Into Alleged Violations of Her Anti-Trust Laws by the Millers and Grain Men.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 17.—An investigation into alleged violations of the Kansas anti-trust laws by millers and grain men began here today when John Dawson, Attorney-General, appointed A. M. Harvey of Topeka a special Assistant Attorney-General to investigate charges of price-fixing recently brought by farmers of ten Central Kansas counties.

Mr. Harvey announced tonight that he would summon officers of the Southwestern Millers' League to explain an alleged price-fixing circular which he asserts was sent out by the organization.

SHOE FACTORIES CLOSED BY WAR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—Four of the five International Shoe Company factories did not open today, as an indirect result of the European war. Seven of twelve factories operated by the company in other cities did not open. It is thought that all the idle factories will reopen August 31.

Officials of the company said the closing of the factories was due to the demoralization of the southern cotton industry by the war. Shoes, which it had been expected to sell largely in the Southern States, are not now in demand.

WAREHOUSE BILL IN TEXAS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Aug. 17.—Gov. C. B. Colquitt today called a special session of the Texas Legislature to convene Monday, August 24, to consider a bonded warehouse bill in an effort to aid cotton raisers.

Grain.

CEREALS AGAIN MOVE UPWARD.

WHEAT STARTS BADLY, BUT SOON BEGINS TO ADVANCE.

Improvement of the Export Situation Develops a Better Class of Buying and Prices Rise Nearly a Cent—Corn Shows Strength; Oats Are Firm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The grain market today regained the losses of Saturday, wheat closing ⅝ to ¾, corn ¾ to 1¼ and oats a shade to ⅝ higher, led by the September options. Provisions closed from 10 cents higher for September pork to 12½ cents depressed. Wheat started weak in sympathy with a decline at Liverpool, but shorts started covering on visible decrease, and a better class of buying developed later on an apparent relaxation of the export situation and closing prices were the best of the day. Ships carrying one million bushels were said to have sailed recently from New Orleans. The corn market opened lower on larger receipts than had been expected, anticipations of a heavy movement to market this week, weakness in the spot market and reports of a slow eastern call. As the session advanced, however, the eastern demand became moderately brisk and it was observed that the country showed no inclination to sell old corn on the break. Oats were firm all day, escaping the early weakness of the other cereals. The secret of their strength lay in reports of export sales.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The terrific increase in demand for California lemons in the East owing to the impossibility of the Atlantic seaboard securing Sicilian and Italian lemons which supply the bulk of the consumers caused the price of fancy packed stock here to go to $7.25. Ordinary cull lemons, which sell under the name of juice lemons are selling at $4.00 a box, which is higher than the price of a year ago this summer when the market on account of the winter's freeze, went to $7.00 on the best and $3.50 in juice stock. It is probable that prices will go beyond all past records. Other citrus fruit is very firm and advances are looked for in oranges and limes, which are being used considerably where they can supplant lemons in drink products.

The egg market went to 35 cents here and 34 cents in San Francisco on case-count stock. There was a good demand for the product and eastern receipts are practically at an end for the time being at least. Over two days, only 335 cases of locals were received. Butter was very firm at 25 cents and a number of good sales were reported at that figure. Receipts were 31,200 pounds. The northern market advanced to 28 cents. Cheese was firm and moving upward. Northern fresh sold from 14½ to 15, an advance of ¼ cent. Eastern varieties 4s a consequence were firm and Oregon may go up in a day or two. Arrivals were 3770 pounds.

Record receipts of potatoes were reported. The total arrival amounted to 11,822 sacks. Prices held pretty firm, some stock selling as low as $1.30, but this being of rather inferior quality. The average price is $1.40. Onion arrivals were 855 sacks. The call for this product continues heavy. Sweet potato receipts were 105 sacks. They sold down to $2.00 per hundred, 80 cents per lug.

Apple arrivals were heavy, 6656 boxes. The demand for them was excellent and quotations showed some price cutting. Grape season is on in earnest and even Tokays are now in regular arrivals now. Receipts were 4632 boxes.

Prices Current.

Following are jobbing quotations:

EGGS—Fresh ranch, case count, 35; candled, 37@38; Petaluma-Santa Rosa extra, 35; northern, case count, 34. Prices to the trade or for candled stock are about 3 cents higher than these quotations.

BUTTER—Creamery extras, 25 per lb.; firsts, 23; country, 20; ladle, 18. Prices to the trade about 4 cents higher than these quotations.

CHEESE—California fresh, 14½@15; eastern, dalsies, 19; eastern twins, 18; longhorns, 19½; Oregon triplets, 17½@18; imported Swiss, 40; domestic Swiss, block, 19; wheel, 20; Limburger, 19; Edam, 8.50; Sierra, 1.10@1.20; Canada cream, 95@1.00; Roquefort, 40; German breakfast, 90; cream brick, 20.

The Public Service.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Retail Confectioners' Association is urging the City Council to amend the ordinance controlling bakeries so as to include in its scope all confectionery establishments. It is also proposed to require permits from the health commissioner before bread, cakes or pies can be brought into the city for sale from outside points.

The Civil Service Commission announced yesterday that William H. Carter was the only candidate to pass the examination for the position of boiler and elevator inspector. Fifty-one applicants are taking the examination for the position of director of charities, which pays $300 per month.

John Baich, to whom was awarded the contract for the Madison-Virgil storm drain, for $196,998, notified the Board of Public Works yesterday that he could not sign the contract because of alleged irregularities in the proceedings.

Chaplain Nave, representing the Methodist Ministers' Association, made a plea before a Council committee yesterday for more policemen for Los Angeles, on behalf of public safety.

Judge Hewitt rendered four decisions, one of which, involving commissions for sale of stock, was a victory for wealthy Imperial Valley men.

A former bank clerk, caught hiding behind a barrel near the scene of a burglary, was freed by Judge Craig because of insufficient evidence.

"CENSORSHIP" FOR CANDIES.

CONFECTIONERIES MUST MEET SANITARY REQUIREMENTS.

Bread, Cakes and Pies Not to Come Into City from Outside Points Without Permit from Health Commission, Provides Proposed Ordinance Discussed Yesterday.

Charles H. Tribit, Jr., attorney for the Retail Confectioners' Association, appeared before the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council yesterday to urge the adoption of amendments to the present ordinance controlling bakeries, so as to include in its scope confectionery establishments. This is desired by the retail confectioners as a means of insuring the highest grade of products under sanitary regulation.

An important portion of the proposed ordinance is that section which would control the bringing into the city for sale any bread, pies or cakes manufactured outside the city without the shipper or producer having first received a permit from the Health Commissioner so to do.

It is stated that there are several bakery and confectionery establishments outside the city that ship their products to this city, but that are without the scope of sanitary inspection by the Health Commission, and practically subject to no control of this character.

It was stated yesterday also that in several of the small confectionery establishments within the city conditions have been found that are revolting, and that demand immediate attention. In some cases the rooms used for manufacturing candies are also used for sleeping quarters, in others there are open toilets, etc.

The proposed ordinance was held in committee for one week, in order to give Councilman Wheeler an opportunity to make some personal investigations.

THREE TRY OUT.

ONLY ONE IS A WINNER.

The Civil Service Commission has just announced the results of the examination held several weeks ago for the position of Boiler and Elevator Inspector. There were three candidates for this position, among them being J. H. McGuire, who is the incumbent of this office. Only one of the candidates received passing marks. This was William H. Carter. This means that Mr. Carter will be the only man eligible to appointment to the position by the Mayor.

The Civil Service Commission has sent to fifty-one applicants subjects upon which they are to write theses for the examination for the position of Director of Municipal Charities, under the Municipal Charities Commission. This position pays a salary of $300 per month, and it has attracted the attention of men and women in many parts of the United States, some of whom have had long experience in this branch of work.

All those who pass a marking of 80 per cent. on their written work will be called to Los Angeles to take the final examination. The theses are expected to reach this city within ten days, and about thirty days thereafter the final examinations will be held.

IS IT FAULTY?

STORM-DRAIN ORDINANCE.

Proceedings on an important part of the city's system of storm drains—the Madison-Virgil storm sewer—have been attacked on a question as to their legality, and as a result there may be further delay in getting this work started.

John Baich was recently awarded by the Board of Public Works the contract for constructing this storm drain. The contract price was $196,998. He was allowed 210 days within which to complete the work. Yesterday Baich sent to the board a statement that his attorneys have advised him that because of defects in the proceedings he would not be justified in signing the contract.

The board referred the subject to the City Attorney for a decision as to the legality of the proceedings. The board is anxious to get the work started so that it may give relief from storm waters to a large area in the northwest. It will connect with the Arroyo de la Brea storm drain, now in course of construction.

MORE POLICEMEN.

MINISTERS WANT THEM.

Chaplain Nave appeared before the City Council yesterday to urge a more liberal policy in providing policemen for the city. He stated that he brought the expression of the Methodist Ministers' Association, to the effect that more police officers are imperative for the moral welfare and public safety of the city, and that in his capacity as the president of the Juvenile Protective Association and a special police officer, he had had occasion to realize the need of more liberal provision for officers of the law.

Chaplain Nave pointed out that less than 175 police officers are on service at one time for a city of 500,000 people, and that the matter of public safety alone, in restraining speeding autoists, was sufficient grounds for asking for more men.

He urged that the penalties for violation of the speed ordinances should be doubled or trebled, and that the penalties should be so rigidly enforced that autoists would have a wholesome respect for the law.

ARROYO SECO PLANS.

DECISION NEXT THURSDAY.

The City Council will sit as a committee of the whole at 9 o'clock next Thursday morning to consider the general plans for the improvement of the Arroyo Seco—what shall be done as to providing safeguards against encroachment of flood waters, and whether the city shall proceed with its plans of bridge-building.

The request of the Board of Public Works that it be authorized to advertise for bids for the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge across the Arroyo Seco at Avenue 43, for which an appropriation of $39,000 has been made in this year's budget, was referred to the committee of the whole yesterday. There is also to be considered the subject as to whether the west walls of the arroyo shall be protected by heavy type riprapping or by a reinforced concrete wall that will allow the reclamation of a considerable portion of Carlotta boulevard washed away during the floods of last spring.

GIRLS MUST GO.

SLUMP IN PENNANT STANDS.

The City Council gave the girl-attended pennant stands and dice-shaking for merchandise another round yesterday forenoon in the Public Welfare Committee. The subject has aroused the Councilmen to the point where it is certain that some sort of legislation will be enacted to change the situation.

Communications were received from J. G. Jones and Melville Dozier, assistant superintendent of the city schools. The City Attorney was instructed to prepare a draft of an ordinance prohibiting the operation of pennant stands by girls or young women, or to present some plan for the curtailment of this evil.

Chaplain Nave appeared before the committee to urge some immediate action.

TO DISCUSS POLICY.

The Board of Public Service Commissioners has invited the members of the City Council to meet with them in conference this afternoon at 3 o'clock to discuss certain policies that are of much importance to the city.

Chief of these will be the subject of making a charge on vacant lots for the "ready to serve" water system along such properties. The Council gave this subject some discussion at its session yesterday forenoon, and the sentiment expressed was in favor of the project.

Councilman Betkouski pointed out that since the city has acquired the water system, besides paying off the original bonded indebtedness it has expended between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000 from water revenues in the extension mains, besides using a considerable amount of money from this source on the work of the Franklin Canyon tunnel and the San Fernando reservoir.

The demands for extension of water mains have become so great, said Councilman Betkouski, that the water department is hard put to it to meet them. It is felt that if possible the 40 cents per front foot assessment should be replaced by some other method, and that the assessment upon vacant lots would be the most equitable. This would raise approximately $500,000 per year for main extensions, on a basis of 50 cents per month per vacant lot.

New Vessel Coming.

The Harbor Commission yesterday received a letter from W. H. Randall, president of the Boston-Pacific Steamship Company, stating that its new vessel, the steamer Atlantic, will leave Boston Thursday with a cargo for the port of Los Angeles and other Pacific Coast points. It will pass through the Panama Canal and expects to make record time.

City Hall Brevities.

The Public Works Committee has approved the assessment map for the paving of West Eighth street, from Vermont avenue to Grand View avenue.

The recommendation of the Public Works Committee of the Council is that the Santa Fe Railroad be required to move its tracks in Fifteenth street, between Santa Clara street and Santa Fe avenue, to the center of the street before the paving of this street is undertaken. The paving proceedings will await this move on the part of the railroad.

The assessment map for the paving of Arlington street, from Washington to Sixteenth streets, has been approved by the Public Works Committee of the City Council.

Property owners in the vicinity of Fourth and Coronado streets are strenuously objecting to the rebuilding of a derrick and oil tanks there which were recently destroyed by fire. Representatives of the property owners appeared before the Board of Public Works yesterday to ask for relief, and stated that they propose to seek an injunction from the courts, if necessary, to restrain the rebuilding of the structures.

City Electrician Manahan reported to the Board of Public Works yesterday that some of the public utility companies have informed him that owing to the present financial conditions, they will be unable to install conduits in Sunset boulevard, between Main and Marion streets, at present.

The Independent Steamship Company has made application to the Harbor Commission for a permit to use 600 feet of the northerly end of Pier A, Mormon Island channel wharf, and wants a freight shed built there for its own use. It is probable that the application will be acted upon favorably and that steps will be taken to hasten the construction of the proposed shed, which is also to provide facilities for passenger accommodations.

The City Council has postponed until September 2, final action on approval of the assessment roll for the improvement of Baxter street, from Ivanhoe to Fanning streets, so that all members of the Council may be present. Some of them are now on vacation. The total cost of the proposed improvement is $11,772.47, and this is spread upon forty-two parcels of land. It is proposed to construct a serpentine drive in this street from Serpentine to Apex avenue.

The Finance Committee of the Council yesterday recomended that the Council approve the proposed lease to the Board of Education of seven rooms in the old State Normal School buildings at a rental of $125 per month.

The claim of the Pacific Light and Power Company for $13,216.07 for a refund of license fees paid under protest to the city, was referred by the Finance Committee yesterday to the City Attorney for an opinion as to the legality of the claim.

FOUR DECISIONS HOLD INTEREST.

MUCH ATTENTION GIVEN STOCK COMMISSION CASE.

Wealthy Imperial Valley Men, Sued by Former Officials of Company, Win — Woman Whose Automobile Was Seized for Husband's Debt Is Awarded Damages.

Judge Hewitt yesterday rendered four decisions, at least one of which affected a case that attracted considerable attention during its trial.

That case was the suit of A. B. Shaub against the Bell Development Company, and Judge Hewitt's decision is for the defendant. The original president of the company, Mr. Shaub, and the original secretary, E. R. Rhodes, sued the present board of directors, all wealthy Imperial Valley men, for approximately $15,000, alleged to be due them as commissions on the sale of stock.

The new management of the company, which had ousted Mr. Shaub and Mr. Rhodes, and the other three original directors, defended the action on the ground that Messrs. Shaub and Rhodes never had been authorized to sell stock on commission. Judge Hewitt's decision sustains that contention and grants the defendants cost of the action as well as judgment.

Mrs. Mary P. Leavitt won her suit against Sheriff Hammel. She sued for $4500 and was granted $3100 by Judge Hewitt. Mrs. Leavitt's Packard automobile was seized for a debt owed by Ralph J. Leavitt on the apprehension that the car was his own personal property. The only question in the trial of the case was the value of the car.

J. R. Avery, assignee of a claim of W. J. Palethorpe against the Los Angeles Warehouse Company, lost his case, Judge Hewitt deciding for the defendant. The suit was to collect for an experting of the company's books. Mr. Palethorpe did the work twice and was paid for the first service.

A motion for a new trial was granted by Judge Hewitt in the suit of C. W. Roesler against O. A. Kempf. The latter purchased a rooming-house from Mr. Roesler, and it developed that Philip Duffy held a mortgage on the house, but was not represented in the trial of the case.

EVIDENCE LACKING.

BURGLAR SUSPECT FREED.

Judge Craig yesterday dismissed the charge of burglary pending against Frank Rhodes, a former bank clerk. In the first trial six weeks ago before Judge Craig, the jury disagreed. Rhodes was charged with burglarizing the home of John Harlan at No. 1516 Wilton place.

Judge Craig told Deputy District Attorney Blair, who prosecuted the case, that unless there was new evidence to present to a jury he thought it would be only a waste of time and money to retry the man.

Rhodes was captured the night of the burglary hiding behind a barrel in an alley near Western avenue. A night watchman had given chase to a supposed burglar and had fired two shots.

Police officers, conveying Rhodes to the police station, testified that Rhodes had rubber heels on his shoes when captured, and that he kicked these heels off, unknown to them, en route to the station.

A discrepancy in the matter of shoes was the means of Rhodes gaining his liberty yesterday, as detectives who went to the Harlan home the night of the burglary asserted that the shoes worn by Rhodes when captured, with the rubber heels in place, fitted exactly into the tracks left by the burglar.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Judge Works yesterday took under advisement the injunction suit brought by Mrs. Madeline F. Wills to prevent the issuance of liquor licenses for property on Spring street between Fifth and Sixth streets.

Attorney Gesner Williams, for the defense, raised a number of intricate legal questions and Judge Works declared he would not render a decision until he had looked up the points raised.

A temporary restraining order is still in effect. This will prevent the opening of the block until a decision is rendered. The permits attacked were granted by the Police Commission to Frank Mason and Fred Meriweather.

ON UGLY CHARGE.

MAN AND WIFE HELD.

Benjamin Heaton and his wife, Lillian Heaton, were yesterday held to answer to the Superior Court by Judge Taft on charges of contributing to the delinquency of their two minor children. Heaton was held in $2000 bail and his wife in the sum of $300.

It is charged by the District Attorney's office that men visited the Heaton home with the knowledge of the husband. When the couple were originally arrested it was alleged that Mrs. Heaton declared she had been virtually a prisoner and that her alleged acts were forced upon her by her husband. Yesterday she denied any such statements and declared the charges were false.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

DEMURRER OVERRULED. Judge Shenk yesterday overruled the demurrer in the action brought by John Lapique against Mrs. Catherine Agours, administratrix of the estate of Pierre Agours. Mr. Lapique sued for $5000 for "work and service" which, he alleged, he performed for the late Pierre Agours at the latter's request.

SUE RAILWAY. J. B. Klem and his wife, Tilly W., yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court against the Pacific Electric Railway Company asking $25,250 damages. The complaint alleges that the plaintiffs were seriously injured on August 18, last, while riding on a Vehice short line car. They allege they were thrown from the platform, which they say was unprotected.

RESENTENCE FOR MURDERER. Judge Craig will on Thursday morning resentence Louis A. Larsen to hang for the murder of his wife in the Verdugo Hills, June 22, 1913. The sentence was to have been pronounced yesterday, but the Sheriff was unable to bring Larsen from San Quentin in time and the postponement was ordered. The passing of a second sentence was occasioned by the inability of the Supreme Court to hear his appeal for a new trial before the original time set for his execution had passed. The court denied his appeal.
